THE WABASH FIGHT NOT SETTLED IN TOLEDO

Issue, If Unfavorable to Ramsey, Will Be Carried to Court.

PROTEST IS ENTERED

Voting of Wabash Securities Held by Other Lines Declared to Be Illegal.

SCANDAL MAY BE EXPOSED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM WILLIAM L. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 10.—Even those best informed on the fight for the control of the Wabash railroad had little idea the struggle was to possess the intense and dramatic feature which developed today, nor did anyone foresee it would be continued such a length of time. The meeting of the stockholders alone took a recess at 11:05 o'clock tonight after over 14 hours session with no interruptions except brief periods for lunch and dinner. Yet the bondholders had only partially finished the work attending the roll call, and the voting will probably not take place until the close at noon tomorrow. Then an equally long time will be required for the stockholders.

From today's developments it can be forecasted that Mr. Ramsey has votes enough to elect himself or his chosen representatives to the board of the Wabash, and possibly one more. The organization of the Wabash board is peculiar. The holders of the debenture A and B bonds first meet and elect six directors. Then the holders of the common and preferred stock elect six directors. The board thus constituted assembles and chooses a thirteenth director, who shall be president. Frederick A. Delano is, of course, the man scheduled by the Gould adherents for thirteenth place.

As there are $30,000,000 of the Wabash debentures, it will be seen there are 300,000 votes in this class alone. How many votes will be required to elect a representative from the debentures holders is a mooted question, for the Gould lawyers announce today they do not consider culumative voting on the debenture bonds legal, authough the Ohio laws allow it on stock. Mr. Ramsey said, however, he proposes to vote both his debenture and stock proxies cumulatively, and it is probable this point will have to be settled in court.

Scandal May Develop.

Another point which will have to be settled in court, in all probability, is that of the rightful owners of debenture bonds aggregating in value nearly $5,000,000. These are the bonds which were bought on the New York exchange by private sale early in September, and a first rate scandal is possible. It is said the Ramsey contingent has the needed proof to send every member of a certain New York firm to jail for a misdemeanor in the manipulation of a large block of bonds.

It was openly alleged at the meeting today that the block of bonds, worth several hundred thousand dollars, was borrowed for a day; that during that day it was transferred on the company's books to a certain man who then gave a Gould proxy, and that it was immediately transferred to the man from whom it was borrowed. It happens these bonds were purchased by a friend of Mr. Ramsey and both sides are now claiming the right to vote the proxies.

The three judges of election, whose decisions throughout the day were uniformly against Mr. Ramsey, decided in this case also that Mr. Ramsey's claims were no good, and the full $5,000,000 worth of proxies was summarily turned down.

EVEN ELIHU ROOT, SAYS THE COURT, CANNOT DELAY

Supreme Bench Business Not to Be Halted by Anybody, Secretary Though He Be.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—That the supreme court of the United States cannot stop in the due course of business even to give ear to the secretary of state was announced today in connection with the case of E. H. Wimbish versus Henry Jamison. The case is on the docket for early hearing, and Attorney Alexander Akerman, representing Jamison, made a plea for a postponement of the hearing for a month, saying that Mr. Root had been employed as counsel, but that his public duties as secretary of state are such that he could not give immediate attention to the matter. The chief justice said that a postponement of a week might be granted, not more. "Greatly pleased though the court would be to hear Mr. Root," he said, "the business must go on."

It was then decided to proceed without Mr. Root, Mr. Akerman appearing for Jamison and Attorney Minter Wimberly for Wimbish. The case is known as the Georgia chain gang case, and involves the state law authorizing the recorder of the city of Macon to sentence violators of city ordinances to labor on the public works.

Jamison, who was sentenced to such work, took his case to the United States district court, and Judge Emory Speer released him on the ground that the "punishment was infamous and contrary to the constitution of the United States."

TWO MINERS PERISH; TEN OTHERS RESCUED

Explosion in Hazelkirk Shaft Is Followed by Fire, Which Is Not Yet Extinguished.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONONGAHELA CITY, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—In a mine explosion which occurred at shaft No. 2 at Hazelkirk, near Vanvoorhis station on the M. & W. branch, two lives were lost at about noon today. The 10 other men in the mine were overcome by gas, but were rescued, and have completely recovered. The dead are: Joseph Kosko, single; John Kosko, married, leaves widow and one child. The two men killed were foreigners and machine operators.

The trouble was caused by a brother workman making a shot at the head of the entry. Dan Griffith, boss driver, was told of the trouble. He, with a party of friends, started into the mine, but were very soon driven back by the heat. The shaft, at 6:30, was on fire and people were fighting the blaze, but as there is poor fire protection, the mine will no doubt be in a terrible condition.

GIVES BODY TO SURGEONS.

Late Husband of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt Wills His Remains to the Dissecting Table.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—In accordance with the provisions of the will of George W. Catt, president of the Atlantic Dredging and Construction Company, who died on Sunday at his residence here, his body was today taken to the Bellevue hospital medical college to be dissected in the interests of science.

Mr. Catt was the husband of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Women's Suffrage league.

CAMPAIGN HANDSHAKER GETS BLOOD POISON

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—As the result of too much handshaking during the last 10 days, G. I. Campbell, Republican nominee for county clerk, is suffering from blood poisoning and his condition is serious. The trouble came from a ring which Campbell was wearing. His frequent greeting of voters caused an abrasion, blood poisoning following.

SOCIETY PAYS ITS HOMAGE TO THE EQUINE PETS

Large Attendance Marks the Brilliant Opening of Sewickley Heights Horse Show.

Horse show folk found the Sewickley Heights horse show yesterday on the first of the three days' open air exhibition a magnet which attracted in numbers those who go in for the horse of fashion. The start was made at high noon, and as the hour approached, 12:30 o'clock, for the first class to appear in the ring, tallyho after tallyho and the smartest things in fashionable turnout made their appearance from every direction with the Sewickley Heights Madison square on the Allegheny Country club grounds as its objective point. Blasts from the horn sounded from tallyho and brake echoed and re-echoed through the hills. It was a moving picture of spectacular brilliance.

Horsey Clothes In Evidence.

The grandstand and private boxes were gaily decorated in the colors of the Sewickley Heights Horse Show association. The soft autumnal day permitted the habit of late summer and the grace of beauty and femininity was everywhere about. Horsey clothes were much in evidence and it was a great day for groom and flunkey who flitted here and there on errands of apparent import. Music stole from a pavilion near by, and behind it in another pavilion sandwiches and guileless beverages were to be had.

The grandstand was hardly comfortably filled, but the bounding ring was a solid wall of faces. In the parking spaces about the ring traps and tallyhoes had their vehicle gallery. The attendance of yesterday will be much augmented today and tomorrow, which will be the best days at the show. A perfect arrangement was made by the management to convey patrons to the horse show grounds for those without private provision in this respect. Conveyances were in plenty to meet the incoming trains, and when the show was over they were on the grounds for the return trip.

One Class Left Over.

In spite of the evident purpose of the management to meet the program, but 11 of the 12 classes carded could be judged, the last class, sporting tandem, going over to this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The delay was caused by the heavy entries, in the jumping class alone there were 24 actual horses. The regular pro-

TRIO OF WOMEN GRACE HALL OF FAME

Author of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" Wins Over Statesmen and Martyrs.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Three women and five men were chosen today to receive tablets in the Hall of Fame at New York university when the canvass of the votes in the second quinquennial election was completed. Maria Mitchell was the only American scientist to be elected at this time, though Louis Agassiz, with 82 votes, secured admission as a foreign-born American.

A curious commentary on Maria Mitchell's election is the fact that eight of the electors, chiefly scientists, refused to vote for any woman, thus reducing the number of votes necessary to elect a woman to 47, while 51 were required for a man. Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke college, and Emma Willard, author of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," a famous educator, were the other women honored.

Alexander Hamilton, with 87 votes, the highest number received by any candidate at this election, and John Paul Jones, with 53, share with Agassiz the honor of being the first American immortals of foreign birth. Two American statesmen were chosen—John Quincy Adams, whose tablet will occupy a niche next to that of his father, John Adams, he having received 68 votes, and James Madison, who secured admission with 58 votes.

Patrick Henry, John C. Calhoun and Andrew Jackson fell a half dozen votes short of securing bronze tablets to record their fame, and Samuel Adams was again defeated. James Monroe's vote numbered 23. Seward, Sumner, De Witt Clinton, Garfield, John Jay and Stanton were among the statesmen who failed to be elected.

HYDE IS DROPPED FROM UNION PACIFIC BOARD

SALT LAKE, Oct. 10.—At a meeting of directors of the Union Pacific here today James H. Hyde of New York was dropped from the board and P. A. Valentine of Chicago was elected in his place.

Pat Crowe Arraigned.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 10.—Pat Crowe was arraigned in the police court today. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of shooting Patrolman Jackson with intent to kill. A charge of highway robbery in connection with the Cudahy kidnaping will be filed against Crowe in the county court tomorrow.

RATE REGULATION STILL HIS "STAND PAT" POLICY

President Will Not Abate Effort to Induce Congress to Act With Him—Congressmen Talk Over the Situation at the White House.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Railroad rate legislation was the principal subject of talks President Roosevelt had today with several members of congress. He indicated to them that it would be the leading topic of his forthcoming message to congress and that he had not abated one jot in his determination to induce congress, if possible, to enact legislation along the lines of his recommendations.

Senator Cullom and Representative Rodenberg of Illinois had a long talk with the President, the discussion being devoted chiefly to rate legislation. Both of them informed the President that the people, in their opinion, were in hearty accord with him on the railroad rate question. The President also discussed the question with Representative James Kennedy, of the old McKinley district of Ohio. Mr. Kennedy said there was no doubt that the people of his district and of Ohio generally, so far as he had observed, demanded the legislation advocated by the President.

Senator Cullom and Representative Rodenberg talked to the President about the appointment of a public printer, but the President indicated that he had not made up his mind on that question.

E. G. CUNLIFFE DISAPPEARS; MONEY IS MISSING

Receives $100,000 in Cash for Shipment to a Cincinnati Bank.

WAS OHIO BANK IN NEED OF MONEY?

Thief a Clerk for Adams Express Co. and Suspicions Aroused When He Fails to Appear.

SHORTAGE OF $1,000 FOUND

This Discovery Leads to Bigger Development—Cunliffe Bids Wife Good-By and Tells Her of Company's Loss Before Officials Know It—Bank Officials Get a Decided Shock.

The Pittsburgh office of the Adams Express company last Monday night was robbed of $100,000.

The money was in a package received from one of Pittsburgh's leading banks and was consigned to a Cincinnati bank.

The big roll of currency is now thought to be in the possession of Edward George Cunliffe, who was temporarily acting as the money clerk at the Adams Express office, and who receipted for the money when it was received at the office of the company.

Cunliffe failed to appear at the office yesterday morning, and when his absence was noted an investigation was set on foot. First $1,000 was discovered to be missing. Following close on this came the discovery that the big cash consignment of $100,000 received the evening before was also missing.

Inside of one hour nearly every detective in the city was at work on the case, the Pinkerton agency having the direction of all the principal man-hunters, who searched high and low for Cunliffe. At first it was hoped that Cunliffe was still in the city and that his capture would speedily follow. By nightfall, however, all were of the opinion that Cunliffe left the city immediately after bidding his wife goodby Monday night. With one bound the modest-looking clerk, on a modest salary, had sprung into fame of a sort. He disappeared, and with him $100,000, which, it is stated, was badly needed by the Cincinnati bank to which it was consigned, is also missing.

SCORES OF DETECTIVES ARE SEARCHING FOR CUNLIFFE

Cunliffe's picture has already been photographed by the hundreds. A score of detectives carried the pictures last night, showing them to train conductors, Pullman porters, ticket sellers, everybody who by any chance might have encountered Cunliffe in his flight. The police dragnet is all over the country is closing in on him. If he escapes he will be hailed as a wonder by other men who have got away with money of others and languished in prison for it afterwards.

Somewhere Cunliffe is hiding or fleeing, while out at his home, 24 Lorena street, West End, his wife is sobbing hysterically, unstrung by the visits of detectives. Cunliffe is a cool one, too! After receiving the $100,000 at the office of the Adams Express Company he finished his work for the day, went home, washed and dressed himself and then ate his supper.

To his wife's surprise, immediately after the meal he bade her goodby, and to her inquiries he said he was working for the Adams Express Company no longer; that a large money loss had been discovered. He left Mrs. Cunliffe in hysterics.

HOW THE $100,000 WAS TAKEN IN AND PUMED

This is the way the loss of the money occurred: At 4:15 p. m. on Monday a Pittsburgh bank delivered to the office of the Adams Express Company office the Wood wrapped the package. It was received and receipted for by Cunliffe. Cunliffe was acting in the place of the regular money clerk, who was ill at home.

This is how the robbery was discovered: Yesterday morning Cunliffe did not appear at the office at his usual hour. A hurried investigation was made of the

Cunliffe Got Away With All Kinds of Big Money

Cunliffe has a big stock of currency—just eight hundred of them—all of two hundred fifties and a wad of fives, sewed up and double enveloped by enough to choke a horse—as the expression goes. To summarize what is in that package containing $100,000 in currency which has disappeared with Cunliffe.

There is $250 in $50 bills.

Next there is $20,000 in $20 bills.

Then there is $50,000 in $1, $2 and $5 bills.

The $20 and $5 bills, three of the Farmers Deposit National bank of Pittsburgh, and the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., were in the main entirely new; some had been slightly used. The $1, $2 and $5 bills were old currency.

The package was consigned to a bank in Cincinnati.

MOTHER CUNLIFFE SAYS HER BOY IS MISSING

Claims He Was a Good Son, but That He Has Had Much Trouble.

WIFE HEARTBROKEN

Was Home Monday Night and Then Disappeared, but She Does Not Know Where.

HE LEAVES FOUR LITTLE BOYS

Mrs. Cunliffe, wife of Edward George Cunliffe, the clerk of the Adams Express Company who is missing with that big $100,000 money package, was visited late yesterday afternoon by the detectives. She readily answered all questions concerning her husband. She told them that he came home Monday night at the usual time. After eating his supper, he prepared his toilet and upon leaving the house he bade her good-by as he was in the habit of doing. She then asked the detectives if anything had happened him and when told her husband was not working at the Adams Express office today and that a large sum of money was missing, she went into hysterics and last night was in a serious condition. The detectives learned nothing of importance at the home.

"I don't know where he is. I wish that I did. Poor boy, he has had much trouble."

The above brief statement was to a reporter for The Gazette last night by Mrs. Cunliffe, mother of Edward George Cunliffe. As she talked, her voice grew husky and it was with difficulty she was able to converse on the subject.

Mrs. Cunliffe lives at Lorena avenue and Williams street, in Elliott. It was midnight when the interviewer found the house, but there was a prompt response to the knock. A window on the second story was lighted and the dim light from a distant street lamp revealed the kindly face of a gray-haired woman.

"I am Edward Cunliffe's mother," she said. "I do not know where he is. I wish I did. He was home Monday night, but when he left I do not know. He lived with his wife further up Lorena avenue. She is in my house now.

"Please do not ask me to call Edward's wife. She is heart-broken and is now lying in bed with her little baby. I will not disturb her. She does not know anything more about this trouble than I do. I just know that Edward is gone and they are hunting for him.

"Edward has always been a good boy and a loving husband. He has had a great deal of trouble and his life has not been happy. About two years ago he buried one of his children and the shock was very great. He has a wife and four little boys.

"I do not have a photograph of Edward. A young man got the last one we had this morning. I guess the detectives or the express company wanted it. You say the express company has told the story. We were promised this morning that nothing would be said about the matter. I am sorry the whole thing is to be in the newspapers."

HORSE RAN BACKWARDS; WANTS HIS MONEY BACK

BUTLER, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Because Samuel Logan sold Jerome Smith a horse which Smith swears ran backwards the first time he hitched it up, Logan has been arrested on a capias requiring $300 bail and has been sued by Smith for $100, the purchase price of the horse. After the animal ran backwards Smith returned the horse to Logan and the latter refused to return the money. Smith says he and his wife were dumped over an embankment in Logan's presence.

Football Player Dies.

OIL CITY, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Charles Hagadus, an American, 19 years of age, died at the hospital today from injuries received in football practice two days ago. Hagadus kicked at the ball, missing it, and fell on his breast. He neglected to call a physician at the time.

accounts and it was found that he was $1,000 short. Detectives were immediately notified by General Agent Hiner. Hiner never dreamed of the developments that would come, for of course he knew nothing of Cunliffe's departure from his house or of the semi-confession he had made to Mrs. Cunliffe.

But the Cincinnati bank had not received the money, and the telegraph wires between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were soon red hot. The Adams Express Company was told of the failure of the package to arrive, and immediately Hiner sent over to the money forwarding office in the Union station. It had not been received there.

In a few minutes the city detectives and the Pinkerton agency were placed in possession of the facts, but Cunliffe had had too great a start for them. Telegraphic descriptions of the man were sent all over the country, but the hunt for him is also going on in Pittsburgh, for it is thought that he was aware of the hue and cry that would be raised and might have decided to lie low for awhile.

Cunliffe had always borne a good reputation. He was with the Adams company more than a year, having previously served with several of the prominent express companies. He was considered a reliable, accurate, model clerk.

Company's Official Statement.

The following official statement of the affair was given out for publication last night:

"At 4:15 p. m. Monday, October 9, a bank of Pittsburgh, delivered to the Adams Express Company at its office at 610 Wood street, Pittsburgh, a package of currency containing $100,000. Of this amount $80,000 was in $100 bills, $10,000 in $50 bills and the remainder, $10,000, in $5 $10 and $20-bills.

The $100 and $50 bills, issue of the Farmers Deposit National bank of Pittsburgh, and the Bank of Pittsburgh, National Association, were, in the main, entirely new; some had been slightly used. The $5, $10 and $20-bills were old currency. The package containing this large sum of money was consigned to a bank in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"This package was received and receipted for by Edward George Cunliffe, who was then acting in the place of the regular money clerk who was ill. Cunliffe left the office at the usual time that evening, and this morning when he failed to report for duty, a hurried examination was made of his department, and it was learned that about $1,000 of funds entrusted to his care were missing. General Agent Hiner of the Adams Express Company immediately called in detectives and placed the matter in their hands. Later developments brought to light the fact that in addition to the $1,000 missing, the bank package containing the $100,000 had not been received at the money forwarding office at Union station, this city.

"Inquiries made at his residence, 314 Lucerne street, West End, Pittsburgh, showed that Cunliffe arrived home at the customary time Monday evening, and, after changing his clothes, bade his family goodby, saying to his wife that he was going out for the evening, and nothing further has been heard from him.

Cunliffe's Previous Record.

"Cunliffe has been employed by the Adams Express Company since March 1, 1-4. Previous to that time he was employed in the Pittsburgh service of the American Express Company, the Electric Express Company and the United States Express Company of Hartford, Conn., and bore a good reputation. He was methodical, accurate and an excellent clerk. He is an Englishman by birth.

"Edward George Cunliffe is described as 35 years of age, looks to be 40; five feet seven inches tall; weighs 170 pounds; medium build; dark brown hair, heavily mixed with gray; wears a heavy, short cropped mustache, dark and partly mixed with gray; could raise a very heavy beard, and has blue eyes. When last seen he wore dark blue, double-breasted sack suit, a black derby hat, turned collar and a black bow tie. He wears a silver ring with an acorn design. He is an inveterate cigaret smoker, and the second finger of his right hand is badly discolored with nicotine. Cunliffe is afflicted with what is known as the 'cigaret cough.'"

One of the first moves after the discovery of the money loss was the swearing out of warrants for Cunliffe, charging robbery.

Excitement was high among the employes at the Union station last evening. The Pinkerton agency had several detectives working on the case, and these detectives were canvassing the ticket sellers and the Pullman agents to ascertain, if possible, some clue to the absconding expressman. Each of the detectives carried a picture of the man and presented it at the ticket windows, asking the ticket men whether they remembered selling a ticket to a man of the appearance of the one shown in the photograph. So far as could be learned none of the ticket agents had sold the fellow a ticket. The same procedure was taken by detectives at the other railroad stations. Nothing could be elicited from any of the detectives.

At the offices of the Adams company in the Union station the men who were on night duty professed ignorance, saying that the robbery was news to them. When asked whether a thorough examination had been made of the express storage and shipping rooms at the station, it was said that if such examination had been made it was made during the day.

Milton B. Slater, depot agent of the Adams company, went to New York Monday night, and it was said that he was expected to return to Pittsburgh last night, presumably hastening back to aid in the investigation here.

So far as the information that be obtained from people about the Union station went, the man had arranged the robbery Monday and had skipped out about 12 hours in advance of any information of crooked work. There was absolutely no clue. About 150 men are employed by the Adams company at the Union station at night, and more than 900 during the day.

Edward George Cunliffe Is a Cigaret Fiend

Edward George Cunliffe is a cigaret fiend. He is an inveterate puffer of coffin nails and the second finger of his right hand is badly discolored with nicotine. And then, too, he has the "cigaret cough" bad.

Cunliffe is 35 years old, but looks to be 40. He is five feet seven inches high, weighs 170 pounds, is of medium build, has dark brown hair, heavily mixed with gray; wears a heavy, short-cropped mustache, dark and partly mixed with gray; he could raise a very heavy beard; has dark blue eyes. When last seen he wore a dark blue, double-breasted sack coat, a black derby hat, turned collar and a black bow tie. He wears a silver ring with an acorn design.

BANK OFFICIALS KEEPING MUM

Joseph R. Paull, J. N. Fleming and Others Deny Knowing Names of Banks Involved.

THEFT SURPRISES A. W. MELLON

Officials of the Farmers Deposit National bank and of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., kept their lips sealed last night when asked for details concerning the robbery of $100,000 from the Wood street office of the Adams Express Company.

Efforts to learn the name of the Pittsburgh bank which entrusted the package of money to the express company for transfer to Cincinnati, proved futile. Likewise none of the officials of the two local banks would acknowledge they knew the name of the Cincinnati bank which was to have received the money.

T Hart Given, president of the Farmers Deposit National bank, could not be found, and other officials of the two banks were positive in their statements that there was little hope of tracing the money through the numbers of the bills, which were to have been transferred to the bank in Cincinnati.

Joseph R. Paull, one of the vice presidents of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., stated that he had received the report of the Adams Express Company, telling of the robbery of $100,000. The report stated that the money was currency of the Farmers Deposit National bank and of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., and that the currency was mostly made up of new notes, while some had been slightly used.

Mr. Paull stated it is probable the bank which shipped the money does not want its name known to the public, and for the same reason the name of the Cincinnati bank, which was to have received the money, is being withheld by the Adams Express Company. Mr. Paull said he is positive that the money, although it is new currency, cannot be traced by the numbers, as the notes are printed in consecutive order, and it is not likely anyone would know the number of the notes.

J. W. Fleming, cashier of the Farmers Deposit National bank, stated he does not know the name of the Pittsburgh bank which gave the money to be transferred or the name of the Cincinnati bank which was to receive it. He said he was almost certain that the stolen money cannot be traced by the numbers on the notes. Mr. Fleming said the Farmers bank has $800,000 currency in circulation and for this reason it would be prcatically impossible to trace the stolen money by the numbers the notes bear.

John Young, auditor of the Farmers bank, said he had arrived in the city over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad late last night and the report of the robbery was new to him, as he had been out of the city and did not see the report issued by the express company.

The Mellon National bank of this city, is the Pittsburgh correspondent of the Cincinnati Trust Company, of which George B. Cox, the Republican leader of Cincinnati, is president. When A. W. Mellon was told by telephone of the robbery of the Adams Express Company's office of $100,000, the question seemed to stagger him and he called back:

"What's that?"

When the statement of the robbery was repeated to him the sound of something like a low whistle of surprise came back over the wire, and he exclaimed:

"Is that so?"

When asked if his bank had sent any money to the express company to be transferred to a bank in Cincinnati, Mr. Mellon said he did not know. Then he added: "If any money was transferred I wouldn't necessarily know about it."

ENGRAVER DIES SUDDENLY.

Peter Borbonus Passes Away While Alone in Dark Room of Photo-Engraving Department.

Peter Borbonus, aged 25, a photo-engraver employed in the Pittsburgh Dispatch office, was found dead on the floor of the dark room in the engraving department, at 8 o'clock last night. His mouth, nose and right cheek were badly scarred and it was thought by some that he had committed suicide by taking a dose of one of the acids used in his work. Dr. J. P. Hagerty of 818 Wylie avenue, who was called said apoplexy had caused the man's death. Borbonus lived with his wife and two children at Fifth avenue and Boston street, Soho. He had been working in this city for about six months, having come here from Philadelphia.

Borbonus reported for work as usual at 4 p. m. and was alone in the shop until 7 p. m., when Ralph Ritchie, an etcher, went on duty. Ritchie says he did not see Borbonus until 8 p. m., when Peter Dunn, the foreman of the department, arrived at the office. Dunn opened the door of the dark room and discovered the body. His fellow workmen say Borbonus has been melancholy for several days.

SECRET SERVICE MAY PROBE.

Major Biddle Porter Makes Report on the Ryan Mystery at the Allegheny Arsenal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Maj. Biddle Porter, assistant judge advocate general of the army, today completed his report on the poisoning of Private Ryan at the Allegheny arsenal at Pittsburgh and forwarded it through the judge advocate general to the military secretary. From here it will probably go to the chief of staff, and possibly to the secretary of war.

The war department will for the present leave the case to the officers of the Pittsburgh police department and the county detectives. If they show no more disposition to attempt the unraveling of the mystery than they have in the past, then it is probable that the secret service of the United States government will be employed to solve the puzzle and ascertain how the ounce of chloral was administered to Ryan which caused his death.

Too Much Worry.

Worry kills more people than disease. It turns our hair gray; draws wrinkles on our face, places lines of care on our brow. We worry because we have too much to do. We worry because we have nothing to do. We worry about our friends. Make our friends wonder at our impatient and irritable nature, and if we don't take the trouble to learn the great secret we will worry ourselves into the grave. Worry is caused by a diseased stomach. Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets cure it. Get them today. A contented mind is surely yours—the greatest blessing man or woman can have. "Ask the Druggist."

WABASH FIGHT NOT SETTLED IN TOLEDO

It is possible Mr. Ramsey will go into court tomorrow morning and ask a mandamus to require the presentation of the Wabash books and the admission of the bonds which were secured prior to the day the books closed, and for which he has affidavits of the real owners.

Sensation of the Day.

The sensation of the day came when, in the long roll call of the bondholders present in person or by proxy, the Mercantile Trust Company of New York was reached. This proxy was presented by Chief Counsel Pierce of the Gould staff, and immediately awakened a flurry of excitement, for it is over this proxy the biggest legal fight since the Northern Securities case is liable to occur.

The Ramsey contingent had been awaiting its presentation. It represented the 435 debenture bonds held by the Mercantile Trust Company, but owned by the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Pacific railroad. According to a resolution accompanying it, adopted by the board of the Iron Mountain railroad, the proxy right was given to the Gould interest.

Judge Doyle, Mr. Ramsey's principal counsel, arose and made his strongest speech of the day. He stated the same statement will be made tomorrow when the stockholders meet, for, in addition to the bonds, the Iron Mountain owns 65,000 shares of the preferred stock of the Wabash, standing in the names of George J. Gould, Walter S. Wilson and E. T. Jeffrey.

Judge Doyle said: "I object to the voting of the Iron Mountain holdings by the gentlemen named, or by any one for them. I object also to the appearance as proxy holders of the gentlemen named for that purpose.

Legal Action Threatened.

"The stock of the Iron Mountain, with the exception of a small interest, is owned by the Missouri Pacific railroad. The method of the Missouri Pacific owners has been to elect a majority of the same men to control the two roads. Under the constitutions and statutes of Missouri, Nebraska, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio this ownership and control is illegal, for the Missouri Pacific and the Wabash are parallel and competing roads. This is also forbidden by the Sherman anti-trust act, the Elkins law and other interstate commerce legislation so far as railroads engaged in interstate traffic are concerned, and the Wabash is engaged in interstate traffic.

"The ownership shown here in this proxy is a violation of the statutes of six states, the federal law and the common law. I make this protest on behalf of Mr. Ramsey and the other stockholders interested with him. I serve notice now I intend to protest in the courts any election in which this stock or these bonds are so used."

Mr. Pierce waived the disputed proxy over to the inspectors of election, and it went on the Gould pile. Judge Doyle asked that his protest be spread on the minutes, and this was granted.

When the meeting opened this morning in the offices of Smith & Beckwith, the Wabash attorneys at Toledo, there was an attendance of about 25 officers and others directly or indirectly interested in the outcome of the fight. There was a rather surprising absence of the holders of considerable blocks of Wabash securities who would not come to see for themselves the wisest course to pursue.

Objected to Gould.

George J. Gould, as chairman of the board, took his place at the head of the table, but this was objected to by Mr. Ramsey on the ground an unprejudiced chairman would be necessary. No attention was paid to the objection, the meeting being well packed.

With Gould about the big table sat E. T. Jeffrey, president of the Denver & Rio Grande; J. C. Otteson, secretary of the Wabash; then the three inspectors of election—C. H. Newton, freight agent of the Wabash at Toledo; Fred J. Reynolds, grain merchant, son of Director Reynolds, and A. W. Colton, general manager of the Gould's Lake Erie transportation company.

Benjamin Nicoll sat at the bottom of the table. Here also gathered the little handful of Ramsey adherents, E. D. Taylor, Mr. Ramsey's secretary, and charge of the proxies. Beside Mr. Ramsey were Judge John H. Doyle and Attorney E. T. Lewis, his legal aid. His brothers, John P. Ramsey and R. R. Ramsey were also in the crowded room. Completing the Gould complement were W. S. Pierce and Lawrence Green, the active lawyers, assisted by Rush Taggart, E. B. Pryor, assistant to president of the Wabash; President F. A. Delano, Vice President B. A. Worthington, Director S. C. Reynolds, Vice Presidents E. T. Welles and W. H. Blodgett, J. V. Vanblorne and F. S. Landstreet.

Gould Has His Little Joke.

In the course of the long roll call there were many interesting incidents. One of the lawyers in the case kept referring to proxies as policies until finally George Gould turned to President Jeffrey of the Rio Grande system and said: "Guess they've all got the insurance bug."

There was some dispute over the proxies of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. Mr. Taylor is James R. Keene's son-in-law, and was active in Mr. Ramsey's behalf. The proxies of Cyrus J. Lawrence & Co. also caused a dispute which was settled only by telegraph from Lawrence. It appeared Mr. Gould had some sort of a string on 385 debenture bonds, but Mr. Ramsey secured the remaining 1.35% of the Lawrence firm's bonds.

As the roll call went on it developed that there were many cases of bonds not being voted. Apparently it was through unwillingness to work against either party. In scores of other cases the holdings were split both factions securing a part. Usually Mr. Ramsey got the smaller end of the deal of this kind.

The Gould ticket for the six directors to be chosen by the bondholders was announced today and will be voted upon tomorrow morning. The Ramsey ticket will not be announced until tomorrow. The Gould ticket follows: R. N. Galloway, president Merchants' National bank, New York; W. B. Sanders, counsel for Wheeling & Lake Erie railway; Robert C. Clowry, president of the Western Union, a Gould corporation; Winslow S. Pierce, counsel to Gould; Russell Sage, a director in all Gould corporations; Wells H. Blodgett, third vice president and general counsel of the Wabash railway. Messrs. Galloway, Sanders and Clowry are new men for the Wabash board.

HOLD INTERESTING MEETING.

Men's Club of Fourth Avenue Baptist Church Is Served With Banquet.

The October meeting of the Men's club of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last night took the form of a banquet, served at the church by the ladies of the Semper Fidus society. The menu was a full and toothsome one, and was partaken of by 75 men. Post prandial exercises of an interesting character were given and heartily applauded. William T. Speer, the newly elected president of the club, presided. Vocal music was furnished by Norman Hassler, soloist, and a double male quartet, under direction of Mr. Hassler, and two numbers were given by the Sunbeam orchestra. William S. Power gave an enjoyable talk on "From Dallas, Texas, to Portland, Oregon, and Return With the Bankers' Association." William E. Lincoln discussed "Fish Stories from Canada, Illustrated by Photographs." With humorous recitals the speaker interspersed wise comments on current movements in our own country and abroad. The Rev. Dr. Partridge, pastor of the church, talked of the work accomplished by the Men's club, and plans for the fall and winter.

SOCIETY GATHERS AT THE HORSE SHOW

Pittsburgh's Smart Set Meet at Sewickley Heights and Discuss Doings of Summer.

OPENING DAY BRILLIANT ONE

From a social standpoint the Sewickley Heights horse show was a reunion of the smart set after a summer's absence in various parts of this country, Europe and the Dominion of Canada. Greetings were given and received on every hand, while the gossip of the various summer resorts was exchanged, and those who had been stay-at-homes during the hot months had their own little tales to tell. The audience in the grand stand was composed largely of women, and the scene as viewed from any point was one of notable beauty, the fairest of femininity from Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the Sewickley valley having gathered to do homage to his genuine majesty Natty jacket and long coat, suits of white flannel and linen were the rule, while here and there a gown of some rich color with exquisite trimmings gave a touch of brilliancy to the scene. The hats were more elaborate than either the gowns or suits. Above the sea of faces waved beautiful plumes of various colors, blue and white predominating. Only a few women appeared in riding habits and these, with one or two exceptions, were the women who entered the ring. Mrs. Henry Robinson Rea, in a smart white habit, rode her magnificent "Blue Boy" in class 20, and captured the blue rosette, while Miss Belle Beach, who rode and drove, was attired in a black habit, and Miss Blanche Harper appeared in a suit of linen.

Lunched in Tally-Hos.

There was much visiting between the boxes which were at no time filled with the same party, between the calls for classes different members would exchange seats, and all through the afternoon the promenade was gay with couples strolling about the ring or leaning over the rail, only to return in a short time to the row of boxes in the grand stand. The parking place was filled with gay equipages, and from the vantage point of that spot many merry parties viewed the exhibition.

There were several tally ho parties who had members enjoyed luncheon from the heights of the vehicle, while the show was in progress. Tea was served in the Allegheny Country club near the ring, but there were few callers at the club house, either during the afternoon when the horses were in the ring, or after the show, when each member in the audience left to prepare for other social galeties which were to follow in the evening.

There were vases of garden flowers placed through the rooms of the club house in honor of the occasion, and also to add beauty to the dance in the evening. All in all, the opening day of the show was brilliant beyond every expectation, for it was essentially a society event. Even the weather man smiled his warmest approval, and although rain looked very near at one or two intervals, the clouds rolled by just enough to assure fair weather for the remainder of the day, and yet not enough to allow of the sun's shining down too brightly into the eyes of the onlookers.

What the Women Wore.

Among those seen in the afternoon's audience were Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., in a smart white coat suit and blue hat; Miss Ada McCrea in a handsome gown of blue and white with large white plumed hat; Miss Ruth Miller in a white jacket and small white straw hat; Mrs. J. Dawson Callery in a superb lace gown with lavendar trimmings and small black hat of jet and chiffon.

With Mr. and Mrs. Callery were W. B. Callery and Charles D. Callery. Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Singer, the latter entirely in black save for a white ostrich tip in her toque, had in their box their daughter, Miss Marguerite Singer, who wore a jacket suit of blue with a hat to match. Miss Gertrude Childs, wholly in black, was with Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Childs, the latter appearing in a white jacket suit and a trim little white hat wreathed with tiny pink roses. Her sister, Mrs. Thomas McK. Cook, who has just returned from Europe, was with her and wore a smart Frenchy hat of roses with wings at the side. Her suit was of white.

Mrs. William Booth Trainer, who was with Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., also wore a white suit, her toilette being completed by a chic little hat of red. Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, in gray, had Mrs. William J. Holland, Mrs. Lewis W. Dalzell and Miss Janet McCook as her guests. Mrs. William Walter Willock entertained a family party, the hostess wearing a suit of white and a dark blue hat trimmed with long sweeping plumes. Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., in another box, was in gray. Mrs. James McCrea was another matron in white, while her hat was a dainty little affair of lavender. Mrs. Robert Drew Shannon's suit was of white.

Social Events of the Day.

One of the handsomest toilettes was a dark cerise jacket suit and hat to match worn by Mrs. Henry Lafayette Collins, who flitted to and fro between the boxes and the rail. Mrs. Haines Allen Mitchener also contributed a touch of color by an entire blue toilette. Miss Louise Kay wore a neat little black gown of dotted material and a black and white felt hat. Mrs. Thomas Liggett appeared in a long white coat suit and black hat.

Miss Mary Flinn and her sister, Miss Edith Flinn, occupied the Flinn box, one wearing white and the other blue. Miss Madeline F. Laughlin was in white, and Miss Kate MacKnight was another spectator entirely in white. Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell and her debutante daughter, Miss Euphemia Bakewell, made a striking pair on the promenade, the former in a brown coat suit with a handsome brown plumed hat, and Miss Bakewell in a frock of blue with a gray hat. Miss Susan Shields Williams wore a natty white jacket suit and dark red hat.

The social events yesterday, aside from the horse show, included an informal breakfast which Mrs. Willock gave at home; a "cold stand-up" luncheon at which Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., was hostess, and the dinner given at the Country club by Mrs. and Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., which was followed by the club dance.

Will Study Parliamentary Law.

The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks after today will have permanent headquarters in the Union National bank. The clerks are soon to take up the study of parliamentary law under Prof. Stanley Reese. Last night the bank clerks held their first meeting of the year. Dr. Edward Sherwood Meade of the Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, delivered the address of the meeting.

Two Robberies in Crafton.

Three burglars visited Crafton yesterday afternoon and committed two robberies there. They entered the house of Alfred Gilmore, Harrison avenue and Martin street, and secured a $60 gold watch. The thieves were frightened off by the members of the family. Afterward they entered the house of John Cosgrove at the other end of the borough by climbing up the front porch. Here they stole a $50 gold watch and about $30 in cash.

WILD WITH ITCHING SCALP

Hair Fell Out and Was Rapidly Becoming Bald—Tried Many Remedies Without Success For Two Years—Hair Restored and Speedily

CURED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I was greatly annoyed by dandruff for two years. It was so bad that when I combed my hair large flakes would fall from the comb. The itching of the scalp at times was almost unbearable. Then my hair began to fall out, starting at the temples. The hair grew thin and I was rapidly becoming bald. Nothing I used gave any relief until I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first week I used them they relieved me of the itching scalp, and after six months' constant use the dandruff disappeared, my hair grew over the bald spots, and my scalp became clean and healthy.

"For the first two months I shampooed my head three times a week with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment after each shampoo. I used five Boxes of Ointment and seven cakes of Soap, (signed) Thos. Clement, 123 Mechanic St., Camden, N. J., May 12, 1905."

BISHOP CANEVIN WANTS NO FUSS

Going to Rome, but Keeps Hour of Departure Secret to Avoid a Demonstration.

IMPORTANT SYNOD MEETING

The business of the triennial diocesan synod being over, Bishop Canevin is now free to go to Rome to pay his duty visit to the pope. It will be the first visit of Bishop Canevin to Rome as a bishop, and his call on the head of the church is designated the ad limina visit, one which every bishop of the Roman Catholic church is in duty bound to make every 10 years. The late Bishop Phelan made his last visit in 1896.

Bishop Canevin will sail on Saturday from New York to Naples. He has been keeping silent as to the exact hour of his departure from Pittsburgh, having got wind that some of the Catholics were preparing a demonstration to speed him on the way. The bishop intends to leave for New York tonight, but if there is any likelihood of a demonstration being made he will leave earlier in the day, or perhaps postpone his departure until tomorrow. He will take with him to the pope a draft for the $8,000 collected in Peter's pence.

The last priestly function to be performed by the bishop before he goes away will be the solemnization of the nuptials of Serigus Paul Grace and Miss Elizabeth Connelly, at 9 a. m., today, in the Church of the Epiphany. The marriage was to have been performed next week, but was antedated a week because the bishop had made all arrangements for sailing on Saturday.

Catholic High School Favored.

The tenth triennial synod of the diocese of Pittsburgh was held yesterday in the Church of the Epiphany. It began with a pontifical high mass sung by Bishop Canevin and open to the public, the business sessions of the synod being held afterward in the basement of the church. Father F. L. Tobin preached at mass. The synod adopted rules for the regulation of the diocese and some of these will be submitted by the bishop to Rome, when he arrives there.

The synod adopted the recommendation of the school commission that a Catholic high school for graduates of the parochial schools be established. No site for the school has been selected, no plans have been drawn and no money has been raised, but in the course of the next two or three years, it is believed, the plans for the establishment of the institution will take definite shape.

A number of permanent or irremovable rectors were appointed by the bishop, as were the bishop's council and various committees of the diocese. Father Joseph Seehr was made a vicar general, in place of the Rev. E. A. Rush, who resigned about two years ago; Father F. L. Tobin was reappointed vicar general and Father William Kittell named again as vicar general in curia.

The new permanent rectors are Fathers Henry McHugh of St. Agnes' church; G. F. Gallagher of New Castle, J. Rommelfanger of Butler; M. A. Lambing of Scottdale; J. Bullion of Homestead; William A. Cunningham of Turtle Creek; L. M. Miskiewicz of St. Adalbert's church, and John Faughnan of Washington, Pa.

Fathers J. Rommelfanger of Butler, M. A. Lambing of Scottdale and C. A. McDermott of McKeesport, were made rural deans. The rural deans represent the bishop in the country districts, as the vicars general represent him in the diocese-at-large. Their duties are to visit and report on the churches in their respective districts. Father Rommelfanger will have charge of Butler, Armstrong and Indiana counties and that portion of Allegheny county north of the Allegheny river; Father M. A. Lambing will visit the parishes in Westmoreland and Fayette counties and in Allegheny county south and east of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, and Father McDermott will have the district containing Washington and Greene counties and that portion of Allegheny county west of the Ohio and Monongahela rivers.

The diocesan consultors, known as the bishop's council, will for the next three years consist of the Rt. Rev. Leander Schnerr, Fathers Martin Ryan, William Kittell, H. Goebel, C. A. McDermott, P. Keane and John Gorzynski. Father Gorzynski is a Pole and his appointment is a concession to the growing need of a man among the bishop's advisors familiar with the Polish and Slavonic spirit.

Father E. M. McKeever was selected fiscal procurator, and Father D. J. Malady the defensor vinculi, the defender of the tie (marriage tie), that is, that official who in hearings in ecclesiastical divorce defends the validity of the marriage, and disputes the validity of the reasons offered for the dissolution of the marriage, his object being to bring out all the evidence so that the ecclesiastical judge can determine whether or not the marriage should be declared invalid and the parties restored to the unmarried state.

Assessors and Examiners.

The diocesan assessors are Fathers Joseph Suehr, Martin Ryan, P. Keefe, C. A. McDermott, H. Goebel, C. Gasparik and Joseph Anthony. Father A. A. Lambing is the censor of books and Fathers Kittell, Goebel and Thomas Devlin compose the mission board. The music commission consists of Fathers E. M. McKeever, S. J. Schramm, John O'Connell and J. Wertz. The synodical examiners are Fathers Suehr, P. May, E. M. McKeever, F. Keene, J. Rommelfanger, H. Goebel, M. A. Lambing, William A. Cunningham and Julian, O. S. B.

The examiners of school teachers are Fathers M. A. Lambing, Goebel, Schramm, Malady, C. Hegerich, M. Lynch and Gorzynski. The school committee is composed of Fathers A. A. Lambing, May, Goebel, Thomas Devlin, McKeever, Schramm, William Graham, M. A. Lambing, Charles Coyne, Malady, Rommelfanger, Hegerich, John Price, L. Woelfel, Lynch, Thomas Rosensteel, Gorzynski, P. Quilter, A. Kaelnzy, Emmeran Singer, Ambrose Bruder, M. Hehir and Sebastian Siutz.

HEAR GOOD REPORTS.

Managers of Boys' Industrial Home, Oakdale, Hold Annual Meeting and Re-elect Officers.

At the fifth annual meeting of the Boys' Industrial Home at Oakdale, yesterday, the superintendent reported 194 boys had been under the care of the home for various periods during the year ended September 30. On October 1 there were 60 boys in the home. During the year there was not a death, serious accident or serious case of illness at the home.

The report of Treasurer Charles S. Beam showed the income from all sources was $15,818 09 and with the balance from the year previous, brought the total to $14,137 89. The expenses for the year amounted to $13,503 12, leaving a balance of $634 77. The board re-elected the old officers, as follows: President, the Rev. Thomas Parry, D. D.; vice president, the Rev. J. T. McCreery, D. D.; secretary, William H. Jameson; councillor, Maj. R. E. Stewart; treasurer, Charles S. Beam; financial secretary, the Rev. N. S. Fiscus; superintendent, J. W. Cleland.

The board of managers elected are as follows: J. J. Matthews, the Rev. J. D. Irons and Miss Bessie Bechannon. The Rev. Dr. J. M. McJunkin, William H. Jameson, Charles C. Price and Mrs. S. E. Lippencott, were elected members of the advisory board. The plans for the new $10,000 farm house to be built at the home were considered by the board. The farm house will be built this fall.

Mrs. Dierstein Is Made Postmistress.

Mrs. Frederick Dierstein of Whitaker, near Homestead, was yesterday notified of her appointment as postmistress in place of Otto Barthol, who recently resigned. The new postmistress is the wife of Justice Fred Dierstein.

FORM COMBINE TO PROTECT CITY

Allegheny Councilmen Organize for Purpose of Enabling Intelligent Voting.

CORPORATIONS ARE KEPT OUT

For the purpose of obtaining proper legislation in municipal affairs and of going into all meetings of city councils with a thorough understanding of every measure that is to be acted upon 30 members of common council of Allegheny have formed an organization. Already four meetings have been held and officers have been elected. The body has no political significance and knows no party lines when affairs of interest to the city are in question.

The organization has been perfected quietly and few outside councils have any knowledge of its existence.

The last caucus was held on Wednesday night of last week in the office of Edward G. Lang, member from the Eleventh ward, Thomas W. Harvey of the Sixth ward, presided. The organization is called the "Good Government Association" of Allegheny councils. The officers are: President, Robert K. Cochrane; first vice president, Dr. W. G. Adair; second vice president, Robert W. Alston; secretary and treasurer, Edward G. Lang. The latter is at present in St. John's General hospital, and his duties are being attended to by Charles D. Wettach of the Third ward.

While the meeting was being held in Lang's office Wednesday night a city hall employe was caught with this ear to the door, and ran away when discovered. What he learned will be of little value to the administration, however, as those in the organization say they have no intention of maintaining any secrecy, but simply to act in councils as they think is for the good of the city.

Corporation Men Barred.

The indiscriminate and wasteful expenditure of the city's money by the present administration was the incentive prompting the organization, according to those in it. Of late many members of both branches have complained that they were called upon to vote on measures about which they knew absolutely nothing. On several occasions when they asked for information they were unable to get any satisfaction from the department heads. At the last meeting a committee of three was appointed to visit members of the select branch and inviting certain of them to join.

It is expressive of the apparent sincerity of the organization that all members who are known as "corporation men" are debarred from membership regardless of any special relations existing in councils. Moreover none of the members who are in the liquor business were taken in, it being thought better not to place them at any time in a position that might embarrass them in a business way. Aside from the corporation and liquor men there are several others having having neither of these affiliations who will not be members of the new body. The reason is not made public.

In speaking of the organization yesterday Thomas W. Harvey, of the Sixth ward, said:

> The need of just such a body in councils was felt some time ago. There has been some reckless spending of the city's money and because of this many members of councils heard some harsh criticism from their constitutents. Of course there was justification for this talk among the taxpayers, for councils authorize, by their votes, the appropriations for improvements. It got to be the complaint among most of us that we seldom knew when we were voting intelligently, or rather we knew most of the time we were not voting intelligently because we knew almost nothing about the measures before us.

Members Legislated Blindly.

When the elevation of the Ohio street and Western avenue was started there was an awful howl from citizens in every part of the city. Councils went into that affair blindly and did not realize just what it meant. Since then we know that it will cost the city $100,000 to make changes in the two streets and in the parks, and the whole job is nothing but foolishness. It requires the destruction of a row of beautiful trees in the park that it has taken 50 years to grow. The job practically destroys the lower end of the west park. And the important part of it is that the change was absolutely unnecessary.

Besides this there is no one to assess but the city. There are no abutting property owners and every cent of expense comes out of the city funds. The market house job was a similar one. We tried to get from the director of public works an idea of what the repairs there would cost and just what work should be done. The director did not have the figures when we needed them in committee and we could not get any satisfaction from him. These and other instances demonstrated the necessity of some organization that would result in an intelligent study of all measures coming into councils and our association resulted.

Members of the Organization.

The executive committee is composed of George W. Snaman, Tenth ward; John S. Miller, Second ward; F. H. Fredericks, Fifth ward; Charles P. Bernhart, Third ward, and William Morrison, Eleventh ward. The members of the organization are:

Dr. William G. Adair, Robert W. Alston, Charles P. Bernhart, Jacob P. Bopp, Samuel F. Boyd, William J. Burke, B. J. Casement, Robert K. Cochrane, Dr. F. H. Frederick, Thomas W. Harvey, William H. Harvey, H. H. Hipwell, John H. Keane, Thomas G. Lambert, Edward G. Lang, John S. Miller, William Morrison, Charles Murray, John M. Orr, Joseph C. Pearce, William H. Richey, J. M. Reimenschneider, Adam Schnitzer, George W. Snaman, John G. Stewart, Charles D. Wettach and C. E. Woods.

Those who do not belong are: John Bader, William F. Billinger, H. R. Bloedel, John De Muth, William G. Frederick, Fred Hering, Daniel A. Mollo, Thomas McHenry, Joseph Roos, Edwin Rothpletz, J. H. Sheasley, L. W. Stahl and Samuel McElroy.

Have You Been in the Habit of Paying Extravagant Prices for Millinery?

Women may be close buyers in many things, but it is seldom they will haggle over the price of a hat—if there is some one creation that strikes their fancy; unless the price is outrageously high, they will scarcely discuss it.

Our Millinery Department has for some time been engaged in showing women what beautiful hats—the conservative hat, the gay hat, a well defined line between the two extremes—can be purchased here for really insignificant sums. Take the following as an instance:

TODAY we will place on sale one hundred stylish close-fitting toques and turbans, and tailored hats, also dress-matching trimmed hats—these pretty conceits in black and all the new shades, materials velvet, chenille, braid and pressed felt, the trimmings of most seasonable effects, the ideas having been reproduced from high-priced imported models and American designed hats, and our exceptionally modest price, only $5.00

Sale of Children's Kid and Patent Leather Hats.

FROM one of the noted New York makers of children's hats we have received three different styles in kid. They are—

BANDED LARGE SAILOR HATS,
COLONIAL OR FANCY CONTINENTALS,
BAKERS' CAPS.

These several styles are trimmed with rosettes and quills. They come in white, blue, brown, green and red, and are the acme of beautiful style.

They are different from anything shown in children's lines, and we have pleasure in presenting them first, and also at most effective prices.

$3.00, $3.50, $3.75, $5.00.

Continuation of the Sale of Handsome Ostrich Plumes.

OUR sale of fine plumes for reduced prices held last Friday and Saturday was such an unqualified success that we again give women the opportunity of purchasing such plumes for very striking underprices. For instance—

13-inch $3.50 grade for $2.25.
16-inch $4.50 grade for $3.00.
18-inch $5.50 grade for $3.75.
20-inch $7.00 grade for $5.00.

Ostrich plumes add a richness to hats that can be gained by no other sort of trimming. These come in black, white and a great range of handsome colors. The lustre is beautiful, and they have nice wide fines and showy heads.

A Budget of Umbrella News.

We will devote the day in this section to showing the new style Umbrellas. The display is a fine one—hosts of new handles original and beautiful in design—exclusive handles. Take, for instance, the new

Baroque handles, combinations of copper and silver,
Woyeaki, an oriental handle of carved wood,
Handles of Flemish Art Copper,
Hand-carved Coffee Ivory,
Oxidized sterling silver inlaid with green enamel.

These come mounted, not only in the staple black, but in the more novel colors, new greens, wines and navy as well.

Children's School Umbrellas—

For the fall of 1905 we have opened up the largest assortment of school umbrellas this house has ever shown—colors and blacks—silks and gloria. 16, 18, 20, 22 and 24-inch sizes. All have the best paragon frames, no matter what the price, and all costing over $1.00 are finished with case and tassel. Styles for boys and for girls.

75c for extra strong gloria umbrellas with natural handles.

$1.00 and $1.50 for silk gloria umbrellas, colors and black, in handles, choice is from carved dog heads, silver trimmed and plain natural.

$2.00—at this price a complete line of all-silk, tape edge, black or colored umbrellas—dresden, silver trimmed or natural woods.

Special for Men and Women—

We are making a specialty of a very fine pure silk umbrella for $1.95. The covering is a tape-edged taffeta in black, extra heavy weight, natural wood handle. Regular value $3.00.

Colored all-silk taffeta tape-edge umbrellas for women, $2.50 each—colors are blue, brown, green and wine.

Exhibition of Water Colors.

In our Fourth Floor Galleries there are on exhibition water colors by well-known artists, most of them unframed. This is in order to give customers an opportunity to select their own frames.

The unframed water colors range in price from $2.00 for a dainty little bit of landscape, to $100.00 for a handsomely painted figure piece.

Original water colors framed in neat gilt frames, size 10x14, at $2.50.

Water colors in gilt frames, size 14x20, specially priced at $6.00.

Original water colors by Mulholland, in gilt frames, well worth and usually sold for $25.00, special at $18.00.

Along with the water colors, special attention is called to the following—

Pastels in pretty gilt frames, $5.00 values for $3.00.

Pictures for dens, billiard rooms—Fallowfield Hunt Scenes in good oak frames, $2.50 each.

Photograph Frames, a fine collection of gold-plated ones at 50c each.

Photograph Frames in miniature size and on up to cabinet size, either in easel shape or with fancy rings with which to hang, 50c each.

Raincoats for Everybody.

This is the time for raincoats—the time for the coat that is practical either for rain or shine—these cool mornings one needs some warm overgarment, and the raincoat is just the thing.

Raincoats for Men—

Of cravenetted cloths cut in the very latest style, in this range of prices—

Black, $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00.
Oxford, $16.50 and up to $40.00.
Fancy, $15.00 and up to $35.00.
Surtouts, $25.00 and up to $40.00.

Boys' Raincoats—

We make a specialty of carrying raincoats for boys from 7 to 16 years of age, and of giving them something that will wear them for years.

Gray, tan and mixtures, $10.00 and $13.50.

Women's Raincoats—

We have raincoats for women—various colors—at $10.00 and along and up to $50.00. Right here we desire to draw your attention to a special—

$20.00 to $30.00 raincoats grouped together from lines that have been sold down to where but a few remain will be thrown out today for the special price of $15.00. In oxford, olive and tan.

Raincoats for Young Ladies—

We have raincoats for young ladies, covert cloth in tan and gray mixtures, such styles as half-fitting and loose back, and the price range is $10.00 to $35.00.

Raincoats for girls, cravenetted cloth in gray and black, $7.50 to $16.00.

Evening Chiffons, Nets and Laces.

The rage for all-overs gathers interest daily—there are chemisettes of all-over, waists of all-over and entire gowns of all-over. The matter of evening dress seems to have resolved itself into a matter of just which class of all-over it shall be; whether fancy nets and chiffons or laces.

Radium Marquisette and Luckie in all the fashionable evening shades, $1.50, $2.00 and $3.00 a yard.

White and colored silk nets, plain and figured, 45 inches wide, handsome evening colors, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $2.00, $3.00 a yard.

White and cream Valenciennes, Pt. Alencon, Princesse and Pt. Lierre Laces, 45 inches wide, $1.25, $1.75, $2.00 to $10.00 a yard.

White and cream cotton Nets—45 inches—75c, $1.00, $1.25 to $2.50 a yard.

Cubator Toilet Specialties.

The Cubator preparations are highly recommended by the medical profession as of benefit to very young children especially, no less than for adults.

Cubator Soap, purely vegetable, cleanses the skin without leaving it harsh.

Cubator Lotion—a skin tonic which is excellent after shaving.

Cubator Cream, an antiseptic and nutritive skin food.

Cubator Toilet Powder, a delightful face powder.

The lady in charge will be pleased to point out the manifold advantages of the various Cubator specialties.

Wednesday, October 11, 1905.

What is called "car shortage" is increasing every week. It is not merely an insufficiency of cars, it is a general inability of the railroads to promptly receive and move the freight offered. The tonnage has outgrown the vastly increased facilities. The difficulty does not yet amount to congestion, but is manifested in failure to deliver from day to day as many cars for loading as shippers desire. There is too much business for the transporters.

Another attempt to hold a session of the Hungarian parliament has been abandoned. A letter was issued yesterday proroguing that body. It was received with jeers from the opposition and the assembly dispersed in disorder. How long this sort of thing can continue without producing the most serious consequences is problematical. It has gone long enough now to create grave difficulties. There is no sign of yielding on the part of the opposition and Austria and the pro-Austrian element appear wholly unable to find a way out.

The Russian plan to form colonies in Siberia of the soldiers who have been engaged in Manchuria, instead of bringing them home to be an additional element of discord, is a diplomatic move. The dangers that might result from the return of a large body of dissatisfied soldiers, who would find conditions at home no better than abroad, have already been generally perceived and widely commented upon. These dangers Russia will avoid, while at the same time assisting the populating of Siberia and the development of her resources.

A sensational sequel to the recent discussion of New York theologians regarding the sex of angels was the smashing yesterday, by their sculptor, of two figures intended for the new Episcopal cathedral on Morningside Heights. The figures, which were those of the angels of the Annunciation and the Resurrection, were in the female form. While the action of the sculptor evidences a hasty temper, or at least sorely-irritated nerves, it can hardly be said that the silly controversy has not supplied sufficient provocation for what he did.

Despite the declaration of the Leader, apologist for the pledge-breaking franchise grabbers, the Republican organization in Allegheny county is advocating the election of the whole Republican ticket from Stewart for justice of the supreme court to Guy for poor director, emphatically including J. Lee Plummer for state treasurer. It is a ticket worthy of support, honorably and fairly nominated and representative of the great Republican party. Every candidate on it is a man of good character, sterling integrity and ability to perform the duties of the office to which he aspires.

In its apology for the superintendent of police the Dispatch carefully ignores that person's plea of guilty in May, 1901, and his punishment for the same offense for which he was convicted "eight years ago." In re the district attorney's office, the police superintendent began his attacks on it only after the county detectives had raided a gambling room long ignored by the police. Why are the gamblers tolerated? Do they contribute to Citizens campaign funds or is it a more private matter? The district attorney is doing vastly more for the preservation of law and order than the police superintendent who declines to submit evidence when invited.

Postoffice inspectors recently returned from Alaska report wonderfully prosperous conditions throughout that region. Up at Fairbanks, beyond the Arctic circle, nearly 20,000 people will winter this year. Six millions of gold has been taken out in that region this season. Scandinavians form a large proportion of the population, and many of them have "struck it rich." Railway building continues apace and the mail and telegraph services are being steadily improved. It is evident the "wild west" stage of civilization will soon be history in Alaska, which affords opportunities to industrious, enterprising persons second to those of no other United States territory.

Last night's meeting of the "anti-imperialists" in Boston did not attract as much attention as it would have some half dozen years ago. The policy of national expansion has been ratified so emphatically by a couple of presidential elections in which the issue was raised that opposition is now confined to a few Bostonians and a certain distinguished resident of Lincoln, Nebraska, now abroad. An academic discussion of "The Powers of the President," by Dean Henry Wade Rogers of the Yale law school, was the most exciting feature of last night's gathering, in strong contrast to the impassioned oratory in which, but a few years ago, the "downfall of the republic" was freely predicted by our anti-expansionist friends.

As to Shifting.

The Dispatch takes unkindly to its appellation of apologist for the Citizens party, and in its chagrin at being compelled to take up that unlovely task it berates The Gazette in an editorial, whose vocabulary points to a strange familiarity with the present occupants of the Public Safety building. In its classic and expressive way it accuses The Gazette of a "Shifty Sadie" policy—whatever that is—with regard to municipal politics. If The Gazette is shifty, what term can we invent that will fit the Dispatch? It shifts, not from day to day, but from column to column. From the day the Bigelow-Verner-Hays combination betrayed the people, abandoned their promises, and embarked in politics for business purposes alone, its editorials have occasionally indulged in mild platitudes of weak condemnation, while its news columns, which are all that the people read, have teemed with matter colored in favor of the administration. It opposed the iniquitous boulevard franchises in a perfunctory way, while one high in its management was busily engaged in lobbying for the ordinances. Apparently inconstant, it still, in sloshing around, has the constant aim of blinding the public to the manifold delinquencies of its friends in City hall. It objects to the term apologist, yet prints, in the very same issue, a plea in "confession and avoidance" in behalf of a Citizens official high in rank, whose very presence in our midst is a stigma on the city.

From the day The Gazette took up the gage in favor of clean and upright municipal government, now nearly five years ago, it has not shifted from its purpose in the slightest degree, nor will it do so until its object is attained. If the originators of the Citizens party had fulfilled their promises, good government would have crowned their efforts long since, but immediately on attaining power they abandoned all pretense of reform, and directed their energies toward gathering the substantial fruits of power in the shape of negotiable franchises and other objects of public graft. Bred in a different school of politics, The Gazette could not follow this course, and has since carried on its fight for good government through other agencies. As it now views the situation, the best of these agencies, and, in fact, the only available one, is the Republican party organization. It may not be perfect—no organization is. It may contain within its ranks some men who do not measure up to the highest standard of citizenship; but the worst of them will shine by comparison with the discredited remnant of the Citizens party. In any event, it is the only agency by which these promise-breakers and grafters can be driven from power; and in its efforts to accomplish this it will receive all possible assistance from The Gazette, despite the mud throwing of political hirelings and the carpings of a venal press.

Pittsburgh Orchestra.

In a week or so the sale of tickets for the Pittsburgh orchestra season will begin. This is the forerunner of an event in the artistic life of the city. Under the direction of Emil Paur the Pittsburgh orchestra is, this year, one of the best musical organizations in this country. It does credit to the great city whose name it bears and the season's concerts promise a feast extraordinary to music lovers—one that will be taken advantage of to the full.

Every Pittsburgher desires to have the high standard of the orchestra maintained. When it goes abroad it carries to other communities an earnest that Pittsburgh is not all smoke, and shops and tons of material things, but a live, cultured, artistic center of population. It is the proof that Pittsburgh has taste and appreciation. No Pittsburgher would like to have any other idea entertained about his home community.

These remarks are pertinent to the plain statement that maintenance of this organization and its excellence depends on the actual appreciation shown by the Pittsburgh public. Appreciation is shown in the sale of tickets. At the concerts it will be forced because that participation will be a perfect pleasure.

To Save Niagara.

While the matter of saving the magnificent spectacle of Niagara falls is more discussed in the state of New York than elsewhere, it is of interest to a much larger public. The world has but one Niagara and cannot afford to lose it. Yet the inroads made on it for commercial power on both sides of the river are threatening its destruction. There are persons, even, who argue the power obtained by utilizing the fall of waters is more important to mankind than the spectacle of a torrent of water plunging over the cataract.

Now comes Alton D. Adams, a gentleman of attainments, with a suggestion made through the New York Sun to utilize the river below and save the grand falls. We join with the Sun in commending this idea to the careful consideration of the utilitarians on the one hand and the lovers of beauty on the other; likewise to the state of New York on one side of the river and the Dominion of Canada on the other. Mr. Adams points out how the raging rapids can be made to yield 1,500,000 horse power without further encroachments on the American or Canadian falls.

Saving Niagara may seem an academic question, merely, but it is not. Already the diversion of the upper waters to drive power turbines has lessened the flow over the precipice. The spectacle has not been injured, but it is an easy calculation of the additional power that will leave no more than a streamer for the Horse Shoe and a dribble on the other side. Active, prompt measures are necessary for the preservation of this, one of the natural wonders of the world.

A Plain Utterance.

There have been many strange comments made on the platform adopted by the Massachusetts Republican state convention last week. So much had been said prior to the meeting of the convention about the vote on lieutenant governor signifying a stand pat attitude that every effort has been made to construe the platform declaration as supporting the predictions. As a matter of fact the Massachusetts Republicans urge "present action" and are practically in line with The Gazette. The platform says:

The time at which revision of the tariff should be undertaken must be determined by the representatives of the party from all parts of our country. We approve the position taken by our senators and representatives at the last session of congress in favor of present action, and we urge that they should continue to press upon their party associates in congress from other states the wisdom of a consideration of the tariff for the purpose of revision and readjustment.

Precisely. Massachusetts could not compel immediate revision if it would; it would not if it could. It does its duty when it urges "present action." It will abide by the decision of the Republican leaders and the representatives of the party from all over the country. This is exactly what The Gazette has said on the subject and it is an expression of progressive Republican sentiment. It is a presentation of good policy; revision by a congress that is safe; revision that shall not harm the principle of protection.

A Prophet Without Honor.

An idea of the conservatism, the unwillingness to adopt suggestions for new ways of doing business which prevails in certain official circles in Washington, is afforded by the case of Daniel Hargrove of Woodworth, N. C., who is now under arrest in the capital city while examination is being made of his mental condition. Mr. Hargrove has long been a student of the weather. For many years he has studied the signs in the heavens which, in combination with certain unfailing physiological symptoms of his own, along the line of rheumatism and corns, have enabled him to predict the next day's weather with remarkable accuracy. For over a decade Mr. Hargrove has enjoyed a more than local reputation as a weather guesser. Picnic promoters have pinned their unwavering faith to his predictions, Ball games have been appointed for certain days, or postponed, according to his advice. Housewives hung out the washing, no matter how black the gathering clouds, when Mr. Hargrove assured them it would not rain. During the past eight years he has kept a diary showing the comparative accuracy of his predictions and those of the United States weather bureau. According to this diary, Mr. Hargrove has guessed it oftener by 20 per cent than Uncle Sam's salaried guessers.

This set Mr. Hargrove to thinking, and the other day he journeyed to Washington and, obtaining a personal interview with the secretary of agriculture, made formal application for the position of chief of the weather bureau. He was told bluntly that the government preferred to go on predicting weather in the same old way, that it had no use for his corns and rheumatism; that Chief Moore never had a corn in his life, and yet he could guess it two times out of three. Mr. Hargrove resented this treatment and was locked up, pending an examination into his sanity. The lot of the original investigator has ever been a hard one. Science is slow to recognize true genius. Gentlemen with new ideas, who desire to remain outside the asylum, should be wary about running counter to Washington conservatism.

The German war commission appointed to investigate the subject of artificial thirst should not conclude its labors without a visit to Kentucky, where the natives have made the question of its prompt alleviation a lifelong study.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Neither Legislatures Nor Microbes Can Break the Kissing Habit.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

It will take a long course of education to eradicate the kissing habit.

For several years past certain ones, mostly unkissable, have been fighting the habit, and when the microbe butted in they felt sure of success.

From your point of view what progress have they made? As a human being you have had some experience, or at least you have made some observations upon which you can base an opinion.

That it is one of the questions of the hour is shown by the number of queries by young people. These mostly relate to the propriety of kissing. Occasionally one wants to know if it is really sinful to give or receive a good-night kiss.

No doubt some young people are at a loss to decide on the spur of the moment. These, as a rule, take Hoyt's advice, "when in doubt take the trick."

As rules go this is about as good as any yet suggested.

You may be one of those who think this subject too trivial and foolish to talk about, much less to write about; but don't you know that you are in a hopeless majority?

Laying jokes aside, there are few subjects that receive more practical attention, and not only by young people, but by those who have grown gray and wrinkled.

Wouldn't this be a proper and altogether fitting topic for discussion by women's clubs?

* * *

Speaking of women's clubs calls to mind a sharp note from one who writes as with authority. The substance of it is contained in these lines:

"You have been trying to roast women's clubs lately, but they still live, and will live long after you are forgotten. These clubs need no defense at my hands; their works do speak for them.

"I have long been one of your faithful readers, and have found much in your writings to commend, but when you turn your pen against woman's clubs you are not even interesting. But I will be generous enough to say that it is because of your lack of knowledge concerning these clubs, and not pure 'cussedness,' as Artemus Ward said of the mule.

"Women's clubs have done much good, and are now a power in the land. Upon them the country will have to rely for most needed reforms, and for help in carrying out great schemes for social and intellectual improvement.

"You will do better by keeping to the kissing question and leaving women's clubs to women."

* * *

There now!

Wonder why she suggests sticking to the kissing question? Is it because she likes to read about it?

If we may depend upon what we hear from friends far and near, an article on kissing will be more generally read, and much longer remembered than any others, not even excepting those relating to the salvation of the soul.

And unless women's clubs are made up of mighty dry material a bright, juicy paper on kissing will catch on better, excite more interesting comment, and be longer remembered than one on mental phenomena, metempsychosis, or Confucian philosophy.

Try it and see if you don't have the most enjoyable meeting of the series.

Here is a stunner:

"Will you, dear Q. O., please tell me what is meant by 'spooning?' I am a young girl and haven't been much in society, so that I am not as well posted as you are. I hear other girls talking about spooning, and have been told that young men don't think much of girls who don't spoon.

"Not wishing to appear green I write to you for information on this point."

Give it up. There was no such word in the good old-fashioned lexicon.

You will find it, however, in the latest edition of the Standard dictionary, where it is defined: "To be sentimentally in love."

Following this is a verse from one of Bret Hart's poems in which the word occurs—

"But goodness! What nonsense I'm writing.
(Mamma says my taste is still low),
Instead of my triumph reciting,
I'm spooning on Joseph Heigh-ho."

* * *

Is spooning worth while?

That is the point the young lady should decide before dropping into the habit. And before passing upon it she should consult women who have had largest experience in entertaining company, courting and such.

It is most important that she makes a right start, for it isn't easy to correct mistakes in this line. Fortunately there are good and sensible women who are ever ready and willing to give pointers to young and inexperienced girls.

If women of taste and culture were to cultivate the acquaintance of girls, coach them for the social game, and help them to start right, there would be fewer failures, and society would be all the better.

And what nobler work can cultured Christian women engage in than this, seeing that women set our social standard? It may not be so popular as club work, but surely it would effect good results, as results are what count.

Many a fine girl has had her life spoiled by being allowed to start wrong. And in most cases good women watched her start and hadn't a word to say until it was too late to save her.

A Butler correspondent wants to know something about goo-goo eyes, what they are, and how to make them.

He should write to J. M. Lewis of the Houston (Tex.) Post. They have a goo-goo ordinance in that town. And if anybody knows what goo-gooing is Lewis does, particularly if it is a good thing. No doubt you have read some of his fine, homely, heartstome poetry. Here is a sample that doesn't look like poetry, but it is just the same:

What, leave my office? Go away and seek the fields of yesterday, the meadows where I used to play? Well, I guess not. Go leave my fan and easy chair and lazy office, and go where I was a boy with tousled hair? Well, I'll be shot! Me, me! go back to that far day, and slop the pigs, and throw down hay to all the horses every day? No, sir, not me.

Let some one else go chase the chicks, let some one else go split the sticks, and take the sundry cuffs and kicks; I'd like to see myself give up this slothful ease and wade through barnyards to my knees; give up this just-go-as-you-please to go and be a boy again as I was then and trot the same old gait again and go and find the speckled hen, and toss the hay, and salt the sheep and feed the cow, and go out in the field and plow till perspiration wet my brow ere I could play.

No, thank you, I don't pine to roll into a tepid swimmin' hole; I've gone that road and paid that toll, and now I'll loll—darn yesterday! Loll back and take the rest I've earned! I don't think I have ever yearned for overworked, and and sunburned youth; if I did I take it back. I'm happy here, I want no days of yesteryear, I leave them for—with all their cheer—some other kid.—J. M. Lewis.

No Room for Doubt.

There is no room for doubt as to the position of the Republicans of Massachusetts upon the subject. They are for tariff readjustment by the Republican party, when times are good, and the Republicans in control of congress. There is this to be said of this proposition that it is greatly to be preferred to tariff revision by the Democrats with that party in control of the situation. The tariff has got to be revised sooner or later, to meet changed conditions, and a good many stanch protectionists feel that now is the time to undertake the work.—Titusville Herald.

BURGLAR GETS CUE FROM DOCTOR'S RIG

Ease With Which Physicians Enter Houses Starts Him on New Criminal Tack.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—From the statement made by a confessed burglar today, it would appear that while all Wall street was craning its neck recently to get a good look at a certain "gentlemanly" professor of housebreaking, he and two "bunnies" were busy in the Harlem section. John Mulcare, alias William Hall, alias Charles Call; Frederick Martin and Stephen Hazen, the trio to whom the police attribute the uptown reign of burglary in the past year, were rearraigned before Magistrate Crane in Harlem police court today on the specific charge of burglary in the apartments of Mrs. Harris Hord, and held in $3,000 bail each for trial.

Mulcare told the reporters he left his home 11 years ago. His parents live in the Mount Hope section of the Bronx. One day, in Harlem, he saw a doctor's carriage stop before a house, the doctor alight and enter, unquestioned. He communicated his idea to Martin and Hazen. It happened that Martin was a good driver, so he impersonated the driver, and Mulcare, always attired in the height of fashion, would do the heavy acting.

They drove about Harlem, and when they saw a house with the curtain drawn and made certain the family was away, they began work. Mulcare, equipped with the right tools, would force an entrance and take whatever he could, removing the plunder to the carriage outside, in a suit case. Mulcare said he neither drank, smoked, nor chewed, nor had any other of the commoner vices. They interfered with his being an expert crook, he said.

Borglum Smashes His Angels.

The Angel of the Annunciation and the Angel of the Resurrection, the two big figures over which the church and art world have been at war for the past week, are no longer in existence. Gutzon Borglum, the famous sculptor who designed and modeled them in the firm belief that masculinity is foreign to the best conception of angel depiction, went to Morningside Heights, where the great cathedral of St. John the Divine is building, and destroyed them, absolutely reducing to a scattered mass of debris the figures which he and other artists believed were truthful, artistic, religious and poetic embodiments of the Biblical ideas of angels. Now he will try again.

New Idea in Boys' Clubs.

The first of a number of boys' clubs, one for every assembly district in the city, projected by Municipal Court Judge Hoffman and City Chamberlain Patrick Keenan, is soon to be opened at No. 323 East Third street, and will be known as the "Boys' Institute." This club has been incorporated and is equipped for a membership of 1,000. There will be manual training classes, a fine reading room, gymnasium and assembly rooms for social gatherings and entertainments. Judge Hoffman believes more good can be accomplished by bringing boys off the streets into these clubs than in any other manner.

Jerome Loses Pull With Sullivans.

The Sullivans, "Big" and "Little" Tim, who were regarded as the political mainstays of District Attorney Jerome in his getting from Tammany a renomination for his present office, have decided to fall into line with Leader Murphy and not demand the renomination of the fighting district attorney. With respect to the district attorneyship situation "Little Tim" said today: "Tammany will not touch Jerome this year with a 10-foot pole."

May Force It on Ford.

Leading Republicans began this afternoon to boom John Ford for the mayoralty nomination. They said Senator Nathaniel A. Elsberg was positive in his refusal to allow his name to be used, and his friends would prevent the nomination from being forced upon him. None of the Republican leaders seen today could say who would be named in place of Charles E. Hughes, who declined the nomination yesterday. The Ford talk, however, came from influential quarters, and it is said that Senator Ford is as likely to be the candidate as any one who can be mentioned.

The Generous Mr. Murphy.

Charles F. Murphy made what he called a handsome offer to the Republican managers today: "If they can't find a candidate for mayor," he said, "Tammany will help them out. We will lend them Hearst." James W. Osborne loomed up today as a formidable candidate for the district attorneyship. If Murphy decides that he can do without Jerome, Osborne is likely to be nominated.

Looks Like Cinch for McClellan.

The betting in Wall street that has been done thus far on the election is at the longest odds ever offered on a mayoralty candidate for years. Five to one, and as high as eight to one, was quoted that Mayor McClellan would beat any man named by the Republicans. The mayor's headquarters in the Bartholdi, which were opened yesterday, were in full swing today. John H. O'Brien, who until yesterday was secretary to the mayor, is in charge of the campaign.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

A patrolman brought a prisoner into a Detroit court charged with vagrancy.

"What's your name?" asked the court.

"Tellus."

"Tell you?"

"No, Tell-us."

"Oh, I see," replied the judge, although he looked very much perturbed, and it was plain to see that he did not see at all. "What's your first name?" he ventured.

"Tellus."

"Oh, I see. What's your name again?"

"Tellus."

The judge pulled his mustache very hard and glared. "Say," he sputtered, "why don't you tell me? What's the answer?"

"Tellus Tellus, that's my full name," repeated the prisoner. Then he wrote it out as follows: Tellus Tellus.—Detroit News.

Near Thing.

Tommy Howard is no better and no worse than the majority of men of his age, but his maiden aunt, who keeps him in supplies at Oxford, and whom he looks to to leave him something worth while, takes it for granted that he is the embodiment of all the virtues.

She went to see him recently, and the dutiful Tommy took her and his dog for a walk through the city. Tommy hadn't given a thought to the intelligence of the canine creature, but, as the event proved, the latter very nearly upset the whole bag of tricks. For he trotted serenely ahead, and stopped at the door of the Brown Cow, and looked round as if expecting his master to follow.

"Thomas," said his aunt, in a steely voice, "what does this mean?"

"Mean, aunty?" said the resourceful Tommy. "Er—dog's a wonderful intelligent beast, don't you know. Looks up at the sign of that horrid place, seer a cow, thinks it's a dairy, and, being fond of milk wants me to buy him some. Yes; remarkable dog."

Explanation accepted, but it was a close thing.—Answers.

No Wonder He Laughed.

Baseball cranks will all remember with pleasure the late Mike Kelley, the star attraction of the famous Bostons, then the champions of the National league. The Bostons were playing in a western city, and had just returned to their hotel after the game, and the members of the team were separating and going to their rooms, while Kelley headed for the bath room to take his regular "rub down."

A few minutes later one of the other players on the team, while passing down the corridor, heard Kelley's well-known laugh inside the bath room, and stopped at the door and asked Kelley what the joke was.

Kelley replied: "This is the first time I ever got out of the bath tub without stepping on the soap."—Boston Herald.

The Editor's Toast.

At an editorial convention in Kansas one of the country editors offered the following toast:

"To save an editor from starvation take his newspaper and pay him for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes bury him. Dead people are the only ones that never make mistakes. Newspaper readers would do well to remember there are no perfect people — editors or readers."—Topeka Journal.

New York Prices.

Hamilton Odell, the lawyer, lunches at the Lawyers' club daily, sometimes. One day when he was dining alone, taking the order slip from the waiter, he wrote:

One oyster stew.
Not much milk.

In due time he received his oyster stew, which did not contain much milk, enjoyed it and forgot the incident.

It is the custom at the Lawyers' club to return the order slips which the members have written, with the amounts of the different items filled in, and at the end of the month in question, Mr. Odell received his slips and took them home with him. After dinner he started to look through them, and while idly turning them over came across this one:

One oyster stew	$0.50
Not much milk	.10
	$0.60

Highly Important if True.

The story comes from Nevada that Charles M. Schwab is going to acquire a residence in that state with a view to succeed Newlands in the United States senate. At the same time William H. Andrews is expected to be elected senator from New Mexico when that territory becomes a state. These are interesting tips to Pennsylvanians with senatorial ambition.—Philadelphia Press.

Touches a Truth.

"One thing we have found out," said a well-known Cleveland banker the other day, "is that we have been paying about one-third too much for our life insurance." His estimate was general, and it may not apply to all companies or all policies, but it touches a truth of the largest proportion and the greatest interest.—Cleveland Leader.

Very Good Authority.

The esteemed Cincinnati Enquirer does not believe the statement that it cost Mr. Douglas $25,000 to be elected governor of Massachusetts, as the length of the term is only one year, and the office isn't worth any such sum. The only foundation for the story, so far as we are aware, is that it comes from Gov. Douglas himself.—Chicago Tribune.

THE TRAMP.

I am a knight of an olden order,
I am a son of an ancient line;
You hedge your land with a barring border—
Never a land that may out be mine.
Others are slaves of the sword or sabre,
Others are bound to their thatched abode,
Others are liege to the lords of labor—
I am a Knight of the Open Road.

What of the day, or the coming morrow?
They may go drown in the tideless past,
I have my choice—I may beg or borrow;
I have my way—I may feast or fast.
Is it your world? Ho, the world is roomy!
You and your toil have their stavish place,
I know the debt that is ever due me
And I demand with a smiling face.

Mine is the blood of forgotten strayers;
Mine is the soul of the great unrest—
Soldiers and sailors, strolling players—
Men who knew neither east nor west.
You are the blind who provoke my laughter
Stumbling about in your chosen towns,
Hugging the shade of your shanting rafter,
Viewing my kind with your damning frowns.

What do you know of the ceaseless calling?
What do you know of the luring trail?
What do you know of the long road falling
Down from the hill to the singing dale?
What do you know of the night's blue curtain
Swung in the sky for the sleeper's rest?
What of the world? All your thoughts uncertain
Die in the walls where your life is pent.

I am a knight of an olden order—
Head of the race that of old went forth,
Careless of land and of law and border,
Footing it east, west, south and north.
Stoop to the strokes of the lash of labor,
Bend your backs to the galling load—
I have the whole wide world for neighbor;
I am a Knight of the Open Road.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Yarns were swapped and a general revival of old times was enjoyed last evening at the Monongahela house by a number of men from the counties of Somerset and Cambria. The party was headed by Judge D. J. Horner and Gen. W. H. Koontz of Somerset, either of whom could make an evening merry for a crowd in story telling of Somerset and that region in its childhood days. They have seen Somerset grow from a wilderness, one might almost be tempted to say if he were not fearful of making those two gentlemen of the old school appear older than they really are) anyway, they have been a wonderful development and have been part and parcel of that development themselves. They are both well known Pennsylvanians, and when they happen to visit Pittsburgh together, as they are doing now to attend the supreme court session, there is always something good expected, and the lobby of the Monongahela house, where they have made their headquarters in Pittsburgh for many years, always takes on an air of something unusual when they are known to be about.

"Somerset on the boom? Well, not exactly on the boom, yet it is feeling pretty good over the outlook for a new railroad within a short time," said Gen. Koontz. "The new railroad from Ligonier is now within three or four miles of the city of Somerset—O, yes, we call it a city. And that line will be a dandy, for it will make possible a round trip in one day between Somerset and Pittsburgh. That is impossible now. Somerset is situate up there in the mountains and is given an outlet over the Somerset & Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to Pittsburgh by way of Rockwood. But it is impossible now to come to Pittsburgh, attend to business and return to Somerset the same day. That may be good for the hotels of Pittsburgh, but the people of Somerset and its vicinity would like to see the Baltimore & Ohio make proper provision for their accommodation to Pittsburgh. I believe this will be done this fall, or at least next spring. The new line from our city to Ligonier will make connection with the Pennsylvania main line at Latrobe, and we are promised an excellent service by this route to Pittsburgh. The new line will touch valuable coal lands and ought to be a paying road from the start."

More Bankers Go to Washington.

While most of the Pittsburgh bankers who wanted to attend the sessions of the American Bankers' association at Washington went from here Monday night, there were many who delayed going until last night. The trust section of the association met yesterday and the regular banking section will hold its convention today. Those who went down to the national capital last night will attend the regular sessions. The Baltimore & Ohio carried a large number of the Pittsburgh bankers on its Duquesne limited and New York express train, and the Pennsylvania carried a few on the Washington flyer.

LIFE INSURANCE IS PURELY PHILANTHROPIC IN ITS SCOPE

Not Founded to Make Money for Policyholders, Says President McCurdy.

FORTUNE SPENT FOR LUNCHES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The sessions of the insurance investigating committee were terminated for the week at the adjournment today, because of the death of S. Fred Nixon, speaker of the assembly of the legislature of New York, at his home in Westfield.

The testimony today did not elicit any information of a sensational nature beyond what had been discounted in the testimony of previous witnesses. The feature was the presence as witnesses of the executive officers of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. These were President Richard A. McCurdy and Vice Presidents Grannis and Gillette.

Toward the close of the session Mr. McCurdy made the startling statement that an insurance company was not an institution founded to make money for the policyholders, but was, or should be, a great philanthropic enterprise founded to increase and spread its benefits over the entire earth.

"There has been a great mistake made," he said, "about the real province of life insurance companies in these latter years. People have been led to believe the main purpose was to make money for its policyholders. In my view that is not the purpose of such companies. They are eleemosynary. When a man insured in a company he should take into consideration the fact that he has entered a great philanthropic concern that is in duty bound to spread itself, even though this growth prevents him from realizing as much as he expected."

It was announced definitely by Dr. Gillette that the Mutual Life Insurance Company contributed $40,000 to the Republican national committee last fall; that in 1900, $25,000 was contributed and 1896 $15,000 was given for campaign purposes.

Dr. Gillette testified he had paid these amounts personally in cash, and later in the day Mr. McCurdy said that while he knew campaign contributions had been made, he did not know the amounts. He said no contributions had been made to campaign committees before 1896, and no contribution to state or municipal campaigns had ever been made in this or any other state. The contribution of $2,500 to the congressional campaign committee, Mr. McCurdy said, he knew nothing about until it came out in the testimony last week.

Robert Olyphant, chairman of the committee on expenditures of the Mutual Life, testified he could not tell what the $25,000 items drawn to his order were for, beyond that they were for legal expenses. He said the company maintained a confidential fund for expenditures for which no voucher was taken and no receipt was received. These payments were made upon the assurance of the an executive officer they were all right.

Vice President Grannis knew little about the contributions to campaign funds, but justified them on the same ground as President John A. McCall of the New York Life—that the free silver plank in the Democratic platform was a menace to the interests of the policy holders.

When Mr. Crimmins was called he assumed entire responsibility for the terms of the contracts with C. H. Raymond & Co. by which that firm made such large profits. When the method of the expenditure of the $25,000 items was inquired into, Mr. Crimmins admitted the general solicitor could get $25,000 any time he wanted it without disclosing for what purpose he wanted it, and without rendering any account of it. He further said he never knew where a cent of the money spent by the general solicitor went.

In taking up a detailed list of the company's expenses Dr. Gillette said that the company last year paid $72,000 for luncheons for the employes. It is a custom for the company to furnish their clerks with luncheon. This is at the rate of about $250 a day.

President McCurdy was on the stand all of the afternoon session. He detailed the manner of his entrance into the insurance business. He practiced law for nine years and was counsel for the Widows and Orphans' Benefit Life Insurance Company, of which C. H. Raymond was the president. When the company went out of business Mr. McCurdy went with the Mutual Life.

Mr. McCurdy testified he never knew what Mr. Thebaud (his son-in-law) was getting out of the business of C. H. Raymond & Co., and said he did not think it was any of his business to ask about Mr. Thebaud's personal affairs. He said the company did the business to get the commissions, and that was all he knew.

The fact that Mr. Thebaud's profits from last year's business was $147,000 was a surprise to him, witness said. He never knew when new arrangements or contracts were made with C. H. Raymond & Co. nor whether one contract was more favorable than another. He felt no more responsibility to the policy holders, he said, because his son-in-law was paid so large amounts, than if somebody else's son-in-law had received them.

It was brought out that witness and Dr. Gillette held enough proxies of policyholders to control the board of trustees by electing its members.

Mr. McCurdy said he understood that the policy holders have sufficient confidence in the Mutual to take out policies and leave the management to the officers. "The same person pays the premium voluntarily," continued Mr. McCurdy, "and voluntarily signs a document asking people to vote in his place. There is no other way to do it, if it was not so they would be disfranchised." These proxies are good until revoked, and, replying to Mr. Hughes, witness said he never knew of a proxy being revoked.

TECH APPLICANTS HAVE NO WAITING

Announcements of Prize-Winners in Scholarships Will Be Made Public Friday.

Applicants for admission into the Carnegie Technical schools must make a high standard in the examinations now being held, in order to make the requisite standard to secure a scholarship. The number of applicants has greatly exceeded the capacity of the schools and, in consequence, it has been necessary to raise the standard for examinations. The results will be made known as soon as the papers are examined. On Friday the instructors will be ready to announce the luck of all applicants, and it is probable that the newspapers will receive the returns of the examining board at that time.

There were several hundred applicants yesterday. On the previous day there was a similar turnout of prospective students. The number aggregates more than the present accommodations of the school, and there will be a relative cutting down of the number of those who pass the examinations.

The compilation of the papers will be a tedious task. It is telling no tales out of school to say that all the pupils who presented themselves for examination passed a very high standard. Those who fail will have another chance next fall. Then chances will be easier. Then, it is safe to say, that three-fourths of the applicants will pass, provided they make as good a showing as those who appear this year.

HEARS CALHOUN'S REPORT.

President Goes Over Status of the Venezuela Claims Matter With the Special Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt today discussed the Venezuelan question in detail with Judge W. J. Calhoun, the special commissioner, who has just returned from Venezuela, where he went to ascertain the prices status of the claims of European government's against that country, and their relation to American interests in Venezuela.

The President will discuss the Venezuelan question in his forthcoming message to congress. No determination has been reached yet by this government as to what, if any, action may be taken toward Venezuela, but the action of the government will be predicated upon the report of Judge Calhoun.

To Advance Clark's Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Solicitor General Hoyt today filed a motion in the supreme court of the United States for the advancement of the hearing of the equity case against Senator Clark of Montana, and the Bitter Root Development Company, also of that state, involving the charge of cutting timber on the public lands. The motion was opposed and the court took it into consideration.

Whips Children for Defending Mother.

Thomas Cantwell, an oil driller, arrested four months ago for embracing young women in the street, was given a hearing yesterday by Alderman Kirby on a charge of cruelty made by the Humane society. It is alleged Cantwell abused his wife Sunday morning and when his children, Hazel, aged 13, and John, aged 15, interfered, he beat them with a heavy stick.

LARGE ORDERS COME FOR ELECTRIC MOTORS

Westinghouse Is Called on for Equipment by Chicago and New Haven.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has received two large orders for electrical apparatus, the orders aggregating a value of about one-half million dollars. Both are for electric railway motors. The first is a contract from the South Side Elevated Railway Company of Chicago, for 80 double equipments of 75-horsepower each, which means that 80 of the company's cars are to be equipped with 150-horsepower motors. This is a supplementary order to the one the Westinghouse company received from the Chicago people some six months ago, which represented 70 double equipments of 75-horsepower each. In addition to the order for motors, the cars are to be equipped with the Westinghouse multiple unit switch control.

The other order is from the Consolidated Railways Company of New Haven, Conn., and is even larger than the first named, it representing 57 quadruple equipments of 40-horsepower motors each, and 12 quadruple equipments of 55-horsepower motors each, which means that 57 cars will be equipped with four motors each of 40-horsepower capacity, and 12 cars with four motors of 55-horsepower capacity.

These orders are among the largest contracts for electric railway apparatus that have been given to a single company within the last year.

DO WE GIVE STAMPS?

Yes, if you pay extra for goods you can have a basketful of them. So-called $10.00 worth cost about 15c to 18c.

Do you understand the stamp system? It's just this: You pay the merchant the regular price for his goods, with enough added to make a 3½ or 4 per cent profit for the stamp company on everything you buy.

You know when the stamp companies came to Pittsburgh several years ago, you received premiums for one book; now it takes 2 or 3 books for the same premiums and they want you to pay for having it delivered. You collect $99.00 worth of stamps. What do you get? A cheap trinket. While collecting this many stamps you have paid 3 or 4 times more than the article is worth by paying more for your goods in the different stores.

Tell your merchant you don't want stamps. You will soon find out he will give you better prices and better measure.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

HOWARD WEEPS WHEN BROUGHT INTO COURT

Man Charged With Attempting to Kill a Woman Is Overcome and Can Scarcely Plead.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 10.—Oscar Howard, whose sensational attempt to kill Mrs. William J. Douglass on the street here yesterday caused his arrest, was brought before Mayor Hainer this afternoon and formally charged by Chief of Police Spiers with felonious assault with intent to kill and murder. Howard is represented by Attorney Robert K. Aiken, who advised him to plead not guilty. Howard was overcome and wept so that he could scarcely enter his plea.

His victim, Mrs. Douglass, who was thought yesterday to be dying, rallied today and now has a good chance to live, although she is far from being out of danger.

Howard, who will probably try to explain his action in court on the ground that he was too drunk to know what was transpiring, in an interview this afternoon said: "I was 'dippy' with absinthe and mixed drinks and don't recollect anything about the shooting. After I was arrested I did not know what it was all about and could not recognize anybody's face in the crowd. All I could see was a crowd of people, and I knew something terrible had happened, but didn't know I was concerned in it."

William J. Douglass denies all stories about his wife.

Howard says Mrs. Douglass used to drop notes to him out of the third-story apartments in Long avenue, where she lived with her husband and Mrs. Hill for two years. Howard will be given a hearing before Mayor Hainer Thursday morning, and was remanded to jail without bail until that time.

HONOR THE MEMORY OF THE LATE CAPT. DRAVO

ROCHESTER, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the members of the Merrill dam opening celebration association held here last night, a permanent organization was effected to be known as the Dravo Waterways Improvement association of Beaver county. The association was named after the late Capt. John F. Dravo of Beaver, who was the president of the temporary organization. First Vice President James R. Leaf of Rochester presided and there was quite a good representation of the members from different towns in the Beaver valley.

Vice President Thayer Promoted.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—J. B. Thayer was not only elected fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company today, but he was put in charge of all the traffic departments of the company. He was also advanced from fifth vice president to fourth by the boards of the West Jersey & Sea Shore, the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington railroads, and the Northern Central Railway Company. At the meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad Samuel Rea, fourth vice president, was advanced to the position of third vice president, Fifth Vice President Thayer was made fourth vice president, and Sixth Vice President Tatnall was promoted to fifth vice president. The office of the sixth vice president was abolished.

Board Makes Appointments.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—The board of public grounds and buildings today appointed Norman Bortz of Allentown, superintendent of construction of the new state insane hospital to be erected near that city, and Oscar E. Thompson of Phoenixville, engineers for a state bridge to be built over the Lycoming creek near Williamsport.

Physician Chokes to Death.

MOUNT VERNON, O., Oct. 10.—Dr. Abisha S. Hudson, 86 years old, died last night. He choked to death on a fig. He founded Keokuk Medical college and contributed much to medical science. He was known widely over the country. A widow survives him.

The Death Roll.

B. F. Barras, for 30 years an engineer on the Allegheny Valley railroad, died at the Allegheny General hospital at 2 p. m. yesterday from apoplexy. He was stricken while on his engine in the yards at Thirty-first street on September 25, and was removed to his daughter's home, 810 James street, Allegheny, and the next day was taken to the hospital. For many years his home was in Oil City, where he was a member of Latonia lodge, 1018, I. O. O. F. and R. B. Hays post of the G. A. R. and the A. O. U. W. His funeral will be conducted by Park lodge, 973, I. O. O. F. and J. B. Lysle post, 128, G. A. R. of Allegheny, and will take place from the residence of his son, Percy Barras of 1826 Lowry street, Allegheny, on Friday at 2 p. m. He is survived by his widow and six children—Percy, Benjamin, Adelaide, Howard, Joseph and Urets, and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Daniel Kelly.

Mrs. Mary Kelly, aged 63, one of the oldest residents of Esplen, died at her home, 902 River avenue, last Monday morning as a result of general debility brought on by old age. Mrs. Kelly was born in Ireland and came to this country when quite young. For a time she made her home in New York, and it was there that she married Daniel Kelly, shortly after which she with her husband, came to Esplen, where they have resided for 30 years. Mrs. Kelly is survived by her husband and eight children, Daniel Kelly, Jr., Patrick and Edward, all of whom reside in the vicinity of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Annie Wiseman of this city; Mrs. Mayme Gruninger of New York; Mrs. Rose McKenna of New York, and the Misses Dolly and Nellie at home.

Jacob P. Miller.

Jacob P. Miller, aged 51, of the firm of Philip Miller & Brothers, florists, died last night at 11:15 o'clock at his home on Termon avenue, Allegheny, after six days' illness of pneumonia. He was born in Allegheny and has been engaged in the florist business for over 25 years. Mr. Miller never married, and leaves his two brothers, Philip and John, with whom he was associated in business, and a sister, of Cleveland, O.

Dr. Henry Varley Potroff.

Dr. Henry Varley Potroff, aged 30, assistant surgeon at the Homestead steel works for the last eight years, died shortly before noon yesterday at his home, 28 Hardison avenue, Munhall, of congestion of the lungs. He was a graduate of the University of Buffalo. His widow and one son survive. The remains will be taken to Buffalo for burial.

Obituary Notes.

George G. Hummell, a printer and member of the International Typographical union, died Sunday night at his home, 1522 Penn avenue, of hemorrhage. He came to Pittsburgh from Youngstown, O., in 1889. His widow and four children survive.

John E. Keiner, aged 46, former alderman of the Ninth ward, died Sunday of heart disease at his home, 1234 Penn avenue. He conducted the Hotel Jack in Penn avenue.

Word was received at New Castle yesterday of the death at Philadelphia of Mrs. Cora Worrell Alford, wife of the Rev. Charles M. Alford and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Worrell of New Castle. She was 38 years of age. She is survived by her husband, parents, one brother and one sister.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 10.—The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh synod, Evangelical Lutheran church, opened its 26th annual convention in Grace Lutheran church here today. Mrs. John Weidley of the Highland Avenue Lutheran church, Pittsburgh, made the opening prayer.

Mrs. Rev. Jacob C. Nicholas of Butler delivered the address of welcome, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. William H. Nicholas of Allegheny, responded. A general discussion of the subject, "Our Best Effort for the Year," followed.

This evening Mrs. H. C. Reller of Aspinwall, vice president of the society, presided. The president, Mrs. Robert H. Hay of Allegheny, delivered her annual address and Mrs. C. P. Wiles of Pittsburgh delivered an excellent address on mission work. Reports of the mission work of the English Lutheran conferences will be received Wednesday morning.

COMPLETION OF MERGER.

Capital Stock of Electric Railway Company Is Turned Over to a New Concern.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The action of the directors of the Pennsylvania & Mahoning Valley Electric railway line in selling the properties to the new $10,000,000 mortgaged company known as the Shenango & Mahoning Valley Light & Power Company was formally ratified at a meeting of the stockholders here this afternoon at the general offices of the company.

Over 98 per cent of the capital stock of $8,000,000 was represented. The stock was turned over to James Blackburn of Youngstown as a formality in the completion of the merger. The other lines taken into the consolidation are the New Castle-Sharon, and the Youngtown-Sharon interurban lines.

CHARGE TRAINMASTER WITH MANSLAUGHTER

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—County Detective Harry J. Bentley of Carlisle, today arrested Trainmaster George O. Sarvis of the Philadelphia & Reading railway, on a charge of criminal negligence and manslaughter in connection with the wreck at Roushs curve, September 21, in which six trainmen lost their lives. The bail was fixed at $8,000 and was promptly furnished. The hearing will not take place until Sarvis, who was injured in the wreck, is able to go to Carlisle.

ITALIANS DEMAND LIFE OF AN AMERICAN BOSS

Town of Midland Is the Scene of a Riot During Entire Day. Return to Work.

BEAVER, Oct. 10.—Three hundred Italian workmen at Midland, the new steel town south of Beaver, today marched through the streets and fields near the town, demanding the life of an American boss by the name of Lawler. The boss, the Italians claimed, had kicked and beaten one of their fellow workmen, and they demanded revenge.

The trouble is said to have occurred yesterday afternoon but the Italian workmen remained quiet until this morning when they started out with the avowed intention of finding the boss and beating his life out. One hundred of the men carried pickhandles, and at their head marched a man with a 15-foot flagstaff on which was a small American flag. Cries of "Where is Lawler?" and "Kill the boss!" were heard from all throats.

The Americans heard the Italians coming and were quick to act. Lawler ran from his boarding house and boarded a switch engine which was standing near and was carried to safety. It is thought he went to East Liverpool, but this is not affirmed. The dense fog which was prevailing at the time aided in his escape.

The Italians kept up their demonstration until late this afternoon, and practically all work in the town was suspended, as they would not let the employes of the steel company work. Late this afternoon the Italians returned to their work, and are still working, but they are grumbling and dissatisfied.

SELECT ORATORS FOR BIG RALLY

Local Speakers Will Talk for the Whole Republican Ticket at Old City Hall Meeting.

BARR LOSES A SPELLBINDER

Plans for the opening mass meeting of the Republican campaign have been about perfected by H. G. Wilson, chairman of the committee on meetings and speakers. The rally will be held in Old City hall on Saturday night. Local speakers will talk for the whole Republican ticket, from state treasurer to poor director.

W. T. Bradberry of Allegheny, has been selected for chairman of the meeting. The speakers will be Congressman James F. Burke, Daniel Ashworth, Charles A. O'Brien and Perry A. Shaner. Several of the candidates for county offices will also make addresses.

"The speakers at Saturday night's meeting and every other Republican meeting held during this campaign," said Chairman Ford, "will talk for the whole Republican ticket, and I mean by that the candidates for state and county offices. We are fighting for the whole Republican ticket, and it is the only Republican ticket before the voters this fall. While the speakers will devote themselves generally to local matters, our orators will not lose sight of the state candidates."

In addition to the Old City hall meeting, the Republicans will hold big gatherings in Allegheny, the East End, the South Side, Braddock and McKeesport. The organization of clubs will arrange for a large rally in Old City hall. It will be addressed by speakers from other parts of the state.

W. H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic candidate for state treasurer, will speak in McKeesport Saturday night. Col. J. M. Guffey will also have Berry play a return engagement in the county about November 3 and 4. At that time a meeting is to be held in Pittsburgh and others in Braddock and Sharpsburg. These meetings will be in charge of the Democrats who wanted him indorsed by the Citizens.

F. X. Barr, chairman of the meetings and speakers committee for the Fusionists, is still losing his speakers. Yesterday it was announced that G. N. Munro would not make speeches for the pledge-breakers. There was a revival of the story yesterday that Barr had said he would resign from the fusion ticket if Plummer was indorsed by the Citizens. A Democrat was found who said Barr had made this statement to him on three different occasions. Barr is still a candidate for clerk of courts and will probably not resign.

John Campbell, of Crafton, has gone over to the Citizens. Two years ago he flopped from the Citizens to the Republicans, and now he has hopped back. Yesterday he resigned a clerkship in the prothonotary's office, the salary of which is $125 a month. He gives as his reason that he was not satisfied with the recent Republican primaries. Mr. Campbell is now at the Citizens headquarters.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR DAY.

Many Members of the Society Will Meet This Afternoon at Exposition.

Special Musical Program.

Tomorrow will be "Christian Endeavor Day" at the Exposition. Invitations were extended to the various social organizations connected with the churches, and hundreds have signified their intention of gathering together during the afternoon. Sorrentino and the Banda Rossa, in honor of the Christian Endeavorers, has arranged a program especially suited to their tastes for both the afternoon and evening concerts.

Sorrentino's concert last night included one of Sorrentino's own compositions, the "Electric March." Bizet's overture, "Dramatique Patrie" and Herbert's "Panamericana" were heartily encored during the first part of the program, while the harp solo of Signor V. Fanelli aroused more enthusiasm than has been accorded any harp player for some time in Pittsburgh. Signor G. Bottega, the solo trumpeter, by his rendition of Gounod's "Ave Maria," scored a veritable triumph. The following is the program for this afternoon:

2 P. M.

March, "Le Pere et La Victoire".....Ganne
Overture, "If I Were King".....Adam
Serenade, "The Stars to the Moon".....Sorrentino
Paraphrase, "Nearer My God to Thee".....Reeves
Grand Selection from "L'Africaine".....Meyerbeer

4 P. M.

Waltz, "Fra le Nubi".....Capitano
Selected Harp Solo.....Sig. V. Fanelli
Reminiscences of All Nations. Arr. by Godfrey
"Hearts and Flowers".....Tobani
"It Happened in Nordland".....Herbert

SMITH DODGES HIGHWAYMAN AND OPENS WITH REVOLVER

Hays Smith, proprietor of the Groff hotel, Duquesne, who lives in the Tenth ward, McKeesport, early yesterday morning narrowly escaped being robbed by highwaymen near his home. He was commanded to halt, while in a dark part of the street, but he dodged behind a pole and drew his revolver. He fired two shots after a fleeing form, but failed to hit. An hour later Charles O. Henderson was arrested on suspicion.

"Strongheart" at the Nixon.

Every college boy will recognize many familiar types in "Strongheart," the play of Columbia varsity life in which Robert Edeson is to be presented by Henry B. Harris at the Nixon next week. William C. De Mille, the author, who is a Columbia boy, has written cleverly of the life he knows and a glance at his characters shows many of the well-known figures of college life. Foremost there is Strongheart, the college bred Indian in which role Mr. Edeson has won a signal success. Seat sale opens Thursday morning.

Precautions Against Cold.

We are all confronted by the problem how to prevent colds during the changeable weather. It is a mistake to bundle up the throat and turn up the coat collar, for, on the first warmer day, off comes the muffler and a cold is the result.

A cold is the result of chilling the body suddenly. It is to our underwear that we must direct our attention. Underwear must answer three requirements. It must be quite porous to allow ventilation. It must be a non-conductor of heat. It must be absorbent to keep the body dry.

There seems to be only one that fully answers the purpose and maintains an unvarying temperature of the body, and that is Wright's Health Underwear. It is woven in loops which can never mat or close and which not only absorb the moisture but carry it off. The skin being perfectly ventilated and kept dry, cannot become chilled. The air spaces act as non-conductors of heat, keeping in the bodily warmth and keeping out external cold.

Sudden changes are not felt; the body is always at the normal temperature. You need not fear to go from a warm room to the cold air outside. You need not fear to have the window open and let in the pure, fresh air.

Wright's Health Underwear is a simple scientific safeguard against colds and consequent disease, costing no more than ordinary underwear of good quality.

An interesting and instructive booklet may be had by writing to the makers, Wright's Health Underwear Co., 76 Franklin Street, New York, N. Y.

TEACHERS TURNED DOWN BY BOARD

Refuses to Change Salaries or Grant Another Examination to Those Who Failed.

SUSTAINS THE COMMISSION

A vigorous protest from the Pittsburgh Teachers' association, reinforced by a demand for an investigation from the Sterrett sub-district school board, availed nothing with the central board of education last night, that body sustaining the salary commission. The central board refused to make any change in salaries or to grant another examination. It also refused to entertain the objections from the Sterrett board. It was agreed that nothing more in regard to teachers' salaries should be done this year. The discussion of the teachers' recent examinations for promotion and advance in salaries, and the failure of many of them to pass, consumed almost the entire evening.

Mr. Jamison moved to refer the communication from the Sterrett board to the committee on teachers and salaries. Mr. O'Toole said the board ought to ascertain if the commission had done what was expected of it. Mr. McIlroy said the teachers had asked for a commission and got it.

McIlroy Roasts Teachers.

"If a dozen disgruntled teachers are raising a disturbance it is no reason for the board to turn tail," said he. Mr. Jamison said the committee on teachers and salaries should be given the communication of the Sterrett board and permitted to answer the charges. Mr. Easton amended by moving that the communication be received and filed. Mr. O'Toole, taking the side of the complaining teachers, said he wanted the matter threshed out. J. D. Sweeney said the matter was settled for a year. Dr. Reinecke proposed if any change was made, to go back to the schedule of last year, but said he did not think the teachers would favor that.

Mr. Yellig wanted the salary commission to make a report to the central board. President Gillespie said the rules did not provide for the commission to report to the central board. After further debate the communication from the Sterrett board was filed and Mr. Shaw renewed the attack by presenting a communication from the Pittsburgh Teachers' association, declaring an injustice had been done some of their number in "limiting the investigation of the salary commission to ability for rapid expression of thought and ignoring most of the requisites for a successful teacher."

Ask for Another Chance.

The teachers asked that those who had failed to come up to the requirements of the commission for classification in Class B be given private information wherein they failed to meet the requirements, and they be given an immediate opportunity to rectify these mistakes. The communication from the teachers was filed and the secretary instructed to notify them that no change would be made this year.

Just before adjournment Mr. McTighe made a new attack by proposing that the teachers who failed be given another examination as soon as possible, and that the result and average of each teacher be made public. President Gillespie ruled Mr. McTighe's resolution out of order.

Upon the suggestion of President Gillespie the board increased the number of the committee to supervise the construction of the new high school from seven to nine teachers. Two additional teachers each were granted to the Franklin, Minersville and Brushton schools, and one each to the Peebles, Howard, Mt. Albion and Beltzhoover schools.

Ready for Royal Nuptials.

GLUECKSBURG, SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN, Oct. 10.—This little town presents an unusual appearance in its gala decoration for the marriage tomorrow of Prince Charles Edward, duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, a nephew of King Edward, with Princess Victoria Adelheid, eldest daughter of Duke Frederick of Schleswig Holstein Sonderburg Gluecksburg, and neice of Empress Augusta Victoria. The emperor and empress arrived this forenoon, and all the imperial princes are here except Crown Prince Frederick William.

Increase Laboring Force.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The force of men at work on the extension of the Greensburg & Southern street railway from Youngwood to Mt. Pleasant was increased this morning by almost 200 men, and it is believed that cars will be running to Hecla before the first of the new year.

PENNSYLVANIA ATTORNEY TAKES ISSUE WITH MAYOR

Produces Contract to Prove That Liberty Avenue Will Not Be Paved With Asphalt.

Liberty avenue will not be paved with asphalt when the Pennsylvania railroad tracks are removed from the avenue, notwithstanding the assertion of Mayor Hays. The mayor claims that his administration is entitled to public support, because, he says, it has made a contract with the Pennsylvania company to pave Liberty avenue with asphalt.

Thomas Patterson, attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, who prepared the ordinance for the removal of the tracks from Liberty avenue, stated yesterday that the ordinance contains no clause requiring the street to be paved with asphalt. On the contrary, he said, the street would be repaved with block stone, the same material with which it is now paved. The contract which the company made with the city, he says, simply provides that the company shall "repave" Liberty avenue, from Eleventh street to Water street, at its own expense. "The word 'repave' is very plain," said Mr. Patterson. "It means that the street is to be paved with the same material that's down there now."

Lecture for the Socialist Party.

Walter Thomas Mills of Chicago, will lecture on "The Suicide of Capitalism," at old city hall tonight under the auspices of the Socialist party of Allegheny county. Mr. Mills is principal of the International School of Social Economy of Chicago and author of the book "The Struggle Existence."

GLAD OF THE INJUNCTION

Court Order Meets the Approval of All Honorable Firms.

A great deal of interest has been aroused among the shoe dealers of Pittsburgh and Allegheny by the injunction issued by Common Pleas Court No. 2 restraining certain firms from the further use of the word "Carter" in the sale of shoes.

It is learned that some firms have been guilty of infringing upon the rights of the Griswold Shoe Company for a considerable time, and the concern in question went into court as a matter of self protection.

A tour of the leading shoe houses developed the fact that merchants of the better class are very glad that the injunction has been issued, for it is conceded on all sides that such infringement as has been practiced is not only contemptible, but demoralizing to the shoe business, to say nothing of the loss sustained by customers who buy one make of shoes under the impression that they are buying another make.

It might as well be known now that the only firm that has any right to sell the "Carter" shoe is the Griswold Shoe Company, 217 Smithfield St., Pittsburgh. The public should know this for its own protection, and every man who wants a pair of the BEST shoes on the market would do well to keep in mind the fact that the "Carter" shoe is the "shoe for tender feet."

Be sure you get the right shoe and you will have no cause to complain as to the condition of your feet or the durability of your footwear.

SOUVENIR GIFT

CONFIDENT that the public would appreciate a valuable memento of such an unusually beautiful and successful suburb as Brookline, we have had manufactured to our order thousands of sterling or solid silver souvenir spoons (tea size) with landscape view showing Brookline Boulevard and the cars passing over the great new 15-minute trolley line artistically embossed in the bowl.

The embossing on the handle is equally superb.

Jewelers tell us it is the handsomest souvenir spoon of any description that could possibly be conceived.

It will be presented free, purely as a gift, to all persons who may visit the property and there secure the escort or indorsement of one of our representatives.

The spoons will not be presented to children, and will not obligate the recipients to make purchases. But as the gift was planned with the motive of inducing everybody who visits Brookline to examine the quality of its improvements, so that they can describe these to their friends or neighbors, none of the spoons will be presented before the applicants have been escorted over the property.

SUCCESS in life depends on the possession of one or two requisites. If you haven't either of them you cannot succeed. The only way to learn whether you possess them is to put yourself to the test. Follow the people who go where money can be made. Visit the Second Ward of Brookline while the excitment is high and you can measure your ideas by the judgment of men who know where and when to buy.

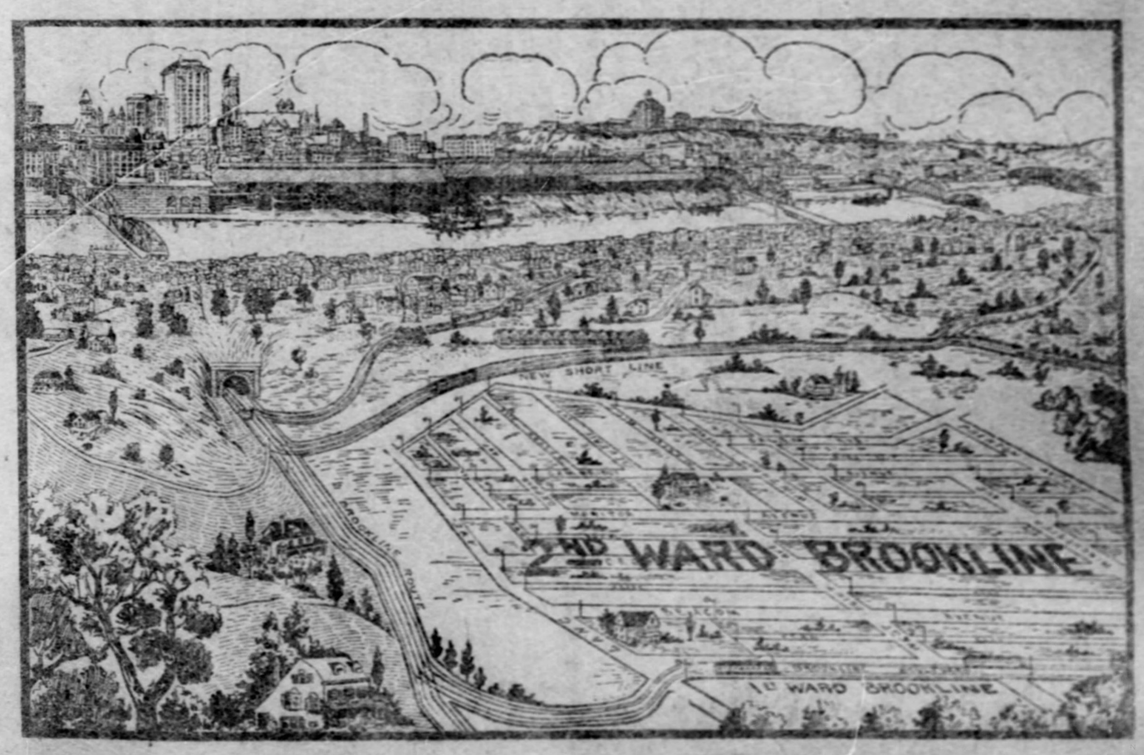
One thing, especially you must think on! Scarce had the First Ward of Brookline been sold off when purchasers of lots commenced building homes. Fine store buildings are going up on the Boulevard, and from this point up to Lexington Avenue nice residences are becoming numerous. All of which shows whether the faith of the public is with Brookline. Whether the faith of the public will continue with Brookline!

But what else besides the faith of the public is necessary to make the Second Ward of this Great White City sell as fast as the First Ward did? What else, since every civic and street improvement that can be thought of is being installed?

WHAT ELSE! WHAT ELSE!

We answer, "MUCH ELSE!" More money! Enormously more money, to fulfill the mighty promises that were made with the launching of the First Ward and must be carried out with the launching of the Second Ward!

The Second Ward, that will be fully as desirable as the First Ward! That is located on the other side of the Boulevard just as close to the city as the First Ward. That will have more improvements, because the capitalists that are founding this Great New White City, encouraged by the many times greater success with their sale of the First Ward than any shrewd prophet could have expected, are untying the strings to their reserve purses with a will that tells its own story and puts the destiny of the next large residential population of Pittsburgh so surely and safely along Brookline Boulevard that there's not a real estate man anywhere who does not see this dawning of the inevitable.



The Second Ward, like the First Ward, will have graded, sewered, paved and macadamized streets, granolithic-stone sidewalks, city water, natural gas and electric lights will be placed at all the crossings.

Most of the lots are 40x120 feet, run back to alleys and front on either paved or macadamized streets. No dust or mud to walk through, notwithstanding prices range as low as $75 to $1,000, on our regular terms of 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly for balance, with no interest or taxes for you to pay for two years.

GAME TODAY.

New York at Philadelphia.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—When two well-trained ball teams are pitted against each other with the points covered by men of acknowledged cleverness, there is always a doubt as to the outcome until the game is completed. The truth of this was proved today, when in the second game of the world's championship series the Philadelphia champions of the American league defeated the National league champions on the Polo grounds. Yesterday on the Philadelphia grounds, McGraw's men defeated Manager Mack's team by a score of 3 to 0, and today, when the latter visited this city, they just reversed the score, shutting out the locals.

The visitors put in their Indian pitcher, Bender, with Schreckengost to handle him, against McGinnity and Bresnahan. The visiting battery was excellently supported, as was the local end for two innings. But in the third inning Gilbert made a costly error, which gave the visitors a lead which they never relinquished. McGinnity was relieved in the latter half of the eighth inning, Strang batting in his stead and Ames going into the box. The change did not prove effective, however.

In the third inning Schreck sent a grounder to Gilbert, who threw wildly to first, and the friends of the local team groaned when the batter was safe. Bender made a neat sacrifice. Hartsel tried to send the ball to the boundary, but was an easy out. Lord, the next up, was the right man in the pinch and hit single to center, scoring Schreck. Davis was thrown out by Dahlen and the inning ended in favor of the Philadelphians, who had tallied one run.

There was a ding-dong game of fast plays until the seventh inning, when it looked as though the home players might tie the score, but Donlin just got as far as third, only to be left there after making a double and reaching that station on a fly to right field. This was the nearest point to the home plate that McGraw managed to get a man.

Monte Cross struck out at the beginning of the eighth inning, but Schreck singled to left. Browne made a beautiful long running catch of Bender's foul fly. Hartsel then doubled to left, but the relay throw from Mertes through Devlin to the plate was dropped by Bresnahan and Schreck scored. This was another run made on an error. Then Lord singled, bring Hartsel in with the final run of the game.

In the latter half of the eighth inning the visiting team was charged with its first misplay. Devlin had singled and Lord had caught an easy fly from Gilbert. Strang batted for McGinnity, but fanned. Monte Cross fumble of a grounder from Bresnahan gave some hope of a tally, but this died away when Browne was thrown out by Murphy.

Ames went in to pitch for New York in the first half of the ninth, and gave Love Cross a base on balls. Seybold flied to Donlin for the third time. Murphy singled, and matters looked promising for an addition to Philadelphia's score, but Monte Cross fanned and Schreck was an easy victim from Ames to Gilbert.

Murphy's fumble of Donlin's grounder was the second bad mark against the visitors. This happened at the opening of the last half of the concluding inning. McGann drew a pass, but Mertes flied to M. Cross. The next two men, Dahlen and Devlin, met the same fate, Murphy and Davis being responsible for their dismissal and the ending of the game.

The Philadelphians went back to their home town tonight and the New York team will go to Philadelphia in the morning to decide the third contest in the series. Attendance 24,392. Score:

Lyceum Has Hard Practice.

Coach Bird put the Lyceum eleven through some unusually hard practice on the Pittsburgh college field last night. Nearly the entire squad turned out, and every man is straining himself to get in shape for the game with Toledo. Besides running the regular eleven through signal practice Coach Bird had the men practice on some new plays. Lyceum was in communication with the management of the W. and J. eleven yesterday, and last night wired that it could not arrange a game for the coming Saturday, for fear of weakening the players on the eve of the contest with Toledo.

Kinney Makes the Biggest String.

M'MECHEN, W. VA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The fourth annual tournament of the Ohio Valley Sportsman's league attracted crack shots from many points. This league won the Pallisite cup in competition with the Monongahela Valley league by a score of 107 to 104 out of a possible 125. The largest consecutive number of birds, 49 out of 50, was scored by C. P. Kinney of McMechen.

The Hunting Season.

Nimrod was a mighty hunter, but had he hunted in the "Highlands of Ontario" that are reached by the Grand Trunk Railway System he would have been a mightier one. Nimrod hunted for glory, but those who go up into the several districts in Ontario hunt for game and have no difficulty in finding it. The regions in which deer abound are the "Muskoka Lake," "Lake of Bays," "Maganetawan River," "Georgian Bay," "Lake Nipissing," the "French River," "Kawartha Lakes" and on the line of the Canada Atlantic between Scotia Junction and the boundary of Algonquin Park. The open season is from November 1st to November 15th.

For moose, the best region in Canada is found in Temagami, where the season opens October 16th and continues until November 15th.

The open season for ducks in Ontario is from September 1st to December 15th and for partridge September 15th to December 15th.

A beautifully illustrated book, "Haunts of Fish and Game," giving descriptions of the different hunting districts, game laws, maps, etc., sent free on application to W. Robinson, Traveling Passenger Agent, 596 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 10.—Spurred by the coaches as if they found it fun to see it done, the college elevens today scored three clean touchdowns against the Yale 'varsity team in less than 15 minutes. Ralph Bloomer coached the rush line, Frank Hinkey the ends and Rockwell had charge of Wiley, Linn, Levine and Lines in the back field. They put such speed into the scrubs than the bigger varsity team was torn apart in the rush line and the back field defense was literally scattered. Substitutes and trainers' assistants who followed the play expressed amazement at the quality and strength of play shown by Wiley, the big freshman half back, who hails from Hill school. He has never before had a good trying-out. He scored two of the three touchdowns.

All the scoring was done by a strong offense which consisted of quick wing shifts and massing of strength at alternate sides of the line, Wiley started with a spurt and fought his way around ends or through the line for gains of four to eight yards at a time. After the scrubs had carried the ball the length of the field for their first score they were given the ball twice at the varsity 10-yard line. The second score came in five plays. The third came not so quickly, as fumbles marred play.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The somewhat encouraging play of the past few days was again displayed this afternoon by the Tigers' work on the part of the varsity. The scrub tore through for gains on line-bucking in a way that was a surprise, even after the many phases in which weakness of the varsity have of late been coming out in unpleasant relief, for whatever may have been the sins that so far accrue to the team's debit column, the scrub has never been able to make the opposite head way against the line of the varsity, and the gains they have made have been on end work and good running and punting. Today, however, they bored through tackle and guard like an animated gimlet, and once rushed the pigskin dangerously near the varsity's goal. The varsity made a touchdown in the second half by blocking a kick, and rushing it back by one of the few pieces of creditable work that was shown during the afternoon. O'Brien and Fryer were at end and failed to show up in their usual form. They made some bad tackles and did ragged work generally.

The work of the back field was, on the whole, of a more consistent nature, and McCormick in particular played the game. Dillon is doing work at quarter that gladdens the eyes of the coaches, and though he is a comparatively raw man, his playing gives little evidence of the fact. What faults he has are receiving the care of the coaches, and Dillon shows a promising quickness about learning. Brasher has not been at end for some days, but as it would hardly be possible for O'Brien to replace him this year, it seems likely that the coaches are trying to save Brasher till a bit later.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Captain Dan Hurley of the Harvard varsity eleven will not figure in any more scrimmages on Soldiers' Field gridiron until after the game with West Point, which takes place up the Hudson on Saturday, October 21. Bill Starr, quarter back on the varsity team last year, returned to the squad this afternoon and took his old place on the first eleven. He will give signals in the first half of tomorrow's game with Bates, but may give way to Newhall or Quigley in the second half in case his injured ankle bothers him. Coach Reid shifted Nesmith to left half back today and he will start the game there tomorrow, with Charley Leonard as first substitute. Wendell will play right half back and Carr is booked for another trial at full back. Mongomery will alternate with Brill at left tackle and Fultz or Spear will succeed Squires at right tackle. Cunniff, the big center, is bothered with a weak knee and White will again snap the ball back.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—A large number of the Cornell varsity men were absent from practice this afternoon because of their university work, and no scrimmage was held on Percy field, except for a 15-minute half between the Ithaca High school and the Cornell scrubs, in which the latter was able to score but two touchdowns. Because there is no game scheduled Saturday, the varsity is being given a rest this week and very little hard work will be done. Much attention was given the linemen this afternoon in making quick charges at the pass of the ball, under the direction of Coach Kent. Slowness in charging is one of the main evils at present.

Allegheny.

MEADVILLE, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Allegheny's football team returned from Geneva in pretty bad shape, physically, as nearly every regular is more or less bruised. At the first practice only six of the regular men were in uniform. Of the back field men Aiken is completely laid up with an unusually severe charley horse. Bridge is hardly able to walk with a bruised heel and Stidger and Braymer are nearly as badly off. Of the line men Brown, Glesey and McSwinton are in a pretty bad way, as most of Geneva's line bucks were directed at their positions. Although somewhat disheartened by Saturday's defeat, every man declares that with an even break of luck the score would have been entirely different, as both of Geneva's touchdowns were of the fluke order and both made within the first five minutes of play. Allegheny threw away several good chances to score by offside play, being penalized 80 yards in all for this offense. In view of the fact that the next game, that with Westminster next Saturday, is one of the most important of the year, on account of the rivalry existing between these schools, and the physical conditions of the players, Coach Rickey will put the regulars through only light practice for the remainder of this week.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson football team had a hard practice this evening in preparation for the game tomorrow afternoon with Geneva. Spect and James, on account of injuries, will not be able to play, but the other men are in fine condition. Washington and Jefferson expects a hard contest. Pittsburgh Lyceum will probably be here on Saturday.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The University of Pennsylvania football team plays its fourth game of the year tomorrow afternoon with Franklin and Marshall college as its opponent. Although the up-state collegians are not thought to be very strong this fall, the Quaker coaches are unwilling to take any risks, especially after their experience with Gettysburg a week ago, and their strongest lineup will be presented against the visitors. The squad today had an indifferent practice. All of the varsity men, with the exception of Ziegler, were out for the preliminary practice, but only about half of them lined up for the scrimmage with the scrubs. Stevenson and Draper were both sent to the training house early in the practice.

WAGNER GETS AN OVATION

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CANTON, O., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Wagner's Pirates attracted between 400 and 500 people to Mahaffey park yesterday afternoon to see them play horse with the Canton team, of the Central league. Many of the local players had already gone to their homes, leaving the team in a crippled condition. It was a listless game from start to finish, with only a few brilliant plays. As long as the visitors had plenty to the good they took their ease and only six of the local players went to bat in the last two innings. Wagner was given an ovation every time he went to the bat. TRAVELING AUTO SHOW.

The 1906 Model Winton Automobile Is on View Here in Palatial Railroad Car.

A trans-continental automobile show is in town and is now open to visitors at Union station where it will remain today and tomorrow. This distinct novelty owes its existence to the Winton Motor Carriage Company, which, determined to introduce its new model to the public months in advance of the usual mid-winter automobile shows at New York and Chicago, has chartered a magnificent special car and is displaying the Winton model K at all the big automobile centers between Boston and San Francisco. The purpose of the company in carrying out this unique enterprise, in addition to introducing its new cars far ahead of the shows, is to give its agents in each city the most careful instruction in the points of advantage and the care and operation of model K. For this purpose, two mechanical experts accompany the exposition.

The exhibition car is magnificently finished in snow white and gold, with floor covering of green. More than 500 incandescent electric lights, arranged in a row on either side of the car, above an attractive gold frieze gives the car brilliant light. At one end of the car is the business office of the company's general manager, Chas. B. Shanks, elegantly furnished in solid oak, heavy furniture and antique rugs.

The show space occupies more than one-half of the 60-foot car, and here are displayed one complete model K in royal blue and one highly polished chassis, showing the mechanical features of the car to best advantage. Miscellaneous parts are displayed on stands at the end of the exhibition car, which also houses a model K, finished in Brewster green and red, which car is used on the streets for demonstration purposes, in each city where the exposition holds forth.

The exterior of the exhibition car is gorgeous in oil paintings on sheet metal, the views being of the model K, the enormous Winton factory at Cleveland and the Winton executives.

The exposition trip began at Cleveland, September 24, and will not be finished until Thanksgiving day, the final stop being at Los Angeles.

PASSED UP NOSE GUARD; NOW IN THE HOSPITAL

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Bleeding at the nose constantly as a result of his fierce encounter with the Ohio State university team last Saturday, Curtis Laughbaum of the Wittenburg eleven was taken to the City hospital this afternoon. It is feared that his case may result very seriously. Laughbaum refused to wear a nose guard, and in the scrimmage that organ was badly mashed. It began to bleed and all efforts to stop it have proved of no avail. Nothing was thought of the bleeding until Sunday night, when he almost bled to death. Monday he felt better, but today his nose began bleeding again and his physician advised that he be taken to the hospital. It is said that his condition is not due so much to the football game as from the subsequent worry and excitement.

Independent Baseball.

Pitcher Billy Thomas of Youngstown will pitch for the Louisville team next season. Thomas is a coming pitcher. He beat the Chicago National league team last week for Youngstown.

Walter East, who managed the Akron team this year, has announced that he will have nothing to do with the managerial position next year. President Charles Morton of the Protective association has been offered the management, but he refuses. Morton is mentioned as the probable president of the Central league for next season.

All Eyes on Homestead Today.

The Pirates will play at Homestead this afternoon against an all-star team. The game will begin at 3 o'clock and a large crowd is expected to attend to help along the good cause. The Pirates have been winning lately by a slim margin, and intend today to show their real caliber. Deacon Phillippe will pitch for them. Lew Moren will be on the rubber for the stars, who will bat as follows: Cargo, shortstop; Miller, second; Orbin, left field; Calhoun, first; Lobert, third; Killen, right field; Seliers, middle field; Piper, catcher; Moren, pitcher.

Another Speeder for Pittsburgh.

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Judge L. B. McFarland, Memphis, has sold to J. D. Callery, Pittsburgh, for $4,000, his five-year-old bay gelding Turley that won the Walnut Hall stake here yesterday, taking a record of 2:07¼. Turley is by French Plate, dam Ellma, and has been trained and raced this season by Ed Geers. He will be used for matinee.

BIGELOW'S DEBUT ON THE PLATFORM

Presides and Makes Speech at the Opening of East Liberty Branch Library.

CABLE IS SENT TO CARNEGIE

Throwing aside the responsibilities of a ruler of a political party and the government of a big city for a few hours, Director Bigelow appeared in the new role of an orator and public presiding officer last night, at the opening of the $175,000 Carnegie library branch of East Liberty, at Station street and Larimer avenue. Director Bigelow's maiden effort in this line was one of the most interesting features of the exercises.

Clad in a long Prince Albert coat, that made his six feet of form look like eight, smiling and bowing to the audience and speakers, Mr. Bigelow was by all odds the stellar attraction. The audience was composed of about 1,500 persons, including some of the most prominent residents of the East End. The auditorium of the new building was crowded to the doors. On the stage were seated the trustees and officials of Carnegie library, the presiding officer and speakers and leading members and officers of the Pittsburgh board of trade, which organization was given the credit for being largely instrumental in securing the branch library for the East End.

Talks on Carnegie.

A. G. Roenigk, a member of the city councils and a director of the Pittsburgh board of trade, presented Mr. Bigelow to the audience as a "man who does things." After lauding him as the father of the parks and boulevards, Mr. Roenigk confided to his audience, something which he has talked of before, that Mr. Bigelow proposes more pleasures for the people. He said that the 169 acres of land adjoining Highland park, which had been given to the city by the Pennsylvania railroad in return for ground taken for the Brilliant cut-off, was to be converted into a public playgrounds with golf links and other amusements.

"Many of you here have often, in going through the parks and driving over the boulevards, wondered what Mr. Bigelow looked like. You can see him now," and the man who runs the city government and the Citizens party, stepped to the front, bowing deeply and smiling.

Mr. Bigelow read his speech from manuscript, which covered two typewritten pages. His theme was Pittsburgh, and Andrew Carnegie, the donor of the library.

Carnegie No Longer Sneered At.

I think there are few people who appreciate more than I do the greatness of the philanthropies of Mr. Carnegie, said he. From the time when his plans for the benefit of Pittsburgh and her people were in embryo until now it has been my pleasure to have somewhat of his confidence and it is for this reason an unalloyed pleasure to assist in the dedication of this magnificent structure, dedicated to education and literature and located in that section of the city where I have spent the best days of my life.

The munificences of Andrew Carnegie, once subject of criticism and the sneers of the cynic, have long since passed beyond such attacks. He has achieved the unique distinction of having done more for the cause of education than any other American man.

Pittsburgh more than any other section of the United States has shared in this great beneficence. This is wholly right and proper inasmuch as here the man Carnegie made his start, here he wrung by years of toil a great fortune from business, and here are the active associations of a life-time and the field where philanthropy is appreciated.

It seems to me that in connection with the dedication of this splendid building the tendency should be to turn our thoughts along the line of development. Pittsburgh is a wonderful community. Men agree that she is only starting her growth. We have wealth to an extent that would not have been believed a decade ago.

Why not emulate Mr. Carnegie? Of what benefit to us is the greatness of our manufacturing enterprises, our railroads and business concerns unless a share of that glory is also given to the broad improvement of our conditions of life. Each man owes it to himself and his neighbor to do something to lighten the burden and make pleasant the surroundings.

Cable Sent to Skibo.

The beneficence of Mr. Carnegie and others who have done similar things ought to inspire in Pittsburgh a sense of local pride, a desire for improvements in homes, public buildings, civic service and facilities for education, pleasure and comfort. We are far from a finished city, and it is my hope and fond belief that our people will appreciate this fact and help along a program of improvements that will make the life of our whole people pleasanter, happier, more comfortable and longer in years.

Mr. Bigelow, in conclusion, proposed that a cable of congratulation be sent to Mr. Carnegie at Skibo and the audience assented by rising. The following message was dispatched last night across the ocean:

Great crowd at dedication of East Liberty branch library sends congratulations.
BIGELOW, Chairman of Meeting.

After the invocation by the Rev. Dr. John Weidley, an address on "The Choice of Books" was made by the Rev. J. Leonard Levy, Mr. Levy especially urging the reading of biography as an inspiration for the young. "The Treasure House of Literature" was a subject well handled by the Rev. Dr. Robert McWatty Russell. A variation from the general view on the subject of "Literature" was given by the Rev. Father Joseph Toner who said that literature was the medium that showed the moral, intellectual and spiritual condition of a people or nation at some particular period. He lamented the condition of European countries today as gauged by their literature. He attributed the remarkable success of the Scotch to the wisdom gleaned by close study of the bible.

Downtown Branch Advocated.

A telegram of regret from E. H. Anderson, former librarian of Carnegie library, was read, and Mr. Anderson's successor, A. H. Hopkins, spoke on "The Aims of the Library." He said the total circulation last year was over 600,000 volumes, and said this number would be more than doubled if the much-desired downtown branch could be established.

He explained the system of classifying and cataloguing books and said that the Pittsburgh library was asked to do expert work in children's line for the Congressional library at Washington, and that the department relating to patents was drawing many patent attorneys seeking information to Pittsburgh instead of going to Washington, D. C., as they formerly did. Mr. Hopkins talked at some length of the work in the children's department which, he said, led any other library in the world.

W. N. Frew, president of the library trustees, made the presentation of the library which he said would be open to the public today. Pleasing features of the program were vocal selections by the pupils of Shakespeare and Hiland schools and solos by Miss Mabel Zanniser. Following the exercises the large audience inspected the interior of the building.

JUDGE MILLER LECTURES.

Talks to Ascension Club on Early History of Western Pennsylvania.

For over two hours last night the Hon. J. J. Miller, judge of the orphans court, instructed and also delighted the members and friends of the Ascension club at the parish house, Ellsworth avenue and Clyde street, by a discussion of "Early History of Western Pennsylvania." Judge Miller dwelt more particularly upon the events of this locality which have been given little or no prominence, but which, he showed, had a decided influence on not only this section, but the entire country.

Last evening's lecture was the first of the winter series, and it was followed by a luncheon and social. The officers of the club are: President, the Rev. R. W. Grange; vice president, Henry M. Hall, Jr.; treasurer, George W. Fulen; secretary, Elmer J. Strothers.

Hearst Accepts Nomination.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—William Randolph Hearst tonight made public a letter addressed to Judge Samuel Seabury of the Municipal Ownership league, accepting the league's tender of the nomination for mayor of New York. The municipal convention of the organization will be held today, but Mr. Hearst was offered the nomination at a meeting some days ago. His acceptance assures three mayoralty tickets—Democratic, Republican and Public Ownership.

LOCKOUT IS NOT CONTEMPLATED

President Robbins of Pittsburgh Coal Company Enters Denial at M. and M. Banquet.

ITALIAN PRINCE MAKES HIT

"Any statement made as coming from me that there will be a lockout after the present wage agreements with the coal miners expire next April is absolutely false," was the statement with emphasis by Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburg Coal Company, at the dinner given by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association in the banquet hall of the Country club last night. "No man has ever heard me say what the result will be," he continued. "We will go to Indianapolis the latter part of next January to do as has been done—to offer the best wages and fairest conditions possible, and we will expect equally fair treatment from the other side. All the Pittsburgh Coal Company asks of anyone is equal rates of labor and equal rates of transportation." Mr. Robbins also branded as false the statements following the passing of the dividend on the preferred stock which held that the employes of the company had lost friendship for the company and declared that the company had ever stood ready to refund all money paid by employes for stock with 5 per cent interest on what had been invested.

About 800 members and guests of the association had finished a bounteous repast amid picturesque surroundings when A. M. Jenkinson, president of the Country club introduced Captain W. S. Brown as toastmaster. He presented President E. J. Lloyd of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, who gave a short address of welcome; Mr. Robbins, who spoke on "The Relation Between Employer and Employe;" the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, who spoke on "Pittsburgh and the Far East," and Prince Luigi Cammicello, of Italy.

Prince Creates Stir.

The prince created quite a stir. Capt. Brown explained that while Secretary J. W. Wardrop of the association had been in Italy during the summer he was entertained by the nobility and met the prince, who fortunately was visiting in this city at this time. He was invited to make an address, but had not fully mastered the tongue, and he agreed to sing. Just then swinging doors were thrown open and a most ragged and grotesquely-attired impersonator of an Italian entered the room grinding a consumptive hand organ and accompanied by a chained monkey. Upon their entrance the monkey alighted upon the head of Mr. Robbins, then Dr. Levy and at last made a circle of the room paying the same respect to all present to the tuneful (?) music of the organ. He slipped on an occasional bald head, but this did not deter his ambition.

Mr. Robbins spoke eloquently on the coal traffic and the labor conditions that revolve around it, giving voice of his faith and belief in the rights of labor organization if legitimately and properly conducted. He said in part:

The interests represented by capital and labor are reciprocal, and I believe each has an equal right to organize, subject to the laws of the United States. Combinations whose values are equal to capitalization, their acts open to government inspection, their results made public by published yearly statements, managed by fair-minded conservative men, are of benefit to their employes and the public at large.

Labor unions founded upon right principles, under the leadership of honest, conservative officers, are necessary for the protection of employes, and often an aid to the employer who is willing to pay just wages and establish fair conditions, but is hampered by employers who are not.

Every now and then you hear a man say, "I am going to run my own business, and will not be dictated to by my employes," and as like as not he is associated with his competitors in an organization or pool where the majority makes the prices at which he sells his commodity or restricts his product. His positions is thoroughly inconsistent, and you cannot successfully deal with labor and be inconsistent. Labor can not be enslaved, neither can capital be intimidated without conflict and loss to each.

Scores Sympathetic Strikes.

Sympathetic strikes are an abomination and a menace to organized labor, and national labor leaders are opposed to them. They should be fought by employers and employes and frowned upon by the public. My experience with labor leaders is that responsibility tends toward conservatism, and I have never known a successful labor leader who did not become more conservative as his experience and responsibility increased.

In the Pittsburgh Coal Company we have endeavored to show our interest in the welfare of our employes in a practical manner. Shortly after our organization we inaugurated a method to enable the employes to share in the profits. We formed an employes' association through which the employes could purchase the preferred stock of the company by the payment of one dollar per share per month, the company carrying the loan at 6 per cent interest.

The statement has been made that this friendly feeling was endangered in the recent temporary passing of the dividend. There never was a particle of truth in this statement, because any dissatisfied employe is entitled to receive his money with 5 per cent interest in place of the stock.

That the employes appreciate the opportunity offered through the employes' association and have confidence in the future of the company is evidenced by the fact that the temporary suspension of our preferred dividend has not materially reduced the total of shares under contract for delivery to them upon which they make monthly payments of one dollar per share.

Employes Are Loyal.

A year ago this total number of shares of Pittsburgh Coal Company preferred stock contracted for by the employes was about 8,300, of which 2,623 have since been delivered to them in the closing up of the first 13 series of purchase contracts. Under the plan a new series is started on the first of each month, and the contracts in the new series so greatly exceed the contracts matured and the contracts cancelled to date that there are upwards of 14,000 shares contracted for at this time. Employes are given the greatest freedom as to the number of shares that they may pay for in this way and as to withdrawals. They may cancel their contracts at any time upon 30 days' notice and receive back all of the money paid in, plus interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. In addition to the 2,623 shares already acquired by the employes through the association on payments of $1 per month per share, there have been not less than 4,000 shares purchased outright by employes through the association.

We also inaugurated a death and accident association, with a lodge at each mine, the expense of which is in part borne by the company. We also established an old age pension fund, to which the company contributes aid and co-operation. The pension fund received at the start a contribution of $10,000 from the company, and is being built up by joint monthly payments from the employes and the company. All expenses of the association are paid by the company, amounting to about $10,000 annually.

Suggests Civic Organization.

What good can come through a national civic federation can in a less degree be accomplished by a local organization. This association could do the community no better service than to inaugurate such a movement. It would furnish a medium through which, by debate, personal contact and discussion, the employer, employe and the representatives of the public can meet and exchange views and each become familiar with the other's point of view. Human nature is the same in all of us, and we are too prone to confine ourselves to our own view-point.

Such an organization also provides the machinery through which overtures can be made to both sides in a dispute and bring about a meeting where differences can be adjusted, when for obvious reasons neither of the parties in conflict would make advances to the other.

Dr. Levy spoke for a time in an entertaining and humorous vein, then entered into a serious and instructive discourse upon the commercial achievements of Japan and brought his address to a close with a powerful and energetic appeal for an American merchant marine. He said in part:

Commerce of Japan.

Although Japan is a child among the world's powers, while it is only 38 years since the new era began among the Japanese, there are not wanting on all sides the proofs of material progress and the testimony of the amenities of our industrial civilization. The latest report, which I could consult, ranging between the years 1902 and 1903, bear powerful witness to the fact that Japan is a thriving and thrifty nation, worthy of the world's respect and of the sympathetic consideration of every thoughtful trade organization in the western world. The authorized reports which I have in my possession, indicate that at the close of the years 1903 or 1904, the trade of Japan was astonishingly great. The clearing house figures for the whole of Japan were 4,156,823,308 yen, while the banks did a business of over 90 billion yen and savings banks, private and postoffice, did a business of 92,838,696 yen. Forty-one railroads operate throughout the island empire while such conveniences as electric light and street cars are appearing on all sides. The nation's business in exports and imports amounted in 1904 to over 867 million yen, with a favorable balance of nearly 29 million yen. It is interesting to know that Japan has today 4,376 factories employing 182,804 male and 301,439 female operatives.

Through the courtesy of the Tokyo chamber of commerce, I was specially favored with having received a comparative table of the rates of wages paid in the ten largest cities to laborers in 14 of the most important industries. A reference shows that stone cutters are paid the highest wages, the sum being 39 cents per day. Of special interest to Pittsburghers will be the statement that Japan imported last year between 40 and 50 million dollars worth of products of iron, steel, glass and oil, and I anticipate that with characteristic energy, we shall some day be reading of an M. & M. excursion to Japan in pursuit of trade.

Pleads for Merchant Marine.

The Japanese have developed a merchant fleet truly remarkable in size and character when we recall the fact that it is but 50 years since Commodore Perry knocked at the doors of Japan and induced her to enter the list of modern industrial peoples. The merchant flag of Japan is carried on 5,508 ships having a tonnage of 389,612 tons. If tonight I can urge a word through the representative body of men to whom I am speaking that the American people should consider the necessity of fostering a merchant marine for the foreign trade, I shall feel that my acceptance of your hospitality is not only a source of pleasure, but an opportunity to speak a word in behalf of the greater growth of this country, which every loyal citizen loves and to whom the nation's interests are rightly a source of solicitude.

I cannot but help feeling that American laws affecting ships in the foreign trade are inadequate and I look forward to the day when the protective method to which this country is pledged will be applied to our merchant ships in the foreign trade. The people of the United States should be in a position to carry their own products in ships of their own building, captained and manned by their fellow-citizens, yet so protected, as long as protection is applied to American industries by a tariff on imports, that they may be in a position to compete with the ocean carriers who today move the vast bulk of our foreign commerce.

Clinton's Annual Fair Opens.

The 15th annual county fair at Clinton opened yesterday with barrels of red lemonade and the musical voice of the sideshow barker. An elaborate racing program has been arranged for today and tomorrow.

Comfort for Jewish Steerage Passengers.

The Hamburg-American line steamers with the exception of the Deutschland have been equipped with a separate and complete outfit for the sole purpose of preparing and serving food for steerage passengers of the Jewish faith in strict accordance with their dietary laws. The outfit consists of a separate kitchen and utensils, in charge of a man appointed by the Jewish rabbis of Hamburg and in his superintendence everything is looked after most rigorously, so that contact with everything not strictly "kosher" is avoided. The food is carefully selected and prepared by Jewish cooks, four meals being served daily, the passengers deciding among themselves what the bill of fare shall consist of. No extra charge is attached for this service, which was started about 18 months ago on vessels leaving Hamburg and was recently established on vessels making the return journey from New York to Hamburg.

At New Castle the Trolley bowling league, contemplated for the last two years, is now assured, as a meeting will be held in Youngstown Sunday to complete the organization. Those interested met at Youngstown last Sunday and arranged preliminary details. The four cities already entered in the league are New Castle, Sharon, Warren and Niles. The Youngstown bowlers have not yet reached a decision, but will probably join with the Struthers team.

There was a interesting practice game last night between the Unitys on the Club alleys. Unity "wees," won two games from the Unity "commers." The best work of the evening was by Coons and Walber of their respective teams. Scores:

The Millvale Amateurs will roll the Sharpsburg Centrals a match game on Sirlin's Sharpsburg alleys tomorrow night. As the two teams are in good condition some high scores are expected.

The Troy Hill team of the Allegheny section of the County league has the following members: Michael Gebhart, president; Scheeffel, secretary and treasurer; Anthony Bertram, captain; Christ Hacke, Edward Wirch, Joe Steele, Mike Dietrich, M. F. Cavanaugh, Olha Frawstein, Alphonse Weidner, John Steinbroen, E. Keim and Joe Loch.

The Pittsburgh section of the Allegheny County league will hold a meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, on the Friendship alleys to decide on the value of the prize money.

The Allegheny section will hold a meeting on the Federal alleys on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when the season will be opened. The prize money question will come up for consideration.

The Mercantile league opened on the Club alleys last night in a blaze of glory. Ten of the 12 teams of the league participated in the opening. The Hardy & Hays and Jenkins & Co. teams had some difficulty in regards to players and had their games postponed to the following weeks. The high team score of the evening was made by the Arbuthnot-Stevenson Company, and the high single game average was made by G. Mellor of the C. C. Mellor Company team. WOMEN IN MATCH ROUNDS IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Singularly All the Western Contestants Are Out of the Running Now.

The peculiar feature, so far in the Women's National Golf Championship tournament, which is being played on the links of the Morris County Golf club, Morristown, N. J., is the fact that the only three western competitors, Mrs. V. J. Hall of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. C. L. Dering of Midlothian, Ill., and Miss Ada N. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., are out of the contest for the honor. Miss Smith failed to qualify yesterday in the medal play round, but today, in a consolation handicap she tied with Miss Dolly Miller of the Morris County club, with a net score of 85 for the trophy donated by President Thomas.

In the first round of match play today for the championship, Miss Margaret Curtis of Manchester, Mass., beat Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia, 7 up and 5 to play, going out in 41 strokes, which is within a stroke of bogey. Miss Pauline Mackay of Brookline, Mass., beat her clubmate, Miss F. S. Porter, 6 up and 5 to play. Mrs. Charles T. Stout of Apawamis, former national champion, and the holder of the Metropolitan championship title, showed considerable improvement in her game today. The results of today's round of 18 holes match play for the championship follows:

Miss Grace Keyes, Concord, beat Miss C. E. Morrill, Braeburn, 5 up and 4 to play; Miss Eunice Terry, Ardsley, beat Mrs. C. L. Dering, Midlothian, 2 up and 1 to play; Miss Oliver, Chevy Chase, beat Mrs. V. J. Hall, Evanston, 3 up and 2 to play; Miss Adams, Brookline, beat Miss E. C. Griscom, Merian, 3 up and 1 to play; Mrs. C. T. Stout, Apawamis, beat Miss M. Phelps, Brookline, 2 up and 1 to play; Miss J. Mix, Baltusrol, beat Miss K. C. Harley, Fall River, 1 up (19 holes); Mrs. Paterson, Englewood, beat Mrs. S. F. Lefferts, Englewood, 4 up and 3 to play; Mrs. S. C. Price, Huntingdon Valley, beat Mrs. H. Fitzgerald, St. Davids, 1 up; Mrs. C. F. Fox, Huntingdon Valley, beat Miss L. A. Wells, Brookline, 3 up and 2 to play; Miss F. Mackay, Brooklina, beat Miss E. S. Porter, Brookline, 6 up and 5 to play; Miss North, West Chester, Pa., beat Miss Dutton, Brookline, 1 up (19 holes).

Tomorrow's pairings:

Miss Grace Keyes, Concord, Mass., vs. Miss Eunice Terry, Ardsley; Miss Oliver, Chevy Chase, Washington, D. C., vs. Miss M. H. Adams, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. C. T. Stout, Apawamis, vs. Miss Julia Mix, Baltusrol; Mrs. M. D. Paterson, Englewood, vs. Miss Margaret Curtis, Manchester, Mass.; Mrs. R. F. Sanford, Englewood, vs. Miss Georgiana Bishop, Brooklawn, Conn.; Miss H. S. Curtis, Manchester, Mass., vs. Miss F. Ayres, Riverton, Pa.; Mrs. S. C. Price, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., vs. Mrs. C. F. Fox, Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; Miss Pauline Mackay, Brookline, Mass., vs. Miss K. North, West Chester, Pa.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Hard Work Often Strains the Back and Brings on Kidney Disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills Keep the Kidneys Well and the Back Strong.

John Fanning O'Reilly, who for three years was superintendent of the Manhattan Hospital of New York City, and for six years previous to that service was chief clerk of the insane department at Ward's Island, expresses warm admiration for Doan's Kidney Pills.

We have many letters from prominent physicians and hospital authorities who have used Doan's Kidney Pills in practice with great success.

Mr. O'Reilly's letter follows:

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen: I wish to publicly indorse Doan's Kidney Pills. There is no doubt that all who have disordered kidneys can readily be cured if they use your remedy. For over a year I had kidney trouble, but for some time did not know what caused my distress, incessant suffering, backache, pain across the groins, urinary trouble, loss of appetite and strength. An acquaintance who had been through a similar experience urged me to take Doan's Kidney Pills, and, I am happy to say, the remedy was most successful.

Yours truly,
(Signed) J. FANNING O'REILLY

Any work that is a constant strain on the back is certain to injure the kidneys, in time. That is why dock workers, farm hands, railroaders, teamsters, barbers, painters and workers in a hundred trades suffer so much from backache.

Many tasks, like housework, that do not require great physical strength are very trying on the back and kidneys. That is why backache is so common among women. That is why so many women are unnaturally weak and tired and sleepless.

When the kidneys are sick every exertion sends a sharp, stinging pain through the loins, and for hour after hour there will be a dull, heavy throbbing ache in the small of the back. You will feel weary all the time and urinary troubles may add to your misery.

Doan's Kidney Pills have given thousands of working men and women strong backs for their daily work. This remedy helps the kidneys to do their work, to filter the liquid poisons from the blood, and to send pure, health-giving blood to the muscles and organs. We would sincerely advise every man or woman whose work is hard on the back to help the kidneys with an occasional dose of Doan's Kidney Pills.

PITTSBURGH PROOF

Charles H. Allen, boss painter, living at 1831 Fulton St., Allegheny, says: "Something like seven years ago, following an attack of the grip, I noticed a pain in the back. I paid little attention to it at first, thinking that as I gained strength these pains would pass away. Instead they became more and more severe and finally got so that I could scarcely get up or sit down and stooping or lifting was out of the question. At night I could not rest with any degree of comfort. Coming to the conclusion that the kidneys were out of order I got Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I must confess that the results were marvelous. In a few days I was relieved of the pain in the back and when I had finished the box I was completely cured. I have told these facts in a testimonial given for publication nearly four years ago, and since that time have been asked by many people if this statement were true. I have always confirmed it and have added my verbal indorsement."

Duquesne Silver Top Beer

Here is a

"Lesson in Purity"

and one you can learn at a glance.

In our Exhibit down at the Exposition you can see the original of the cut here shown.

The first four glass tubes show the exact quantities of choicest materials used in brewing a single bottle of far-famed Silver Top Beer. The second set shows you just what every bottle of the finished product contains. Note the large amount of pure water; the concentrated extract (6th tube), consisting of rich albuminoids and the natural sugars and refined mineral salts just as they are found in the barley malt. These are all-important factors in the daily nourishment of the human body; lastly, less than four per cent of alcohol. (Compare alcohol in 7th tube with the tall column of Silver Top Beer in the 8th.)

This surprisingly small amount of alcohol present in beer acts as a healthful tonic. It is readily utilized and creates normal energy, helping you in the performance of your work.

What's true of Duquesne Silver Top is true of all our other beers. They are absolutely pure; they are more than this; they are brewed from costly materials in the most sanitary breweries in the world. The artesian water is distilled and the air itself is filtered. Every bottle of the finished product is carefully sterilized.

When you visit the Expo take one of our booklets home with you. It tells without fear or favor the whole story of pure beer and its place in nutrition.

BANKERS GATHER AT WASHINGTON

Various Sections Organize Preliminary to Opening of Annual Convention Today.

PITTSBURGHERS GET HONORS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—More than 2,000 bankers have registered their attendance at the 31st annual session of the American Bankers' association, which convenes in the New National theater here, tomorrow. Several meetings of sections of the association were held today, when important action affecting various phases of the banking interest were taken.

At the meeting of the trust company section the question of federal control of trust companies was referred to somewhat evasively. No one came out squarely in advocacy of it, but each speaker voiced decided sentiment in favor of adequate inspection. The savings bank section voted to make an experiment in taking statistics of savings accounts throughout the country. These statements are to be gathered by the secretary of the section through the co-operation of the banks which are members. The first statistics called for are to show the amount of money on deposit, the number of depositors and the amount of interest paid on December 31 of the years 1903, 1904 and 1905. Should the response to this information be sufficient to make the statistics valuable, the executive committee of the section is authorized to continue the collection of the statistics either monthly or quarterly.

To Get Condition of Country.

It was stated that the association has in its membership 70 per cent of the savings institutions of the country. The information is to be gathered only from members to whom it will be distributed after being collated and tabulated by states. It was contended in the discussion that the prosperity or depression of the industrial classes would be correctly indexed in the movement of money in and out of savings banks, and that it would furnish a correct indication of the condition of the country.

The section authorized the appointment of a new committee to collect information and make suggestions looking to legislation in various states, which were legalized trust accounts and accounts in two names. The advantage of such legislation was admitted, but the members of the section were unable to agree on phraseology, which, in their opinion, would receive uniform interpretation by the various courts of the country.

Local Man Elected.

The following officers were elected by the savings bank section: President, Edward D. Duff, vice president Peoples Savings bank, Pittsburgh; vice president, G. Byron Latimer, secretary Irving Savings institution, New York, three members of the executive committee to serve for three years, C. C. Purves, president Philadelphia Savings Fund society, John F. Flack, president City Savings bank, Omaha, J. H. Johnson, cashier Pennsylvania Savings bank, Detroit.

The trust company section elected the following officers: President, Clark Williams, president of the New York and London Trust Company, New York; vice president, Festus J. Wade, president Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis; executive committee, W. L. McDonald, St. Louis, H. P. McIntosh, Cleveland, O.; J. E. Otis, Chicago, L. H. Dencons, New Orleans, and J. F. Thompson, New York.

The organization of the Banking Publicity Association of the United States was perfected as a section of the association. Its object is to conduct a campaign of education as to the benefits and advantages of banking insitutions to the people.

The publicity association elected the following officers for the first year: Howard Davidson of New York, president; D. C. Wills of Pittsburgh, first vice president; Frederick Phillips of New York, secretary. Also a number of vice presidents from various cities.

Tonight the officers and executive council of the association were guests of the local bankers at a banquet at the New Willard hotel.

Over one hundred persons prominent in financial affairs throughout the United States, were present at the banquet. The table was constructed in the form of an American dollar mark and was profuse with decoration, mainly of American beauty roses and white chrysanthemums. Among the guests were Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Comptroller of the Currency William B. Ridgeley, Deputy Comptroller Thomas P. Kane and the commissioners of the District of Columbia.

John Joy Edson, the president of the District of Columbia Banking association was the presiding officer, and he proposed a toast to the President of the United States, which was drunk standing. There were no other toasts and no speeches. Patriotic airs and musical selections were rendered during the several hours of the banquet.

Aged Resident Passes Away.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Catherine Flaherty died this morning at Manor after two weeks' illness. She was 79 years of age and came to this vicinity from Ireland 45 years ago. Her husband died 20 years ago. Two of eight children survive.

STRIKE CALLED OFF.

Apology to a Firm That Tas Been Made the Victim of Hot-Headedness by a Labor Leader—Amends Made by Resolution of Salesmen's Assembly 4907, K. of L.

For over two years Salesmen's Assembly 4907, Knights of Labor, have been waging warfare on the old clothing firm of Eisner & Phillips with no apparent effect, but recently efforts have been made to gather all the mercantile firms into harmony with union principles and an investigating committee was appointed to visit each of the several firms that were not regarded as strictly "union."

When the committee came to investigate the attitude of the firm of Eisner & Phillips, it was found that the firm was not at all hostile to unions, but felt that it had been unjustly and harshly dealt with. Inquiry and investigation of the causes led to a recommendation on the part of the committee that justice be done to the firm, the unjust treatment of which was conceded. This culminated in the adoption of a resolution by Salespeople's Assembly 4907, K. of L., in which, among other things, it is admitted that injustice had been committed in the treatment of the firm and reciting that the action was due to the hot-headedness of a former official of the assembly. The report was accepted and ratified, and it was ordered that a letter be addressed to the firm by the secretary, in which it is stated that "we desire to again renew pleasant relations with your firm * * * * and therefore give full power to our Master Workman, Mr. J. K. Henry, to arrange a settlement on the following conditions:

"First—That we will reinstate all salesmen in your employ. Second—That your firm sign our former agreement, with the additional clause recognizing your right to keep your store open until 10 p. m. on Saturdays. We also agree to call the strike off and to advertise your firm throughout the organized territory over which the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania has jurisdiction and to supply you with union cards, certifying that you are a strictly union house."

The communication that conveys this information is signed by J. K. Henry, Master Workman, and Robert Hostetter, secretary, and bears the impress of the seal of Salesmen's Assembly 4907, Knights of Labor, and has the approval of John Pernau, District Master Workman, K. of L.

The above speaks for itself. Eisner & Phillips have, since the establishment of the house, ever aimed to practice the principle of a "square deal for every man, no more and no less," whether employe or customer, and have a reputation so well known as a square dealing house that it has passed almost into a proverb. To maintain this reputation is ever and will ever be the aim of the house, and to maintain its large patronage among those who desire to dress well at the lowest possible cost, whether millionaire or workman.

SOCIETY

THE Point Breeze Presbyterian church was the scene of a brilliant event last evening, when Miss Alice Thomas became the bride of William Goff Capels, lieutenant in the corps of engineers, United States army. The Rev. Dr. William S. Fulton, pastor of the church, solemnized the marriage at 7 o'clock, the bride being given away by her brother, Joseph C. Thomas. She wore a beautiful gown of white satin cut with a full court train and trimmed with rose point lace, while her veil, of French embroidered net, was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white violets and orchids. The maid of honor, Miss Ray Thomas, was in violet crepe de chine with a bodice of chiffon hand-painted in orchids. Her flowers were purple orchids. The bridesmaids were Miss Irene Succop, Miss Jane Lloyd, Miss Jennie McCance, Miss Katherine Chambers, all of this city; Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hartford, Ind., and Miss Grace Crocker of Cambridge, Mass. Each wore a princess gown of white mousseline de soie, trimmed with bows of lavendar ribbon and each carried a huge bouquet of purple violets. The party was completed by the best man, Lieut. Arthur Williams of Fort Leavenworth, and the ushers, Capt. R. O. Ricard of the same place, Lieut. Lewis M. Adams, Lieut. William A. Mitchell, Lieut. William R. Rose and Lieut. Max C. Tyler, all of Washington; Lieut. Owen Seaman of San Francisco and Lieut. James Prentice of Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, all of whom were in the full dress uniform of scarlet and blue of the engineer's branch of the service. Against this combination of colors, daring as it was effective, the decorations in green and white were most beautiful. They were carried out with chrysanthemums, palms, ferns and smilax. The same flowers, together with purple violets, were used at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph D. Thomas, in Lang avenue, where a reception followed the ceremony. Lieut. Capels and his bride will make their home in Chattanooga at the conclusion of their wedding trip.

Dinner for New Yorkers.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster R. Balsinger of the Bellefield dwellings, gave a dinner last evening in honor of their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Maloney, whose fifth wedding anniversary the occasion marked. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alva C. Dinkey, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Aten, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Slick and Mr. and Mrs. David Schwab. The favors for the women were baskets of autumn flowers, while for the men there were dainty hand-painted cards. During the afternoon Mrs. Balsinger entertained with a "500" party. Mrs. Maloney and Mrs. Schwab, who is also a New York visitor, sharing the honors. Fifteen tables were placed in the club rooms of the Bellefield, where the affair was conducted.

Lindsay-Ralston.

A pretty home wedding of last evening was that of Miss Emma C. Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Lindsay of Lafayette avenue, Allegheny, and George Ralston. The Rev. Dr. George W. Robinson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Allegheny, was assisted in performing the ceremony by the Rev. W. W. Laurence of the Bellevue United Presbyterian church. The maid of honor was a cousin of the bride, Miss Helen Ewing Radcliffe. John Ralston, Jr., a brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man, and as ushers there were Robert W. Lindsay and Thomas J. Lindsay, brothers of the bride. The bridal gown was a creation of white crepe de angelia and rose point lace. Lilies of the valley fastened the tulle veil and showered the bouquet of roses. French mull and valenciennes lace formed Miss Radcliffe's gown and pink cosmos her bouquet. The same flowers and ferns were used to decorate the house. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Joseph Sweeney of Salem, O., Miss Margaret Schover of Indianapolis, Ind., and Miss Mary Ralston of Rock Island, N. Y. Thursdays in December in Bellevue have been announced as at-home days by Mr. and Mrs. Ralston.

Theater Party for Bride-Elect.

Miss Margaret Aiken, the bride-elect of Chester G. Fisher, will be guest of honor at an informal theater party to be given at the Belasco Friday evening. Her sister, Mrs. John R. Grabowsky, will act as hostess, and the other guests will be those from out of town who are here for the wedding next Tuesday. Mrs. Grabowsky has Miss Helen Cooper of St. Paul with her and Miss Aiken has Miss Helen Upson of Mansfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Moul of Brooklyn. Miss Fisher, the bridegroom's sister, will entertain in honor of her prospective sister-in-law on Saturday evening, and on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. James H. Aiken will give a dinner of 22 covers following the wedding rehearsal. Miss Fisher will also have a house guest, Miss Smink of Reading.

Maguire-Scheib.

Miss Marie Maguire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maguire, and John G. Scheib, Jr., were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents in Broad street, East End. The Rev. Father J. D. Cattry officiated, and the couple was attended by Miss Josephine Zugsmith and T. Frank Maguire. The bride wore her traveling suit of gray, with a panne velvet toque, and her maid of honor appeared in a plum-colored suit with a hat to match. The decorations at the house were in pink and white, roses and carnations being the flowers used. After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Scheib left for an eastern and northern trip and will be at home upon their return in Wineblddle avenue, East End.

Bendel-Breitweiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bendel have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mabel George Bendel, and Frederick John Breitweiser, to take place tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, at their home in Inwood street, East End. The only attendants will be Miss Sallie Baer of Crafton, who will serve as maid of honor, and Albert Kaufman, who will act as best man.

Becker-Miller.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Dr. George V. Miller and Miss Hermina Becker of Irwin were married this evening by the Rev. S. K. Herbster of the Lutheran church. Miss Anna Miller, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and the best man was Charles Becker, brother of the bride. The wedding was a family affair, only immediate relatives being present.

Among the Clubs.

Celebrate the Settlement of the Jews.

The Columbian Council of Jewish Women will shortly celebrate the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the Jews in North America. The president, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, last week received a letter from the New York committee arranging for a celebration of the event in that city, and with which various local committees are working in conjunction all over America. The New York committee has Jacob Schiff as its chairman and includes men of prominence such as Oscar Strauss, Daniel Guggenheim, Louis Marshall, Louis Stern, Edward Lauterbaugh and others. It has arranged for a mass meeting in Carnegie Music hall, New York city, on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Rauh will bring the matter before the executive board of the Columbian council at a special meeting to be held in a few days when a date and a place will be decided upon for the Thanksgiving service in this city. Prominent men and women will be invited to speak. The New York committee also asks the co-operation of the Jews throughout the country in the holding of special religious services on the Saturday and Sunday preceding Thanksgiving day.

Though these special services will be held to celebrate the settlement of the Jews in North America, the New York committee claims in its letter to Mrs. Rauh that a Jew was the first European to land on American shores—a man by the name of Torres, one of the five Jews who accompanied Christopher Columbus on his voyage of exploration, acting as an interpreter for the party. The committee claims he first discovered the use of tobacco. Torres settled and died in Cuba.

Arranging for Civic Day.

Arrangements were discussed yesterday by the Travelers' club for its Civic day, to be observed November 28. The meeting will be open to members of other clubs and an address will be made by Dr. H. Heckel on "Tenement Houses." The reports of the summer playgrounds and vacation school will be made and other civic interests will be presented. The program is in the care of Mrs. William Macrum.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon Mrs. J. C. Dick presided in the absence of the leader, Mrs. Harvey McKinney. The president, Mrs. W. P. Price, gave her annual address in which she spoke of the aims of the club. Mrs. T. P. Henderson read a paper on "The Ancient Civilization of Japan." Informal talks were given by Mrs. James Drill, Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Macrum.

The delegates from the Travelers' club to the meeting of the state federation will be Mrs. W. P. Price and Mrs. Theodore Slicker, with Mrs. Harvey McKinney and Mrs. J. M. Patterson as alternates.

Club Women Studying Holland.

The Monday club of Carnegie met this week at the home of Mrs. J. E. McCabe, the president, Mrs. George Faunce, presiding. After the business session an interesting program was rendered. In a descriptive talk on travel, Miss Elizabeth Fickes described the arrival of travelers in Rotterdam, Holland. Mrs. Frank McNulty read a paper "How Holland Arose from the Sea," and Mrs. George Hosack described places of interest in Flushing and Middleburg. Current events were discussed by Mrs. J. L. Pitzer. The program was varied by a recitation by Mrs. Pitzer, a piano solo by Miss Mildred Carnahan, and vocal solos by Mrs. William Wrenshall. Refreshments were served during the social hour. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. B. G. Cubbage.

Attending Philadelphia Convention.

Miss Sara Ormsby Eaton is in Philadelphia attending the annual convention of the American Humane association. The meetings are being conduced in the drawing-rooms of the New Century club, commencing yesterday and closing tomorrow. Miss Eaton is a member of the Juvenile Court association of this city, and is well known throughout the state, having served on the women's auxiliary to the State Board of Public Charities and in other capacities.

Counting the Cash.

The Winodausis club is quite elated over the financial success of the two entertainments given by it this summer in Luna park. Together they netted about $826. At a meeting of the club yesterday afternoon the treasurer reported net proceeds exceeding $400 from the euchre and dance given in September at Luna park. The money will swell the fund, from which the club makes appropriations for its various civic, club and charitable interests. The meeting yesterday was well attended and plans were discussed for the meeting in November, which will be of a social character for members only.

Columbian Council Delegates.

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, the president, with Miss Julia Schoenfeld, head resident at the Columbia Council school, will be the delegates from the Columbia Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. M. Mona Lesser and Miss Adele Wiehl being the alternates, to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. Miss McKnight has asked Mrs. Rauh to serve as chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Meeting of Wilkinsburg Club.

The Woman's club of Wilkinsburg held its first meeting this season yesterday afternoon. It was almost entirely a social gathering, followed by tea. An informal program, consisting of songs by Miss McClean, a piano solo by Miss Wheeler and readings by Miss Helen Pershing and Miss Anna Wylie, was presented. The new president, Mrs. Charles W. Smith, presided.

Will Adopt By-Laws.

A special meeting of the Juvenile Court Aid society will be held next Monday for the adoption of by-laws. A report will also be given by Miss Nannie Oppenheimer, the probation officer of the juvenile court whom the aid society is supporting. The society is now seeking homes for two Jewish children who have been brought before the court.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS MEET.

Famous 140th Regiment Holds Its Annual Reunion at Hickory. Elects Officers.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 10.—The famous One Hundred and Fortieth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, of civil war veterans, held their annual reunion today at Hickory, 12 miles north of here. More than 100 veterans of the command, with other civil war veterans, were present. The principal address of the day was made by the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle of Pittsburgh. The address of welcome was made this morning by Prof. Harry Couch of Hickory.

The morning session was given up to the enrollment of members of the regiment and other business. The following officers were elected: President, James McCullough, Monaca; vice presidents, J. M. Murray, Washington, J. N. Moody, Beaver and Alexander Sweeney, Steubenville; secretary, the Rev. J. L. Milligan, Pittsburgh; treasurer, H. J. Boyd, East Liverpool. It was decided to hold the next reunion at Monaca.

Governor Accepts Resignations.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Gov. Pennypacker has formally accepted the resignation of Col. Thomas Allen Glenn, aid on his staff, in general orders issued today from the Pennsylvania National Guard headquarters. The resignation of Second Lieutenant Oliver J. Sproul, Company I, First regiment; First Lieutenant William H. Chapman, Company E, Fifth regiment, and Capt. George P. Foresman, Company G, Twelfth regiment, have also been accepted.

FAINTS ON THE STAGE.

Young Woman Performer in Local Theater Falls Unconscious During Act. Curtain Is Rung Down.

One of the female members of the Agoust family, a company of jugglers at the Grand opera house this week, added a somewhat startling surprise to the act last night. At the most interesting moment, when the five performers were exchanging the furniture and food of a restaurant by swift sleight-of-hand, one young woman fell forward in a dead faint. Her male companions seized her quickly and bore her from the stage. The curtain was rung down and another act substituted without a hitch, and without the audience being fully aware of the cause of the interruption.

At the conclusion of the substitute act the young woman pluckily came on and with her companions finished the act as usual. Those in the audience who had seen her faint and fall, gave her a generous round of applause at her second appearance.

Falls Two Feet and Dies.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Stearrt, aged 52, fell from a tree limb two feet from the ground and died today from her injuries.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes, 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. Ask your own doctor about taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for thin, impure blood. He knows all about this medicine.

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. A sluggish liver gives a coated tongue, bad breath, constipated bowels. Correct all these by giving small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar-coated.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

ARCANUMITES HEAR NEW INSURANCE DEFENDED

Abb Landis, Fraternal Actuary, Tells Why Rates Are Fair and Better Than the Old Ones.

Members of the Royal Arcanum from all the local councils assembled last night in the Allegheny Carnegie music hall to hear a dissertation on the new insurance rates which the supreme council has established. A larger attendance was expected; only about 150 persons attended.

The speaker was Abb Landis of Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Landis is an actuary for fraternal societies and is engaged for the supreme council to travel over the country and explain the new insurance rates with a view to stilling the dissatisfaction which has been aroused among the older members. A charter member 71 years old was there last night. He is now paying $8.70 a month on each $1,000 of his insurance, and he learned last night that when the new rates go into effect next month he will have to pay $16 each month.

Mr. Landis said the supreme council could do nothing else than change the rates, if the order was to be able to continue in being and pay the insurance that falls due as members die. Under the new rates the organization would prosper, however, even if not a single new member came into the order. He showed that the older members who are now objecting had all had insurance protection at a very low cost and that the increase in their rates gave them insurance at a lower price than any other kind of life insurance. He had a number of charts, and he showed that under the "assessed rate" in a certain period the organization would raise only $200,000,000 insurance instead of $600,000,000 which it would have to pay by that time, while the new rates would provide the full amount.

SOCIETY CABLES THE HUNGARIAN LEADER

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 10.—The American Reformed Aid society at its convention here today framed a cablegram to Francis Kossuth, leader of the Hungarian opposition movement, in which he was greeted as the protector of Hungarian liberty. The convention, which is being attended by delegates from seven states, contributed $160 to the fund being raised for the erection of a monument to George Washington in Budapest, Hungary, next September by the Hungarian societies of the United States.

BODY OF UNKNOWN GIRL DRAWS MANY TO MORGUE

Acquaintances Called Her "Lizzie Allison," but Real Name Is Shrouded in Mystery.

Hundreds visited the morgue yesterday to view the remains of the unknown girl, who took carbolic acid in front of 44 Chatham street and died later at the Homeopathic hospital, Monday night. On one of her arms was a tattooed heart, transfixed with an arrow, and on the other arm were the initials, "L. H." There were a half a dozen women who knew her as Lizzie Allison, but they said she also went by other names and they were not positive what her correct name was. She was well known in the hill district, and on the downtown streets.

The inquest into the death of Samuel Goldstein, who was stabbed to death at Coraopolis September 30, was held yesterday. The coroner's jury recommended that Max Citron be held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder, and that John Maro be held as a witness to the murder. Joseph Arnold testified that he saw Citron stab Goldstein during a fight in front of his store in Coraopolis.

James Zaxtes, aged 35, of Braddock, was drowned in the Monongahela river at Port Perry yesterday afternoon. He was working on the government dam. His body was recovered two hours later.

J. F. Hughey, aged 67, of Springdale, was found dead in bed last night. He had been in feeble health for some months.

Ada Phillips, aged 3 years, yesterday died at her home, 1119 Bluff street, from burns received while playing about a bonfire last Thursday.

William O. Black, aged 38, a machinist, of Harrisburg, died from heart disease at the Hotel Schadel, Turtle Creek, yesterday afternoon. He had been working in Turtle Creek and was taken ill Monday afternoon.

Newsboys at the Exposition.

Seventy boys from the Newsboys' home were the guests of Manager Fitzpatrick at the Exposition last night. The boys were taken through the whole show and treated to all the good things to eat and see. At the various exhibits the boys were given lemonade, popcorn balls, tops, souvenir pins, sandwiches, ice cream and many other good things. The boys were also taken into every show and on every pleasure-making device on the grounds. After they had seen the show they were lined up and complimented for their good behavior.

STOCK MARKETS STRONG, BUT TRADING INACTIVE

Call Loans Slightly Easier, and the Foreign Markets Were Firmer—Only Small Changes Occurred in the Local Securities

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was strong most of the day, but there was a considerable falling off in the volume of business, the sales being less than 500,000 shares. Call loan rates were slightly easier, and improvement was reported in the foreign situation, but there was some disappointment in Wall street that the response to current news was not more pronounced.

Before the opening the announcement was made of the increase in the capital of the Great Northern railroad. The amount of the increase is $25,000,000, and stockholders are given the privilege of subscribing at par in the proportion of one new share for each five shares now held. It was calculated that at yesterday's market value of Great Northern stock this subscription privilege was equivalent to a dividend of 27 per cent, and it was also thought that one effect of the financiering would be to enhance the market value of Union Pacific. This "melon-cutting" has long been looked forward to by the street, but the effect upon the market was almost insignificant. Great Northern preferred opened a fraction lower at 322½, advanced to 326½, and closed at 325, a net gain of 2 per cent. Had the announcement come early last spring when the street was full of mystery as to the means for adjusting the situation, growing out of the disintegration of the Northern Securities Company, the market would have fairly boiled. President J. J. Hill, in a letter to stockholders, stated that the object of the increased capital was to take up financial arrangements of a temporary character made during the Northern-Pacific-Great Northern litigation, and also to furnish money for the acquisition of new properties and securities, as may be ordered by the board of directors. The street concluded that this increase in stock had nothing to do with the ore lands of the company, which may furnish the occasion for a further distribution of profits to stockholders.

The market also apparently ignored the showing made by the government crop report, which appeared early in the afternoon. Compared with the final estimates of last year's crops, yesterday's figures indicated an increase of 240,000,000 bushels corn, an increase of 60,000,000 bushels oats, and an increase of 40,000,000 bushels spring wheat. The grain markets fluctuated within narrow limits, and the stock market was scarcely affected at all. The fact that weather conditions have been almost ideal since the last monthly report may account for the indifference with which the figures were received yesterday.

For the first time in a week London quotations for American securities came higher, and foreigners were moderate purchasers on balance. The beginning of the fortnightly settlement on the London exchange is said to have disclosed a short interest in American securities, and this may have accounted for the demand yesterday.

The whole list opened fractionally higher, and continued to advance slowly during the day. There was some activity in Jersey Central, Consolidated Gas and other high-priced stocks which have been neglected for some time past. The entire Pennsylvania group was firmer and closed ½ to 1 per cent higher. With the exception of Wabash preferred, which closed at an advance of 1 per cent, the Gould issues were not affected by the victory of the Gould faction over the Ramsey faction in the Wabash fight. The net gains in the granger list did not reach 1 per cent for the day.

In the industrial list there was some profit-taking in United States Cast Iron Pipe on the declaration of an initial dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock. Locomotive common was active and strong, and United States Steel closed ½ higher for the common and ¾ per cent higher for the preferred. Amalgamated Copper closed ½ per cent higher for the day.

Call loan rates ranged between 4½ and 6 per cent, the final loan being 5 per cent.

The subsidence of activity in National Fire Proofing and Crucible Steel stocks, which have furnished the bulk of the business on the Pittsburgh stock exchange for some time past, gave the local market the appearance of extreme dullness. On sales of less than 200 shares Fire Proofing preferred rallied to and closed at 22⅜. The common sold at 5⅞ to 6. Crucible Steel common closed ⅛ lower at 12⅞, while the preferred closed 1 per cent higher at 67½. The total transactions in United States Steel were confined to four shares preferred at 104. All the brewing issues were dull and nominally unchanged. The only sale in the coal group was 16 shares Pittsburgh preferred at 57½. Manufacturers Light and Heat was a shade lower at 35⅞, while Philadelphia Company was firmer at 48⅞. Westinghouse Air Brake sold at 149, a decline of $1 a share from the last previous sale. Mining stocks were heavy, and Lustre sold off from 35¼ to 34¾ at the close, with that price bid for more. In the bond department $50,000 Pittsburgh Brewing 6s sold at 112½ to 113.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The government crop report yesterday had little if any effect in making prices for either stocks or grain, because it revealed what was generally known beforehand. Nevertheless, it will be interesting to compare results as indicated by yesterday's figures with the final estimates for 1904. On this basis of comparison there will be an increase of 240,000,000 bushels corn, an increase of 130,000,000 bushels wheat and an increase of 60,000,000 bushels oats. Here is a total of 430,000,000 bushels increase over last year in these three crops alone, which increase at current prices has a market value of at least $200,000,000. That sum is more than double the total net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the years 1903 and 1904. The exportable surplus of cereal products this year will be large, and the foreign market situation seems to assure a full average price. All the indications point to a rapid movement of the crop. If this should prove to be the case, the demand for money will continue active to the end of the year. This condition of the money market will render it more costly to carry high-priced stocks on margin, and may force some liquidation and temporarily lower prices, but legitimate business will feel the stimulus of prosperous agricultural conditions for many months to come.

The long prevalent rumors of mellon cutting for the Great Northern stockholders developed in the decision to issue $25,000,000 of new stock, present stockholders to be allowed to subscribe at par to the extent of 20 per cent of their holdings. Probably a thousand rumors have circulated as to the coming benefit to the stockholders of this company, but none of them proved to bear the slightest accuracy. The announcement seemed unexpected at just this time and the price of the stock was pushed up over four points during the first hour. In the curb market a quotation was established for the subscription rights by sales at 3⅝ to 3⅞. The stock was also helped by the statement of gross earnings reported for September, which reached $4,355,651, an increase over the previous year of $1,057,856.

The declaration of the initial dividend on the common stock of the Cast Iron Pipe Company was an influence on a number of low priced industrial stocks in the same way as the recent increase in the dividend of the Railway Steel Spring stock. Among the smaller industrials International Paper, Union Bag and Paper and American Steel Foundries all scored advances.

Local mining stocks were dull and heavy. Lustre declined to 34¾ on light sales. Tonopah Extension was offered at $6 and closed without bid or sale. It was said that offerings slightly above this figure were rather liberal from the west. Ohio Tonopah declined to 28c on sale of 500 shares. Golden Anchor was nominally quoted at 58c bid, 60c asked. Oriental & Manhate was quoted at 56c bid, 58c asked. In the Lake Superior group North Butte declined to 52 and closed at 53¼ bid.

Small lots of Central District & Printing Telegraph (Bell Telephone), sold at 133½ to 140, the latter an advance of 2 per cent. The quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the stock is payable October 31 to stock of record October 24.

The dealings in National Fire Proofing stocks were smaller yesterday than for some time past and the tone of the market was firmer. This is taken to indicate that liquidation induced by fear of a reduction or passage of the dividend has ended. Inquiries were being made of brokers yesterday by customers as to the probable course of the market and the best policy to pursue, and the advice as a general thing was that current prices fully discounted the suspension of the preferred dividend for a year. The business outlook of the company was never better, and its friends express the belief that the new properties, the acquisition of which was largely responsible for the present debt, will earn sufficient this year and next to largely take care of the debt.

An increase in the dividend rate on American Radiator common is said to be probable next month.

John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust & Savings bank, who spent some time in New York last week, says it is the intention of the principal New York bankers to hold the money market on an even keel through suppressing excessive speculation at this time.

The Citizens National bank of Vandergrift, Pa., will clear through the Diamond National bank of Pittsburgh.

October 19 is the date for the Amalgamated Copper directors to take action on the dividend.

The directors of the United States Cast Iron Pipe Company declared an initial dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred.

The net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the calendar year of 1906 based on booked orders, the reports of subsidiary companies and the general trade outlook, should touch $140,000,000. This is the conclusion of well-informed authorities. This would compare with $72,932,277 in 1904, $109,171,152 in 1903, and with $133,308,764 in the banner of 1902.

"It will be noted that the Gould bonds are still lagging behind the list as a consequence of public uncertainty over the Gould situation, growing out of revelations in the Ramsey controversy. Western Maryland 4s sold during the week at 87¼, low for the year. Wabash-Pittsburgh first 4s sold 7 points below their high and the second 4s almost 10 points below. Even the second mortgage gold 6s of the Wabash showed a decline of 6 points, to a low point for the year of 106¼. None of the bonds are buoyant, though the underlying lines of the Wabash showed market stability as compared with junior issues. The Missouri Pacific bonds reflect only in a very slight degree the general uncertainty that pervaded the ranks of Investors in the Gould securities. There is no reason whatever for any trepidation on the part of holders of the well secured bonds in the Gould system. The revelations concerning Gould finance are not of a nature to threaten the holders of mortgage bonds on the older lines."—Wall Street Journal.

A dispatch from Washington says: "Owing to the deficit in the treasury, a proposition has been discussed for several weeks by leading Republicans in both branches of congress to revive the old war tax of $1 per barrel on beer. This tax would yield the government an estimated revenue of $45,000,000 a year. The deficit is estimated at not more than $40,000,000. The tax therefore should yield a surplus. Opposition to the measure comes from senators and representatives from districts where brewing interests are especially strong. It is believed, however, that the tax has been decided on and that it is a practical certainty. During the Spanish-American war the beer tax was placed without a great deal of opposition on the part of brewers."

Sproul & Co. were the sellers and H. M. Long the buyer of $50,000 Pittsburgh Brewing 6s on the exchange yesterday. Of the total $10,000 was sold at 113, the remainder at 112½, the latter a net advance of ½ per cent.

The call money rate yielded rather decisively below 6 per cent for the first time since last week's flurry. At the same time sentiment over the money outlook was improved by London's easier tendency. The latter development is said to be due largely to the report that the Bank of France had relinquished $5,000,000 in gold to be shipped to Egypt, relieving by that much a requirement in the London money market. The continental exchanges also moved in favor of London, although discounts hardened both at Paris and Berlin and remained stationary at those of London. The price of gold, however, was marked up in London. The foreign exchange market in New York was firm again in response to the easier tone of the money market, but there was a general belief that the relaxation in money is due largely to Monday's liquidation of speculative accounts in stocks. Redeposits of New York city payments are a factor and liquidation in cotton also is believed to have afforded relief to the money market. The quiet tone of money is felt to be dependent at present on the quietude of speculation. This belief had an effect in restraining any activity in the stock market.

Gross earnings of New York Central for September increased $655,756.

Gross earnings of Wabash for the first week in October decreased $48,006.

The Southern Railway reports a surplus after charges for the year ended June 30 of $2,151,632, an increase of $971,232.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH	IN WALL STREET
Stock market was dull, but the tone was steady to firm.	Stock market was strong, but transactions were smaller.
The largest transactions were in Pittsburgh Brewing bonds.	Sales included 486,000 shares stock and $2,233,000 bonds.
A block of $40,000 sold at 112½, and $10,000 at 113.	Initial dividend on Cast Iron Pipe common, and the stock declined.
Crucible common a fraction lower, but the preferred closed 1 per cent higher.	The high grade railroads scored the largest net gains.
Liquidation in National Fire Proofing seemed to be over.	Call loans ranged between 4½ and 6 per cent, closing at 5 per cent.

GOOD DEAL FOR EAST END HOUSES

W. C. Lyne Buys Five Residences in Meade Street from E. B. McAbee for $42,500.

COAL PROPERTY IN A TRADE

Wickliffe C. Lyne has bought from E. B. McAbee of the George R. McAbee Powder Company five houses in Meade street, near Brushton avenue, East End, for $42,500. The residences are 10-room reception hall brick dwellings well finished and tastefully decorated. They stand on a plot 150x120 feet and were erected about two years ago. They are now under lease until April 1, 1906, at a total annual rental of $2,000 a year. Considering the location of the houses near the traction lines and the Pennsylvania railroad stations, they are regarded as a good investment.

Through the John K. Ewing Company Thomas J. Hawkins of the Real Estate Corporation has secured a valuable tract of coal land in Westmoreland county in exchange for property in Monteoth borough. Each property was figured at $25,000 in the deal. The coal land consists of 794 acres in Derry township on the Pennsylvania railroad, and is commonly known as the Rued tract. E. P. Cole and D. E. Maxwell were the owners. It is underlaid with a five-foot vein of Pittsburgh coal and extensive deposits of limestone, and has considerable timber on it. The Montooth property includes 14 lots, 25x135 feet each, in Boggston avenue, on which are erected 11 six-room frame houses which are rented for $18 a month each. Mr. Hawkins secured the houses last week from Nicola Brothers in part payment for a vacant lot at Wood street and First avenue, now occupied by the Nicola warehouse. The Ewing Company has secured an option on nearly 800 acres of coal land adjoining Mr. Hawkins' purchase, and it is said that the two tracts will be operated together.

Another Side of Big Lawsuit.

The Samuel W. Black Company yesterday filed its answer to the suit, styled Mrs. Mary McClure against Harry Davis and that company to have certain matters relating to property at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street stricken from the records. A few weeks ago Mr. Davis leased, through these brokers, the building now occupied by the Pennsylvania railroad ticket offices for a period of 25 years at $30,000 a year. Later the owner of the property claimed that the lease had been signed without her sanction and wanted the transaction annulled. In the answer the Samuel W. Black Company asserts that the facts in the case are as follows:

In the fall of 1904 the company asked Mrs. McClure to make a rental for her property, which she declined to do. Knowing that the rental being paid by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was very low the company sent its secretary, O. B. Hitchcock, to see Mrs. McClure. After some discussion she agreed to accept $18,000 a year. The company then offered the property to Harry Davis for $20,000 a year, which he agreed to pay if given a one-year lease with an option to buy. The plaintiff declined to give such an option, but agreed to lease at $20,000 a year for 25 years, and a paper was drawn up and signed. Hitchcock, considering that this authorized the company to rent the property, told Mrs. McClure that Harry Davis was the prospective tenant, and of his responsibility. Believing that it had full authority the brokers accepted Davis as the tenant, had a lease drawn up and Hitchcock took it with a check for $1,000 as hand money to the plaintiff. The company avers that it understood the plaintiff agreed that the financial standing of Mr. Davis was such that she did not care for the lease. The Black Company also denies that the company did not act in good faith or that it was the agent of Mr. Davis.

Well-Known Residence Sold.

William L. Walker has sold the well-known Briggs residence at the southwest corner of Penn avenue and Graham street, Twentieth ward, for $14,000 cash, to a buyer being a local business man who will occupy the property as a home. For years the place was the home of Capt. Joseph A. Briggs, and title to it is now obtained from Amanda Briggs. The residence is a 12-room modern reception-hall brick house on lot 41x129 feet.

Through the office of J. H. Armstrong, J. H. Hurst has sold to W. J. Shoop the property at 2204 Penn avenue, for $11,500. The lot measures 24x100 feet, extending back to Spring alley, and is improved with a brick house in front and a small dwelling in the rear.

George B. Kelly has sold for Emma P. Geller to George P. Loomis a residence property on Fifty-fifth street, near Liberty avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $10,250. The lot is 40x138 feet, and the residence is a 12-room reception-hall house which the buyer will occupy as a home.

James Calker has secured title from Edwin C. McGinw to an improved property, 44x70 feet, at the corner of Wylie avenue and Crawford street, for which he paid $15,500.

Union National Gets Its Site.

The Union National bank has got the deed for the Holmes corner at Wood street and Fourth avenue, the consideration named therein being $1. It is understood that when the merger of the Union National with the banking house of N. Holmes & Sons was accomplished this property was figured in the deal at about $900,000. There are two lots in the site having a total frontage of 83.6 feet in Wood street and 734 feet in Fourth avenue. The corner lot was purchased by Mr. Holmes in 1899 from Norman M. Smith and the one adjoining was secured from C. G. Paul and others in March, 1905. The deed to the Union National goes from Sue E. Holmes, widow of John G. Holmes, Joseph H., Nathaniel and Eleanor K. Holmes. Plans for the proposed 20-story skyscraper to be erected on the site have been submitted by competing architects and a decision will probably be made by the officers of the bank next week. All the leases on the property are practically at the bank's disposal, so that there will be little delay in starting the building after the design is selected.

A long-deferred deed was registered yesterday dating back to March, 1901, when prices were low compared with present figures. The transfer is from Frank J. Lanahan to A. L. Sailor, Jr., involves the property at 423 Wood street, the second door from Diamond street. The lot is 27x60 feet, and is improved with a six-story brick building occupied by the A. L. Sailor Company. The deal was made through the Real Estate Trust Company, but the consideration named in the deed is nominal.

Contract for Big Warehouse.

Architect S. W. McCloskey has awarded to W. B. Bennett the contract for the warehouse which H. J. Lang will build on the west side of Seventh street, near Duquesne way, on a site 20x109 feet which he recently secured. The building will be a fire proof structure eight stories high, and will cost about $75,000.

W. M. Brinker, who first began the innovation of building flats in Wilkinsburg by erecting the Colonial, has started excavations for a six-story fireproof brick apartment house to be built on 72x130 feet at 517-519 Rebecca avenue, at a cost of $70,000. The building will be first-class in every respect, having tile bathrooms, porches, hardwood finish and floors, gas and electric lights, elevators and reception halls.

Architect J. C. Boyce of New York is preparing plans for 27 park buildings which are to adorn the proposed amusement park which the Coney Island Improvement Company, composed of Capt. John F. Klein and others, will provide next spring on Neville island. The total cost of these buildings is estimated at $100,000.

Architect T. Ed Cornelius has plans for a three-story brick apartment house to be built in Wilkinsburg for A. C. Duncan, at a cost of about $25,000.

Crowds Visit New Allotment.

Bellevue Extension is drawing people in such numbers as to justify the agents, Keck, Helle & Daschbach, in the belief that they will have little trouble in disposing of the entire allotment in a short time. The property was thrown open to the public Saturday and the opening sale will be Friday and Saturday of this week. Its nearness to the business district of Bellevue makes it an attractive proposition for buyers who are partial to that neighborhood.

Hastings street: Woods & Coleman sold for George O. Graff to Miss Margie W. King a ten-room reception-hall brick house on 30x100 feet, in Hastings street, Twenty-second ward, for $4,500; to Mrs. W. South Side: S. A. Bryce sold to Julia F. Delhorn an 18x80 lot, 21x120 feet, on the south side of Sidney street, near Twenty-first street, Twenty-fifth ward, for $5,500.

Copeland street: William H. Handlon, executor of Annie E. Roberts, sold to W. W. Baum an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in Copeland street, Twentieth ward, for $2,900.

Belmar place: David L. Humphreys sold to Leo Rapp an improved lot, 30x95 feet, on the south side of Kedron avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $2,900.

Friendship avenue: Leo Rapp sold to James Dougherty 20x153 feet on the west side of Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $3,225.

The Aronson-Friedman Company closed the sale of the Jacob B. Beuschar property at 1702-1706 Center avenue, to K. Rabinovitz for $20,000. There are two brick buildings on the lot, 60x100 feet, and the buyer expects to spend $25,000 in making them over into modern stores.

Building permits were issued yesterday to Robert Neasbitt for a two-story frame dwelling on Lilla street, Thirty-second ward, to cost $2,200; Michael Collins, two-story frame dwelling on Fannell street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $900, and Jones & Lash, two-story frame shop on Soffel street, Thirty-second ward, to cost $1,000.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points on September. Cables were abouts as expected, but Brazilian receipts are running a little heavier and with little or no demand in evidence the market slightly increased the opening loss under scattering liquidation. The close was dull at a net decline of 5@10 points. Sales were only 3,250 bags, including December at 7.15c; January, 7.25c; May, 7.55c, and September at 7.75@7.80c. Spot Rio quiet; mild quiet. Sugar, raw refining, 3c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3⅝c; molasses sugar, 2¾c; refined quiet.

KANSAS PATENT FLOUR ADVANCES FIVE CENTS

Rice Is Quoted Higher—Short Arrivals of Grapes—Potato Market Is a Little Weaker.

Quotations were advanced 5 cents yesterday on Kansas patent flour, spring patent remaining unchanged. Rye flour dropped from $4 19 to $3 65 a barrel. The market for all grades was firm and stock was noticeably short in some lines. Rice was advanced ½ cent. Cornmeal was advanced 15 cents a barrel. The price of prunes was also put up 1 cent a pound.

New figs are now in market at 10 cents and 12 cents a pound for the layer varieties. Grapes were quoted 1 cent a basket higher yesterday because of the light receipts, only five cars arriving during the day. In the vegetable list several new arrivals were on hand, among them being squashes, lettuce and spinach. Potatoes were in good supply and the market was a little weaker.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 13 cars hay, 26 cars oats, 1 car straw, 4 cars feed, 1 car rye, 4 cars corn. Baltimore & Ohio, 7 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 5 cars hay, 3 cars rye.

The market was active in all lines. Hay receipts have fallen off considerably and while the market has not advanced any in price a firm feeling is noted on all grades. The receipts of oats were heavier yesterday than for some time. Most of the arrivals were dingeds of better grade, hence very few were offered on change. Shelled corn is scarce and brings top prices.

Over Production Will Scarcely Halt Advances in Oil Market

Developments in the lower southwest fields are light and if one is to judge from the results of the past week or ten days there will be no need of halting the advance of the oil market for fear of a period of over production. When or chance a well comes in at a fair rate of production it is only a matter of a few days until it is down to a very ordinary production. On Rock Camp run, Sardis district, Harrison county, Judge Nathan Goff's No. 40 when drilled into the Gordon pay last Saturday, produced 200 barrels the first 24 hours. At the end of the second 20 hours it had dropped to 100 barrels and the third 24 hours was down to 60 barrels. The experience at this well does not differ much from that encountered in nearly all the lower southwest fields. The probabilities are that the No. 40 on the Goff farm will settle down to about 30 barrels a day and make just about the same kind of a well as No. 39 on the same farm. Northeast of the No. 40, 1,000 feet, the South Penn Oil Company is due in the mud at an important test on the J. W. Edgell farm. This test has been drilled to the top of the Gordon and has been shot down to move back the boiler and will be drilled in tomorrow. Should this well come in a good producer it will show a northeast extension to present developments.

Near Freemansburg, Lewis county, the Reserve Gas Company has drilled its test on the M. J. Hall farm into the Gordon, and has a very good gasser. On Fink creek, Freemans creek district, Lewis county, the Philadelphia Company has a gasser in the Gantz sand at its test on the D. C. Francis farm. Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Philadelphia Company has completed a test on the H. M. Cottrell farm and has a good gasser in the Gordon sand. In the Fairview district, Marion county, the Carnegie Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the William Pogue farm into the fifth sand and has a show for a fair gasser.

In the Pine Grove extension, Weigel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. T. Brooks farm to find into the stray sand and has developed a light gas pressure and a show of oil. In the Burns district, the same company has drilled its No. 3 on the T. J. Postalwait farm 23 feet into the stray and has a light gas pressure. It is still drilling and has a chance for a gasser.

On the Ohio side, in the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Fisher Oil Company and the Trautman Drilling Company have completed a test on the Frank Schumacher farm and have a 10-barrel producer in the Berea grit. In the same district, H. L. Shafer & Co. have completed a test on the Joseph Burkhart farm and have a 15-barrel pumper in the same formation.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $417,783; government receipts from internal revenue, $259,749; customs, $1,032,979; miscellaneous, $30,886; expenditures, $1,870,666.

GLASGOW, Oct. 10.—The Scotch steelmakers today agreed to raise the list quotations of manufactured steel $7 50 per ton. This makes an increase of $5 per ton within the past two weeks.

PRICES UNCHANGED IN A WHIPSAW MARKET

Rosy Outlook of Official Crop Report as Offset by Purchases by a Leading Bull.

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The rosy outlook shown in the government crop report eased prices in the wheat market, but the effect was offset later by purchases on the part of a leading bull. At the close wheat for December delivery was practically unchanged from yesterday's final quotations. Corn is off ¼@⅜c, oats are down ⅝c, and provisions 2½@5c.

The wheat market opened with a slight show of weakness. December was unchanged to a shade lower at 85⅛c to 85⅜@85¼c. The downward tendency was due mainly to the failure of foreign grain markets to respond to the advance here yesterday. Weather in the American northwest was again unfavorable for the movement of the new crop, rains having fallen in many sections. Receipts today at Minneapolis and Duluth exhibited considerable decrease compared with the total on the corresponding day last week, and the total a year ago. Moreover, the volume of business was somewhat restricted by the fact that the government crop report was to be made public at noon. Meanwhile the market became a little firmer on fair support from a prominent long, the price of the December option advancing to 85⅝c when the official statistics regarding the spring wheat crop were given out, the market weakened decidedly. December dropping to 85¼@85¼c. According to the government report, the average yield of spring wheat is 14.7 bushels an acre. The quality is estimated at 89 per cent. Last year the average yield was 12.7 bushels an acre and the quality 76.7 per cent. On the basis of the government figures, and estimating the total acreage at 17,613,000 acres, the total yield of spring wheat in the United States for 1905 is in the neighborhood of 258,911,000 bushels. On the break the market was again supported by the leading bull, assisted by numerous shorts, buoyed by this demand, the loss was virtually all regained. The market closed about steady with December at 85¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 128,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,135,000 bushels, against 1,462,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 950 cars, against 1,354 cars last week and 1,241 cars a year ago.

Large yield and excellent condition of this year's crop of corn as shown by the government report caused weakness in the corn market here, closing quotations being practically at the lowest point of the day. Early in the session the market was quite firm as a result of a sharp advance at Liverpool. During the first hour, shorts and commission houses were active buyers. With the publication of the official figures concerning the new crop many of the early buyers turned sellers. The government report gave the condition of corn October 1 as 89.2 per cent, compared with 89.5 per cent a month ago. Using 29 bushels as a par of yield a condition of 89.2 on an acreage of 94,011,000 acres suggests a total yield of 2,431,800,000 bushels. Wet weather and small local receip

CASSATT GOES TO INSPECT N. & W.

Vice Presidents Green and McCrea Will Also Examine This Valuable Road.

TRAFFIC GROWS 50 PER CENT

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania system, First Vice President John P. Green and Second Vice President Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania railroad, and First Vice President James McCrea of the Pennsylvania lines west, are en route to Columbus this morning to meet with President L. E. Johnson of the Norfolk & Western, and to travel with him and the other directors of the Norfolk & Western over its lines. Messrs. Rea, Green and McCrea are directors of the road. They were accompanied from the east by a couple of other eastern directors of the road. Messrs. Cassatt and Green came into Pittsburgh in Mr. Cassatt's official car No. 70, at about 1:30 o'clock this morning on train No. 21. Mr. McCrea's official car No. 27 was added to the train here. The inspection of the Norfolk & Western railway system will begin immediately after the arrival of Mr. Cassatt an his party. The inspection of the road will consume several days, it being the intention to look thoroughly into the main line of the system from Columbus through Roanoke to Norfolk, and also to travel over the line to Cincinnati and the several branches of the road north and south from the main line in the Virginias and North Carolina. President Johnson and the directors will be accompanied by General Manager N. D. Maher and Chief Engineer C. S. Churchill, freight traffic manager, and probably also by Freight Traffic Manager T. S. Dabney, General Freight Agent J. R. Ruffin, General Passenger Agent W. B. Bevill and General Superintendent A. C. Needles.

The directors will find much to give them a satisfactory regard for the Norfolk & Western. Since their last trip over the system much new road work has been done and considerable work of an important nature is still under way for instance, in the heart of the Pocahontas region, and coal and coke district the Norfolk & Western is the main market, there are five tunnels being constructed in the mountains to give a new line and thus eliminate a large number of heavy curves.

In addition to the new work the directors will find the road busier than they have found it before. The fact that the coal tonnage alone increased almost 18 per cent for the year ended with June 30, 1905, as compared with the former fiscal year, shows something of the growth of the road's traffic. The percentage of increase in coke tonnage is even more than this amount, for the coke industry is just beginning to become a portion of the great development in the Pocahontas region. Numerous spurs that have been built out from the main line are feeding tonnage into the main stem of the road at a large increase. There are also some new developments in other industries as, for instance, in the building of several iron furnaces in the vicinity of Roanoke. The Norfolk & Western has grown to an important eastern and southern line from an insignificant road of a few years ago. While it has been mainly a freight road, because of its development of the new territory which is all its own, there has been less attention paid in the past years to the passenger side of the road's business than now. Two excellent trains operate daily in each direction between Columbus and Norfolk, while connection is made with these trains from all of the important branches.

The passenger traffic on the road is growing so that additional service will be called for in a short time. An instance of the passenger business may be gleaned from the fact that on one occasion the Pullman sleeping car operating between Welch and Philadelphia was patronized on a single trip by 90 persons. This included, of course, the short haul of persons desiring a Pullman seat for the ride, the coaches being always well filled. It is said that there is not a single passenger train operated on the Norfolk & Western that does not produce a revenue. This can be said of very few roads for the entire passenger train service.

The Pennsylvania has six directors representing its interests directly in the Norfolk & Western, which it controls. The late Sutherland M. Prevost was one of the directors. This is Mr. Cassatt's first official trip over the Norfolk & Western. The annual meeting will be held at Roanoke on Thursday.

Will Murray Succeed Cassatt?

Will Oscar G. Murray be the successor of Alexander J. Cassatt as president of the Pennsylvania system? This is a question that cannot be set aside as a preposterous notion of some dreamer. That it is a strong probability that Mr. Murray, who is now president of the Baltimore & Ohio system, will succeed to the presidency of the Pennsylvania is to some who know the working of the powers behind the throne a foregone conclusion. Others maintain that Samuel Rea, now fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, will be the next president of the Pennsylvania system, while others connect the names of First Vice President James McCrea and Third Vice President J. J. Turner of the Pennsylvania lines west with the position. Mr. Cassatt is now 66 years old, or will be on his next birthday, December 8. His retirement has been rumored several times, but it is said authoritatively that he will not retire until the important work at New York is completed as he planned it. This will probably take two or three years. At that time a man will be chosen for the most responsible position in the gift of the world's railroading. And the excellent record that Oscar G. Murray is making on the Baltimore & Ohio system will go far toward making him the logical successor to Mr. Cassatt. The Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio roads have been at odds at times in the past few years, and the firm and independent stand taken by Mr. Murray as head of the Baltimore & Ohio at certain times has but impressed the Pennsylvania powers that he is a man to be considered for the head of the great Pennsylvania system.

B. & O. Gain in Pittsburgh Traffic.

Is there indication for the assertion by a well-versed Pennsylvania operating man that Pittsburgh's railroad tonnage in 1905 would reach the 100,000,000-ton mark? If the figures of the increase in the tonnage handled at one station alone indicates anything, the indication is toward the increase from 77,000,000 tons, the high record of 1902 in railroad tonnage, to the predicted 100,000,000 mark. The tonnage handled at the Pittsburgh freight station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad this year will show an increase of about 50 per cent over any former year. This is known from the actual figures of the tonnage handled. There have been months in the past summer when the tonnage reached the big increase of 80 per cent, while one or two months showed only about 40 per cent. For the first nine months of the present year the tonnage increase averages about 50 per cent. For the same period the revenue increase at Bessemer alone was slightly less than $350,000. This shows something of the proportionate increase for the Pittsburgh division of this road. In September the average daily number of individual movement was 3,706 for the Pittsburgh division. This was the individual movement and not the aggregate movement, the latter being about double the above number.

Buy Late and Cannot Get Cars.

The usual circumstance of the coal dealers not buying early and thus being unable to get their coal transported from the mines to the sales depots is in vogue again this season. A couple of years ago the railroads were criticized in not securing equipment to meet the demands, leaving the equipment go until a demand came for it in the increase of business. This cannot be placed against the railroad this year, but the accusation of the shippers is rebounding upon themselves. The car situation is desperate. There is not a railroad man that will dispute it. But the roads have done far more this season than ever before in furnishing new equipment, and still more equipment is to be received. The vast betterment in the railroad terminals and other facilities are allowing the roads to handle the shipments more expeditiously, but when cars cannot be had the shipments must be delayed. It is said that a number of mines must be closed a portion of each week because of the lack of cars, while finished products and merchandise shipments are suffering for a like reason. Along with the scarcity of cars is a scarcity of teams and transfer facilities for taking the shipments to and from the warehouses.

Cassatt Inspection Next Week.

The annual official inspection of the Pennsylvania system's lines east and west of Pittsburgh will be made next week by President Cassatt and the boards of directors. The inspection party will start from Philadelphia in a special train next Sunday evening, and it is understood that the start of the inspection will be made from Pittsburgh next Monday morning. The party will spend about four days on the lines west and about five days on the lines east of Pittsburgh.

Railroad Notes.

The Pennsylvania lines west passenger trainmen will don their winter uniforms next Sunday.

J. B. Hill, general freight agent of the Panhandle, spent yesterday in Chicago on business.

C. B. Van Dyke, traveling passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande at Chicago, was in the city.

Robert Blickensderfer, consulting engineer of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, has removed his headquarters from Pittsburgh to Canton.

The general managers' inspection parties of the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburgh left the Union station as per schedule yesterday morning.

Charles W. Cooke, station agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie in Pittsburgh, accompanied by his wife, is enjoying a vacation jaunt to Washington, Baltimore and Norfolk.

The Society of Railway Club Secretaries has issued its annual index of papers and subjects discussed by the 12 railway clubs of America from May 31, 1904, to May 31, 1905. John D. Conway, secretary of the Railway club of Pittsburgh is chairman of the society.

CROATIAN'S PLEA IS SELF-DEFENSE

Slayer Tells How He Stabbed "Big Mike," Who Tried to Force Him to Play Cards.

ESPLEN FILES ITS ANSWER

The jury is now considering the verdict in the case of Milos Miloscivic, the Croatian charged with stabbing to death Milo Kovacevic, known among his countrymen as "Big Mike," and who had the reputation of being a dangerous man. The commonwealth after calling four witnesses to sustain its contention that the killing was premeditated, rested its case.

Miloscivic told the story of the killing in which he tried to convince the jury that he stabbed Kovacevic in self-defense. He said he had played cards with "Big Mike" early in the day of the killing. He had been drinking nearly all day, he said, and when Kovacevic wanted him to resume the game he refused. He then said Kovacevic grabbed him by the throat, took $4 from his pocket and assaulted him. In defending himself, the witness said, he drew a penknife and stabbed Kovacevic without any intention of doing him serious injury. The commonwealth asked for a first degree verdict, while the defense claims an acquittal on its plea.

In criminal court before Judge Brown, Charles Blacknell, a negro, tried for felonious assault and battery in cutting William Criger, in Greenwood street, Allegheny, in August, was convicted of unlawful wounding. Criger, who is a white youth, is alleged to have started a quarrel with Blacknell and knocked him down. Blacknell retaliated by drawing a large knife and slashing Criger across the neck, inflicting a serious wound.

Other Cases in Criminal Court.

Eli Kerr entered a plea of no defense to a charge of burglary made by E. R. Gardner and one of larceny by bailee made by G. N. McGinnis. He was sentenced three months to the workhouse.

Other cases disposed of were: Albert Kelly, felony, convicted and recommended to the mercy of the court; George Allen, false pretense, three months to the workhouse; John Vangry, larceny, six months to the workhouse; George Clark, larceny, three months to the workhouse; Ellis Gordon, larceny, 30 days to the workhouse; William Jones, larceny, two months to the workhouse.

The borough of Esplen filed an answer asking that the writ of alterative mandamus asked for by Dr. D. K. McGunnegle and others be quashed, and the proceedings discontinued at the cost of the petitioners.

The respondents deny that the municipality and its officers have continuously and obstinately neglected and refused to make any reasonable or necesary repairs upon River avenue, which extends from McKees Rocks to the Pittsburgh line along the Ohio river. Nor have they permitted the street to be in a dangerous condition, nor the street to slip and crumble away on the river side. It is denied that a large part of the sidewalk between Corks run and the city line has become so rotten, broken or dilapidated that over a large portion of it no foot travel whatever can pass. The respondents further aver that River avenue had not up until January 17, 1903, been a regular street of the borough of Esplen, but was a turnpike owned, controlled and operated by the Chartiers and Robinson Townships' Turnpike Road Company. It is alleged that it would cost $80,000 to place the road in condition. The assessed value of the borough is $988,500 and the present debt is practically 2 per cent of that amount, consequently a special election would be required to provide funds to repair this street.

Opinions in Two Will Cases.

An opinion was filed by Judge Hawkins in the estate of Marie Hartman, deceased, concerning the distribution of the share of Julius Hartman, a son. Under the will of Marie Hartman the heirs were to recieve their legacies direct, the executors bing instructed not to recognize any debts. Julius Hartman was ordered by the quarter sessions court to pay his wife $5 a week for her support. He did not do it and was placed in jail. Subsequently his wife had him released, he assigning to her his interest in his mother's estate. It was shown that the wife of Julius Hartman had worked and supported herself and children for 16 years, the husband giving her nothing except what the court forced from him. Judge Hawkins says the legacy was intended for the sustenance of his family and that the wife is entitled to the money left by his mother.

Judge Shafer filed an opinion in the stated case of Elizabeth J. Sanders and Alice B. Valentine against Peter Marolanc. The action was brought to determine whether title to certain property was marketable. Under the will of the late Mary Ingraham her property was not to be sold until after the death of her daughter, Sarah A. Davis, a codicil providing that if it became necessary to sell, the daughter should have a certain share. Judge Shafer says it is clear that the testatrix did not intend that her daughter should not sell, but that the sale should not be made unless necessary. Judgment in $2,500 is ordered for the plaintiffs.

A preliminary injunction was granted preventing J. S. Sheehy from blasting for a sewer on Electric avenue, North Braddock. The Pennsylvania Water Company claims its mains on the street are endangered.

A libel in divorce was filed by Paul C. Rowlands against Gertrude Rowlands. Desertion is alleged.

A statement was filed by the plaintiff in the suit of The Bown Electrical Company against W. G. Gammon. The action is to recover damages in $1,639 on a promise to purchase stock. The plaintiff avers that the defendant agreed with David E. Bown, treasurer and agent of the company, to purchase certain stock in the Bown Electrical Company; that an inventory of the stock and merchandise should be made and $2,000 added to the same for good will. On this basis the defendant agreed to purchase from the plaintiff $1,000 worth of stock at once and $500 worth when a settlement was made of certain property of defendants, and the plaintiff company would employ the defendant at a salary of $18 a week.

Plaintiff avers that, relying on the promise of the defendant to purchase the stock, plaintiff employed him as a bookkeeper. The defendant worked for the plaintiff company six weeks and received $128. The defendant failed to purchase the stock, and the plaintiff says he expects to prove that the defendant never intended to buy the stock, but that his promise to purchase it was made merely for the purpose of obtaining by such false promises and representations the sums of $128 from the company, it having no use for his services as bookkeeper until the money for the stock was paid by the defendant.

Receiver for a Brewery.

A receiver was asked for in the United States district court for the Finleyville Brewing Company. The petitioners are creditors of the concern, who claim a large stock of malt and hops, as well as $2,500 worth of beer is in danger of being destroyed.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Henry A. Hulings, trading as Hulings Bros. His liabilities are $3,462 35, and assets $125.

An order was made allowing the plaintiff to settle and discontinue the suit of W. H. Seal against T. P. Dunn et al.

Executions issued: J. D. O'Neil against E. H. McCauley, $263 83; E. L. Suers against James W. Thompson, $100 18.

Former Mayor R. J. Black of McKeesport was on the stand yesterday in the case brought against him by E. P. Douglass for legal fees. He claimed that he and Douglass were associated in city and political affairs, and that the services Douglass rendered were for the political faction in which both were interested. He had given Douglass $50 and offered him more, which was refused. No claim for the money was presented until they disagreed over the strike at the National tube works in McKeesport. After this the bill was presented. The case is still on trial.

MANY ARE REFUSED.

Judge Shafer Disappoints a Number of Applicants for Transfer of Liquor Licenses.

Judge Shafer yesterday handed down decisions in the cases of the 32 applicants for transfers of wholesale and retail liquor licenses which were heard Saturday. The list follows:

Refused—Robert A. Moore to George Smoley, Twenty-third ward; Barnet Turets to Charles Nordin, Jefferson township; Charles Phillips to Michael Gorski, Ninth ward; Martin Muck to F. A. Claus, Third ward, Braddock; Joseph M. Singer to Andrew Cupka, Ninth ward, Allegheny; Herman Labowitz to Jacob Weis, Etna; John Rase to Valentine Wurts, Twenty-third ward; G. Corrado to M. Schwartz, First ward, Braddock; J. Frederick Hochstetter to John Kleke, Seventeenth ward.

Granted—M. W. Schmitt to L. C. Schmitt, Thirteenth ward, Allegheny; Conrad Sortag to Annie Shannon, Shaler township; Helen Schimeller to L. Von Hedemann, Thirty-sixth ward; Andrew Murphy to John M. Lafferty and James W. Owens, Twenty-eighth ward; John Voight to Henry Sauer, Third ward, Allegheny; H. Gerset to Otto Adamitz, First ward, Homestead; Andrew Beresnay and Henrich Hleba to H. Hleba, Homestead; Patrick J. Walsh to George Wright, Twentieth ward; John P. Smythe to M. J. Fallon, Twenty-fourth ward; James Sullivan to Steve Straka, Braddock; George P. Beech to Peter Hermerath, Eighth ward, McKeesport; John M. Schroth to Joseph Platt, Sharpsburg; Joseph Hoebler to Hahn, Fourteenth ward, Pittsburgh; Annie E. Hannan to G. T. Davis, Ninth ward, Allegheny; John Foerster to C. P. Schwab, Fourth ward, Allegheny; Sophia Meyer to Charles E. Meyer, Twenty-fifth ward, Pittsburgh; C. S. Freund to Joseph T. Thierch, Twenty-first ward, Pittsburgh; Charles Sweeney to Hannah Sweeney, Harrison township; Bernard Campbell to Mary B. Campbell, Seventeenth ward, Pittsburgh.

LIMITS DUTIES OF THE CORONERS

Superior Court Gives Jurisdiction Only in Felony or Criminal Negligence Cases.

MUST USE HIS DISCRETION

In an opinion written by Judge Henderson of the superior court, received by Prothonotary George Pearson yesterday, the powers and duties of coroners are very plainly set forth. The question was raised in the case of E. L. Miller vs. Cambria county, in which the county disputed the right of the coroner to collect fees for inquests in certain cases. Similar disputes have existed all over the state for a long time, and under an amicable arrangement the question was taken to the superior court. Judge Henderson, in his opinion, says:

"The authority of a coroner is not to be exercised arbitrarily, but with reason and upon sufficient cause. An inquest is held to secure information and develop evidence in case of death resulting from felony or criminal negligence. Where there is reasonable ground to suspect it was so caused it becomes the duty of the coroner to act. If he has no ground to suspect that the death resulted from criminal misconduct, it is not his duty to act. Where it is apparent that death was caused by disease or by negligence of the deceased, or was purely accidental, the coroner has no jurisdiction, and is not entitled to fees. The 'violence and undue means' which gives jurisdiction to a coroner has reference to unlawful conduct by another from which death resulted. When it is evident that death did not result from such cause, neither inquest nor view of the body is necessary. If there are no suspicious circumstances attending the death the coroner has no duty to perform. He is accountable for the proper exercise of his discretion, and if he acts without sufficient cause the county is not liable for his fees."

The judgment of common pleas court No. 3 is reversed in the case of Joseph Bannon against the Pennsylvania railroad. Bannon was a policeman on the South Side. He made an arrest one Sunday afternoon and took his prisoner to a patrol box that stands under the retaining wall and fence of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad in Carson street. A crowd collected on the fence, it broke and fell on Bannon, injuring him severely. He was given a verdict in the lower court, but this is set aside. Judge Orlady, who wrote the opinion, says the railroad company did not build the fence to hold crowds, but did build it to keep people off its property. The crowd on this occasion was composed of trespassers and the company cannot be held responsible for any damages arising from their presence.

The right of a borough to make and enforce regulations governing the opening of its streets is sustained in an opinion written by Judge W. D. Porter in the case of the borough of Edgewood against Philip Scott, an employe of the People's Natural Gas Company. Scott opened a street without permission from the borough authorities and was fined. Common pleas court No. 2 set the judgment aside and the borough appealed. Judge Porter says the ordinance governing the streets is a reasonable police provision and entirely valid under the powers conferred on a borough by the state laws.

Westmoreland county cases took up most of the time of the supreme court yesterday. The cases were: Estate of Anna McCausland, deceased, June B. Stuart, appellant, an action to set a will in which the legitimacy of an heir is attacked; Mrs. C. H. Stark, assignee, vs. W. S. Byers, executor of C. H. Stark, deceased, Barnhart's appeal, an action on a bond; Elizabeth Morgan vs. the Westmoreland Electric Company, appellant, an action for damages arising from the death of the plaintiff's son; appeal of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, trustee, in the matter of the estate of Laura C. Mace, deceased; Dupley Printing Press Company vs. Clipper Publishing Company and others, an action over a receiver's sale. The case of the Safe Deposit and Title Guaranty Company of Kittanning vs. P. R. R. Elvira Linton from Armstrong county, was also argued. It is a case growing out of a real estate transaction.

Uses Presentment Method.

There will be a presentment and not a true bill in the case of the United States against the Union Bridge Company, in which the bridge company is charged with maintaining a nuisance in refusing to raise its bridge. The old English law provides two ways of bringing a criminal suit, either by presenting the same to the grand jury by a presentment to the court in cases where no felony is charged. As this is a misdemeanor case, the district attorney has chosen the presentment method, and will not present the case to the grand jury. The case goes over, owing to the engagement of Attorneys Rodgers and McCleave in the supreme court.

WYMAN IS PRESIDENT.

Noted Surgeon-General Made the Head of the Second General Sanitary Convention.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—At today's sessions of the second general sanitary convention of the American republics, Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon-general of the public health and Marine hospital service, was elected president of the convention, and Dr. Eduardo Liceaga, president of the next meeting, which will take place in Mexico City, in December, 1907. The chief speaker today was Dr. Liceaga, who pointed out that the resolutions adopted at the first convention in many cases had not been ratified by the governments, and the result was that the good sanitary work of one state was often undone through the neglect of preventive measures in a neighboring country.

Holds Out Visions of Wealth.

Ross W. Black, a dealer in barbers' supplies at 703 Liberty street, sent a letter to the bureau of police yesterday which he received from Madrid, Spain, asking him to assist the writer to recover a trunk containing securities worth $250,000, which the writer cannot claim himself for fear of being arrested for a political crime. The trunk is in storage in London, England, where the writer claims to have secreted it when he found the police were hot after him. Black is promised a third of the wealth if he will help the writer recover it. It is an ancient confidence scheme.

ENCORES ONLY AT THE POPULAR CONCERTS

Orchestra Committee Puts in Force Regulation Which Obtains in Other Cities.

The orchestra committee of the Pittsburgh orchestra have given much consideration during the past months to the question of encores. They realize that the encore privilege has been abused and the balance and value of many programs has suffered thereby. Before deciding a plan for the coming season the committee pursued further inquiries in other cities that sustained a symphony orchestra with this result: They find that last season the directors of the Theodore Thomas orchestra concerts in Chicago made so full and admirable a statement to the concert public of that city of the entire encore question as it affected the conductor, soloist, audience and the purpose of the concerts, they have not only decided to adopt the Chicago plan for the coming season of Pittsburgh orchestra concerts at Carnegie music hall, but to present it in the words of the Chicago directors, as follows:

The orchestra committee of the Art society courteously ask the kind co-operation of the patrons of the Pittsburgh orchestra concerts in limiting the demand for encores, which of late has become embarrassing. The programs are carefully timed to require not more than two hours and 15 minutes, including 15 minutes intermission and the time for seating late comers. Experience has shown that it is difficult to shorten this limit, and yet give due regard to the placing and balancing of the greater works, while, on the other hand, any prolongation of it invariably inconveniences many patrons, and causes their withdrawal before or during the closing numbers, to the great disturbance of the majority who remain. It follows that either the time required for encores must be stolen from the intermission, or the end of the concert must be marred by the forced departure of many who should by right hear the entire program.

Especially when a soloist is presented, the whole program is built around the composition chosen by him, not to display his virtuosity or personality, as at an artists' recital, but to round and adorn the concert with a brilliant and fitly set example of the literature written for his instrument with orchestra. After such great works as artists of the first rank invariably present at these concerts, a single encore, if well chosen, is permissable as a recognition of fine performance; but a succession of encores is thoroughly inartistic and usually ungrateful to artist and orchestra alike.

For these reasons, and with the hearty concurrence of orchestra and conductor, the orchestra committee have adopted the rule prevalent elsewhere, that no orchestral number will be repeated except at a popular concert; that soloists who appear twice upon the program will not respond to encores, and that soloists who appear but once will be given time for a single encore.

BOARD FAILS TO MEET.

Report of Committee on Endowment of Pennsylvania College for Women Goes Over.

The meeting of the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania College for Women, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was not held because there was not a quorum. It was expected the report of the committee appointed to raise a fund for the endowment of the school would be a feature of the meeting. Oliver McClintock, a member of the board and also a trustee, last night stated that enough members did not attend to transact business and that another meeting will have to be held. The board will meet at the call of the secretary.

The committee having charge of the raising of the endowment fund is endeavoring to secure at least $150,000 by January 1, and so far about $55,000 has been subscribed to the fund on the condition that the total of $150,000 is raised by the first of the year. Mr. McClintock stated some more subscribers have added their names to the list, but the fund has not been increased much, and if the money is to be raised within the time given some very active work will have to be done. Subscriptions already made toward [illegible] and range from $250 to $10,000.

REVISING PLANS.

Architects Working on New Building for Western Theological Seminary—$55,000 Is Raised.

Architects are revising the rough plans for the proposed new buildings for the Western Theological seminary, which were shown at the banquet of the State Sunday School association, held here last year. The Rev. Dr. David Gregg, president of the seminary, stated yesterday that these plans will be thoroughly considered before any effort toward building operations are made, or figures fixed for the proposed new endowment.

Dr. Gregg stated that he had received contributions approximating $55,000 since the public announcement of the present needs of the institution, and that he would enter into a vigorous campaign pointing to the establishment of an additional $200,000 or $500,000 endowment fund some time this winter.

During the past season Dr. Gregg has devoted himself toward increasing the student roll, and this year 40 new students were enrolled, together with about 75 old ones. Two years ago the enrollment of new students numbered less than 10, and the increase this year is the most remarkable in the history of the institution.

Thirteen Cases of Typhoid.

Thirteen cases of typhoid fever, four of scarlet fever and three of diphtheria were reported yesterday to the bureau of health.

B.G BOILER PLANT FOR NEVILLE ISLAND

W. C. Fownes and Others Preparing to Build Large Enterprise.

Plans are being completed for the erection of a large local manufacturing plant for the Rust Boiler Company on Neville Island. The company, which was organized about two years ago, is capitalized by local financiers, among whom are H. G., W. C. and E. S. Fownes and Charles McKnight.

Since its inception the company, which is manufacturing a boiler under patents granted to E. G. Rust, the general manager, has been having its boilers made by a local firm. The business is said to have reached such stage that it became imperative to secure a building site.

Some time ago W. C. Fownes purchased 20 acres on the lower end of Neville island for which site building plans are now being prepared, and an effort will be made to have the new plant in operation early next year, when the contract with the present makers of the boilers will have expired. According to plans the new plant will accommodate 250 workmen, although it is proposed to equip it with modern, labor-saving machinery.

The offices of the company are in the same rooms as are those of the Carrie Furnace Company, and both interests are dominated by the same individuals.

FIFTEEN PER CENT OF MORSE PUPILS NEED GLASSES

Out of a total of 700 pupils attending the Morse public school, Jane and South Twentieth streets, it has been found on examination by Dr. W. H. Kirk that 110 pupils have defective vision and should have glasses. The physician's test was superficial, and it is believed if a more severe test is made the percentage will be increased. There are four rooms in the Morse building in which artificial light is necessary, and it was found these rooms are used by the greatest percentage of pupils whose sight is bad.

Gets Bullet in Fight Over Girl.

George G. Gleesenkamp, aged 25, of Cleveland avenue, Avalon, is at his home suffering from a bullet wound in the groin, and his assailant has escaped. Gleesenkamp and several young men and women called at the home of Miss Florence Luty in Emsworth Monday night, and Gleesenkamp and one of the men quarreled over the attentions paid to Miss Luty, going outside to settle the matter. Those inside the house heard a shot and found Gleesenkamp on the ground. Gleesenkamp says he knows his assailant well, but he has not told his name.

Clothing That Stamps You As a Man of Good Taste

Styles here for the young fellows—the dressy ones who insist on something natty. Styles here for more sedate middle-aged when the thought is to get clothes that fit perfectly, make one feel comfortable and still proclaim the well-dressed man.

Men who are fastidious, favor our clothing because of its excellence and air of refinement. Men who are particular what they pay prefer it for economy.

For 15 Dollars	For 10 Dollars
Such suits as you'd expect to see marked $20—and no deductions. The correct new models fresh from the best tailoring houses. The green mixtures that are the newest—the grays that hold their popularity—and the dark colors that are always in vogue. Finest American woolens, in the most tasteful effects—some of them copies of imported novelties. Hand-tailoring touches, generously applied wherever correct and skillful shaping imparts the right finishing touch.	American woolens made on honor by mills with reputations to sustain—fine weaves and every fibre wool. Colors that are correct and fadeless—in effects that are fashionable. The Fall 1905 Fashion-plate Cuts. Haircloth, canvas, wadding and all the other unseen features as honest in quality and as skillfully stayed as they should be. Shoulders, lapels and collars hand-shaped to stay shapely. Add $2.50 or $3 to the price mark and you get the real value.

Every garment that comes into our store has to conform to a certain standard—has to endure a severe and exacting test. Result—only the kind of clothing gets here that can pass 100 per cent good.

Topcoat Weather Now

Just think how long ago you discarded your straw hat. Whatever your day-time tendencies, it isn't fair to your life insurance company to venture out of doors these cold, damp nights without topcoat protection.

The Best Clothes Money Can Buy

Half a dozen tailoring houses in America have elevated the making of men's clothing to the plane of a high art. Only imported woolens enter their work-rooms—and among them the choicest novelties that cross the ocean. Only men who have graduated with honor from good custom tailoring establishments can get on their payrolls. Their cutters are the highest priced men in the profession (we use the word advisedly). Sharp eyed experts trained to detect defects, pass upon all work at each successive stage of the manufacturing process. The outcome of all this is lines of clothing which rank with the best product of merchant tailors of renown.

This is the kind of men's suits and overgarments come to us to sell at $20, $25, $30 and up to $36.
